Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Quiet selling out down leaders in today's stock market in the wake of another sizeable drop in steel mill operations and release of the president's message to congress.

Hopeful traders stepped over on the buying side in the morning and lifted prices fractions to two points. Gains, however, were subsequently converted into losses running to three or more, with steels and motors conspicuously weak.

Dealings were relatively slow. The transfers were around 1,800,000 shares.

White Wall Street found much constructive and constricting in the chief executive's remarks, it was thought by some his proposals may have been partly discounted market-wide in view of the fact most had been forecast in Washington advices.

30 K.C. CANDIDATES RECEIVE DEGREES

Rogue river council of the Knights of Columbus exemplified the first, second and third degree for a class of 30 candidates at a day-long ceremony here yesterday.

The degrees were conferred by a team from the Klamath Falls council. First and second degree exemplification was in charge of Albert Williams, grand night. Third degree was in charge of George Cannon, state deputy, and Otto Smith, district deputy for Klamath Falls.

The day's ceremonies were concluded with a banquet last evening in Sacred Heart parish hall, 180 men and women attending. The dinner was served by St. Anne's Altar society. Rudolph Singler, grand knight of Rogue river council, was toastmaster. Speakers were Father F. W. Black, Father A. A. Meyer, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Smith, Mr. Williams and Frank DeSouza. An accordion orchestra, directed by Lilla Thurcker, provided music.

MRS. WITHERS IS RATED TOPS AS FILMDOM MAMA

By Robbin Coons HOLLYWOOD—One of the most carefully planned careers in the movies is that of 11-year old Jane Withers, and the planner is a "movie mama" who lacks the disagreeable characteristics usually associated with that term.

Out at the Pomona race track, where Jane is on location for a new version of the famous "Checkers" yarn, Mrs. Ruth Withers was sitting at her usual respectful distance behind the camera. The only time she took part in the movie proceedings was when Jane, during the scene, got something in her eye—and then Mrs. Withers removed it only when Jane was sent over to her.

That's why I think she won't ever want to give up acting. Right now she thinks she would like a year or two at college, and of course she'll have it.

Jane's film career represents the fruition of her mother's own unfulfilled dream of theatrical success. When they came here from Atlanta, she had taught times breaking in. But Mrs. Withers refused to give up. She was right, Jane now, unaided by spectacular or expensive picture vehicles, has pulled herself up to the very edge of the charmed circle of box-office favorites.

Revealing with jolting realism an untold chapter of the World War, "Lancer Spy" is brought to vivid life by the acting discovery of the year, George Sanders, whose genius was first glimpsed in "Slave Ship" and "Loyals of London."

Card of Thanks The members of Medford post No. 15, American Legion have expressed with great satisfaction the success of the 1937 Armistice Day program in Medford. Its accomplishment was due in large measure to patriotic instincts and a general feeling of interest and friendship of our organization, and of hospitality toward our underlings, on the part of the public of our city and county. This the American Legion sincerely appreciates.

Human Adventure In Craterian Picture

More than ordinary originality has gone into the making of the picture, "Big City," which opened a three-day showing at the New Craterian theater yesterday with Luise Rainer and Spencer Tracy co-starring.

There is no pretense at picturing the emotions rampant in any metropolis. Instead, the story devotes itself to the human adventure of a humble taxicab driver and his immigrant bride. The city is merely background.

Miss Rainer, Academy Award winner for her role as Anna Held in "The Great Ziegfeld," and Ungel in the Chinese fender woman in "The Good Earth," retains the same human qualities that made these roles so powerful. Tracy, who was the priest in "San Francisco," and the seaman in "Captains Courageous," and now becomes a truckman that made his previous characterizations stand out as the most impressive in years.

The supporting cast was carefully chosen and they achieve their respective roles effectively. Among outstanding players are Charles Grayson, James C. Becher, Eddie Quilian and Victor Varconi.

New Star Heading "Lancer Spy" Cast

The holdest venture a British secret agent ever faced, impersonating an officer in the German high command, forced to gamble on the love of a woman whose business was bed-trial with the opportunity to strike the deadliest blow of the great war if he lived, is the theme of the suspenseful espionage drama "Lancer Spy" featuring Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders and Peter Lorre, which opened yesterday at the Rialto theater.
