WASHINGTON SCHOOL P.T.A. HOLDS DADDY NIGHT FESTIVITIES

The ideal educational program includes thorough understanding and cooperation between the home and the school, with father, mother and teacher all working together for a unified personality in the child. This was the keynote of an interesting address before the parents and teachers of the Washington school Friday evening by Clifton R. Pond, Mr. Pond's address "A Parent Considers Home Study" was one of the features of the "daddy's night" program at the Washington Parent-Teachers association meeting, attended by a hundred teachers and parents.

"Open house" was conducted before the meeting convened with parents meeting the teachers in their school rooms. Representative school work was also displayed for interested parents.

A community sing, led by Mrs. Lois Young, accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, and selections by a mixed quartette comprising Mary Ann Gates, Marguerite Luman, Harry Young Jr., and Robert Wright completed the musical portion of the interesting program. Mrs. Elsie Strang was accompanist for the mixed quartette.

Mrs. Elsie McReynolds spoke briefly on her project room, telling the parents that the children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades could "earn" hours to work on interesting projects by getting their regular work done quickly. She had many articles on exhibit last night including clay work and little trains.

It was reported that Mrs. Reginald Earl, character education chairman, has had marked success in organizing the Brownies. Ten girls are now meeting every Thursday afternoon at the school.

The room mothers assisted parents in their rooms to become acquainted. The list of room mothers, announced at this meeting, is as follows:

NEW STATE GAME FUND ROW RISES

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The state game commission, scene of many bitter debates, added another to its list today.

Levi Wallace, at a meeting yesterday, intimated that board members sought game fund expenditures for their own localities. E. E. Wilson, Corvallis, replied heatedly that he was "tired of having Multnomah and Clackamas counties shoved down my neck."

Wilson said the board functioned for the entire state and he resented Wallace's remark. "I don't care at all about your displeasure," retorted Wallace.

The argument grew out of Wallace's request for $12,500 to improve the Little Sandy river channel.

Tony Martin, screen and radio singer, can play all the wind instruments.

Garner Criticizes Wife's New Hat As Flapper Style

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Men who do not like their wives' hats gained a convert today in Vice-President Garner. He took one look at the fashionable high crown of Mrs. Garner's new hat and announced: "It makes you look like a flapper."

Mrs. Garner disagreed. The fact that the brim turns down all around, she told him, "really makes me look like an old lady."

"They left the matter there—at least temporarily."

Fifteen Sailors Rescued in Atlantic

Some of the 15 Greek seamen, snatched from impending death in the waters off Cape Hatteras that took the lives of seven comrades, are shown in a lifeboat of the Coast Guard Cutter Monodeta after they had been picked up in the water. Some can be seen still wearing the life preservers they donned when they deserted the Ireny Chantaris when it went down during a storm.

Singer Has Plan to Make Children Opera Conscious

(AP Feature Service) NEW YORK.—To make ten million or so children opera conscious, to have them singing and playing their own simplified versions of the world's great musical dramas, is the aim of Irene Wicker, radio's "Singing Lady."

That aim is well along toward realization. Last year, on a national broadcast, Miss Wicker produced simplified adaptations of the operas of Verdi, Rossini's "William Tell," Beethoven's "Fidelio," Mozart's "Magic Flute."

The stories were reduced to the simple fairy tales that they are. Milton Reitenberg, Miss Wicker's arranger and piano accompanist, made simple arrangements of the best known arias. Sheet music of these arias which children can play themselves, with the accompanying lyrics, were issued by the thousands.

So successful was the introduction of operas for children last year, Miss Wicker this winter is offering Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelunglied." The music of Wagner for children to sing or hum!

PETITIONS SEEK $100 MONTH FOR FOLKS OVER 65

SALEM, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Preliminary petition for an initiative measure providing a maximum monthly annuity of $100 to all persons over the age of 65 years was filed in the state department here today by Elbert Eastman of Portland.

Funds with which to administer the law would be raised by a two-percent transaction tax similar to that proposed in a measure filed by the state Townsend organization a week ago.

Under the provisions of the measure the entire annuity would have to be expended each month. The state treasurer would administer the law. It would become operative two months after being approved by the voters.

The measure would be known as the "citizens retirement annuity bill."

The petition defines the transactions on which the tax would be imposed.

In event the required number of signatures are obtained the measure will go on the ballot at the next general election in November, 1938.
