Personality, Charm Come From Within Declares Lecturer

It's no great secret that American women are peculiarly alive to the elements of youth, beauty, completeness in the essentials of life. This interesting quality is not only recognized at home, but is recognized abroad where older cultures reign. This statement is made by Viola Sweet, who tomorrow night, November 9, at 8 o'clock will speak on Personality, Wednesday morning at 10 her subject will be Charm—How To Attain It. Both these lectures are given in St. Mark's Guild hall on North Oakdale and are absolutely free.

"Modern American women do not 'fade' as their grandmothers did. They enjoy youth to such a degree that they insist upon prolonging that period when freshness, vigor, happiness, seems most predominant."

"We must develop youth and beauty, personality and charm from within and get away from relying solely on external means," says Mrs. Sweet. "Youth is not a matter of years—it is the physical condition and mental attitude toward life that determines how old we are. Nothing ages so quickly as sickness, and all illness comes from a violation of the laws of our being."

Acting as his own attorney, Fehl filed suits against Niedermeyer, Inc., for $100,000, against Gov. Charles H. Martin for $548,000 damages, for detention in the penitentiary, after Fehl claimed "good time credits" entitled to release. The latter suit was dismissed by a Multnomah county court.

Last Thursday, Fehl filed suit for $200,000 damages against County Clerk George R. Carter, Deputy District Attorney George W. Nelson, and George A. Codding, former district attorney, alleging the past and present Jackson county officials conspired "to personally and politically ruin him" through his conviction of ballot theft in August, 1933.

Those surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Prince; two brothers, Eugene Prince and Jack Steel; one sister, Opal Ranney; his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Bradshaw of Brownboro, Oregon; his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bradshaw, Brownboro, Ore.; two other uncles, Harvey Prince, Phoenix, Ore., and Sergeant William Prince, Hamilton Field, California.

INSANITY HEARING FOR FEHL DUE IN WEEK OR 10 DAYS

Outside Judge Seen Probable — Expect Up-State Alienists Will Be Subpoenaed for Expert Opinion

Hearing on the insanity complaint filed last Saturday against Earl H. Fehl, former Jackson county judge, will be held in a week or ten days, District Attorney Frank J. Newman reported today.

The state supreme court will in all likelihood be requested to assign an outside judge to conduct the proceedings, the district attorney said. County Judge Earl H. Day, before whom the case would ordinarily be heard, has announced he will disqualify himself, which automatically carries the matter to the circuit court. Circuit Judge H. D. Norton in recent Fehl litigation has disqualified himself. The state high court assigned Circuit Judge E. B. Ashurst of Klamath county to hear the actions. In a motion filed ten days ago Fehl sought the disqualification of Time To Prepare.

Circuit Judge Norton is holding court this week in Josephine county. The short delay, the district attorney said, would give both the state and the defendant time to subpoena alienists and other witnesses. The district attorney predicted one or more upstate alienists would be subpoenaed for expert testimony.

Fehl was taken into custody Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Syd I. Brown, and is held in the county jail without bail.

The insanity complaint, signed by Fred W. Kelly, Medford resident, alleges "Fehl is an insane person and unsafe to be at large."

Fehl, long a stormy figure in Jackson county political affairs, returned to this county August 15 last after serving a state prison term for "illicit theft complex. Since his return, Fehl has filed several suits. In one petition, Fehl alleged that County Judge Earl H. Day had "usurped" the office of county judge and called upon the incumbent to relinquish it.

Many Suits Filed Acting as his own attorney, Fehl filed suits against Niedermeyer, Inc., for $100,000, against Gov. Charles H. Martin for $548,000 damages, for detention in the penitentiary, after Fehl claimed "good time credits" entitled to release. The latter suit was dismissed by a Multnomah county court.

Last Thursday, Fehl filed suit for $200,000 damages against County Clerk George R. Carter, Deputy District Attorney George W. Nelson, and George A. Codding, former district attorney, alleging the past and present Jackson county officials conspired "to personally and politically ruin him" through his conviction of ballot theft in August, 1933.

THEFTS LEAD TO EXILE FROM CITY OF 3 TRANSIENTS

Three transients were routed out of town this morning, the result of a suspicious series of thefts Saturday night in which Lucien Smith of 245 North Oakdale Avenue lost an overcoat and the F. W. Woolworth company lost four pairs of women's hose. Smith recovered his overcoat and the Woolworth store regained its hose.

Smith reported to city police his new brown overcoat was stolen from his car parked near Lampport's about 10:30 Saturday night. A short time later, a man who afterward gave his name as Kenneth Durgin, 27, of Minnesota, attempted to sell an overcoat to George Kunzman, police said. Suspicious when he saw a Toggery trademark on the coat, Kunzman told Durgin to come back later. In the meantime Kunzman called city police, who arrested Durgin when he assertedly returned to sell the coat.

Durgin was quoted as saying he had purchased the coat from a man on the street for $1. He was charged with vagrancy this morning and ordered to leave town immediately or spend ten days in jail. He left town.

Police were told Saturday night that a man was attempting to sell women's hose on the street. Joseph Richard Kiely, 39, of Missouri, was arrested, there being four pairs of hose between the fender and hood of a car near where Kiely was standing. When apprehended, police reported. The hose were identified as belonging to the F. W. Woolworth company. Kiely was ordered to leave town or spend 30 days in jail, he choosing the former.

Harry Donald Pfaff, 28, of North Dakota, was arrested Saturday night. Under his shirt was a hat which he said he purchased in Idaho recently. On the band, however, was the trademark of Fortmiller's in Ashland. Pfaff was charged with vagrancy and ordered to leave town or live in jail for ten days. He decided to leave town.

Bishop and the Community Hospital, in the suit of Frank Jones of Grants Pass, who sought $35,000 for alleged negligence in care accorded him while a patient in the hospital, after an auto accident on the Jacksonville-Tillamook highway, two years ago. The jury deliberated about one hour. Under the verdict Jones is accorded no damages.

CCC YOUTH HURT IN BATTLE ROYAL

Carl Lloyd Pipton, 3, CCC enrollee of Camp South Fork, was taken to Community hospital late Saturday night suffering from a cut forehead and cuts over the eyes, the result, city police say, of a hand-to-hand encounter between enrollees of Camp Applegate and Camp South Fork near the county courthouse. Hospital attendant's said today his condition was improving, and he was in no danger.

According to city police, the fight started when Camp Applegate enrollees cut loose with a barrage of bottles and rocks into the truck bed of Camp South Fork boys. Pipton received his injuries from a hurled bottle, police believe.

About 40 boys engaged in the combat until broken up by police, who were unable to learn the cause of the battle.
