Windsors Happy Together Intimate Friend Reports

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingstone Rogers, intimate acquaintances of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, arrived from Europe today professing complete ignorance of the Windsors' plans. Rogers said he had not seen or heard from the duke since the former monarch's proposed trip to this country was postponed indefinitely. "It's too bad," was all he would say about the postponement. He said he had known Charles E. Bedaux, the efficiency engineer who aroused a storm of labor criticisms when he came here to arrange for the duke's tour, for several years out had no part in the arrangements. "Do you think," he was asked, "that they will come over within the next few months?" "I honestly don't know," he replied.

HOBBOES RESPECT BOX CAR BISHOP GUIDING YOUTH

PUEBLO, Colo. (UP)—Robert I. Bell, itinerant preacher, has more churches in this country than the combined buildings of any single faith.

For seven years, Bell who calls himself the "sky pilot of the rails," has been conducting services among the nation's professional transients. Any box car is his chapel—his congregation the thousands of hoboes and "drifters" who frequent "jungles" over the country. He has lived in vacant lots and groves near railroad yards where hoboes make their temporary homes. He has brewed coffee and "mulligan" in tin cans around their open fires. Knowing the language, habits and problems of the hobo, Bell is respected and has influence among them. His mission, however, is not so much concerned with those hardened men who have been on the road for years. He is interested more in the young boys who wander aimlessly over the country and who, he says, invariably get into trouble. He tries to rehabilitate them and send them home. Being a "box car bishop" is not an easy job, Bell pointed out. He came to Pueblo because a distraught mother in Kansas City asked to help find her son. The system he uses is simple and effective. He has little trouble making friends with the men. One of his first questions to the hobo is: "If you had a 10-year-old son and you knew he was down in these jungles, what would you do?" Invariably the answer, phrased in strong language, is: "I'd come down here after him in a hurry." Bell carries a portable typewriter, a Boy Scout first-aid kit and small leaflets of the books of the Bible. Although wandering about the hobo jungles has resulted many times in dangerous situations, Bell said the men usually are cooperative and sympathetic.

COUNTY GRANTED REPLACED BRIDGE

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Oregon's road construction program, involving $10,000,000 spent in 1937, will be cut in half next year, due to inability to match few federal grants, the state highway commission said at its meeting here. The estimated $5,000,000 for construction includes $1,000,000 for new federal aid projects, $3,000,000 for carry-over projects and $1,000,000 for state roads without federal aid. In addition, $3,200,000 will be spent for bond interest and retirement and $3,700,000 for maintenance. Allocation for specific projects was deferred. Jackson county was granted possession of an old bridge over Sardine creek, near Gold Hill, with completion of a new span.

Announce Winners Snowdrift Contest Mail Tribune Soon

In answer to inquiries from many of our readers, the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift people announce that winners in the awards for naming the two little Snowdrift men, will be made public shortly. Full details of the Snowdrift awards were carried in this newspaper through several weeks and created amazing interest. The task of giving equal consideration to each entry was greater than anticipated because of the unprecedented number of suggestions sent in. They came from all parts of the country and literally swamped the judges. Because of the nature of many names submitted and the number of entries received, the two little Snowdrift men must be just about the most popular little fellows in the world. In order that everyone would have an equal opportunity, each entry was carefully typed and indexed on a separate card as soon as it was received. The judges now are doing everything in their power to hasten the decision. And the big job of selecting the winners is nearing completion. Names of the winners will be published in this paper as soon as they reach us. The Snowdrift awards are most unusual since two entrants from this state are sure to receive awards, according to the rules. These special state awards of $50.00 and $25.00, will be given for the first and second best entries from this state. So it is sure that some of your fellow citizens in this state will be receiving congratulations for being among the winners. Phone 542. We'll haul away your refuse. City Sanitary Service. EX-CONVICTS ON WAY BACK TO PEN

SALEM, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Three men, two of them ex-convicts, state police said, were arrested in Portland today and were returned to Salem on a charge of burglarizing a garage at St. Paul, Marion county, on the night of November 12 and taking away about $2000 worth of merchandise, including a new automobile. They were William Charles Auth, Frank Peterson and Charles Edward Smith. The police said they had information that Auth did time in Oklahoma penitentiary for forgery and Smith in a California state prison for larceny. Peterson, the officers said, had been in previous trouble for minor offenses. Auth told the officers he was apprehended in Salem a few years ago as a murder suspect, but proved he had no connection with the case.

STEIWER PREDICTS NEW DEAL'S END

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Senator Frederick Steiwer (R., Ore.) returned to the capital today and predicted "most of the new deal soon will be thrown overboard." "The Republicans won't do it," he said in an interview. "It will be the Democrats themselves." "The new deal of restriction, regulation and control of business will have to be given up if business is to survive." He said he referred particularly to wages and hours legislation and "other restrictions affecting labor and capital." Steiwer, who recently announced he would not seek reelection, said so far as he could determine President Roosevelt "is as popular as ever with the people who voted for him," but added his position was "highly untenable."

Bad Man Reputation Explodes With Death

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Scout Younger, 64, wild west "bad man" in the early days of motion pictures, died today of a brain ailment. "He really was an outlaw," said his middle-aged widow, Pauline, who rose with her husband as a cowgirl in shows. "He was such a good showman and talked so much about the Younger and Dalton gangs that he finally believed his stories himself. The only time he was arrested in his life was back about 1897, in Greenville, S. C. The charge was that he had some bad meat in the butcher shop he was running."
