TRAPPED CHINESE SPURN AID FROM AMERICAN FORCE

Doomed Battalion Holds Grimly to Small Area in Chapei As Remainder of Army Flees Before Japs

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The United States marines and British troops offered tonight to aid withdrawal of a Chinese battalion, trapped by Japanese, to end the menace of stray bullets falling into Shanghai's international settlement with its thousands of foreigners, including Americans.

The offer was refused. The defiant almost certainly doomed, battalion held grimly to a small area within Chinese Chapei which the remainder of their army abandoned yesterday to flames and advancing Japanese.

Crowds Watch Battle Crowds of foreigners and Chinese had gathered on rooftops, despite a shower of machine gun bullets, to watch the battle along the settlement's northern border when the American and British offer of aid was made.

There was danger to the international settlement, too, on the western edges and along the French concession frontier, with a major battle in progress around Hungjiao, suburb in which are located many of the city's finest homes.

Brig. Gen. John C. Beaumont, marines commander in Shanghai, and the British major general, A. P. D. Teller-Smollett, contacted the embattled battalion in Chapei by a still serviceable telephone line connecting with a warehouse in the battle zone.

The American and British commanders suggested that their forces be used to aid the beleaguered Chinese in obtaining sanctuary south of Soochow creek.

Chinese Unwieldy Reminded of the destruction that Japanese planes might cause to their position, Commander Col. Chin-Yuan replied: "We are not worried by the Japanese planes and were prepared for their infantry."

That the final hour of the doomed battalion was at hand seemed certain when a Japanese navy spokesman declared Nippon's bluejackets would mop up all scattered Chinese units in Chapei. Japanese naval headquarters advised United States marines to take precautionary measures against possible severe action to wipe out the Chinese battalion, opposite one section of marine defense lines. Designating the Chinese detachment as stragglers, the navy spokesman predicted they soon would be killed.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Buoyed by a sudden shift in margin requirements by the federal reserve. leading stocks swept upward in today's market. Heavy buying orders at the start, with numerous blocks ranging from 1000 to 15,000 shares changing hands, put the ticker tape several minutes behind during almost the entire first hour.

Traders were quick to garner profits, however, and initial advances of 1 to 5 or more points were reduced or cancelled in later proceedings. Dealings also slowed. Fresh support entered the list on the final lap and the ticker again lagged with quotations bounding forward to somewhere near their best levels of the session.

Notwithstanding boosting of the short selling ante, the fact the amount necessary for speculative purchases was lowered resulted in a rush of bids that swamped brokerage quarters for a time.
