ROOSEVELT HELD OPPOSED TO THIRD TERM
BELIEVES YOUNGER MAN SHOULD CARRY ON
EFFECT ON ANTI-DEPRESSION LEGISLATION
CONCILIATION FAILURE MIGHT REVIVE SPENDING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—With the ghosts of Herbert Hoover and all the attendant multitude of Republican office holders who lost their political lives in the last depression now gibbering and shrieking through the streets of Washington, it is unusually interesting to get some sort of line on what Mr. Hoover's successor feels about a third term. The fact that they may or may not have to face the electorate again usually has an important effect on politicians' actions and President Roosevelt is as much a politician as any other. It may be assumed, therefore, that in charting his course through the new depression which seems to be upon us, he will be much influenced by his intentions for 1940.

The first and most concrete bit of evidence tending to show that the President has no wish to run again (and will, therefore, be more ready to go his own way in the bad times) comes from a recent exchange of letters between him and his own confidential European ambassador-at-large, Norman Davis.

Some time ago, Mr. Davis, who is very close to the White House, was asked whether he thought that the President wanted to continue his residence at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue for another four years. He replied that he did not think so, but he was later quoted by his questioners as having said quite positively that the President was entirely without a desire for a third term. Discovering how his words had been distorted, Mr. Davis grew rather nervous, and wrote off an account of the whole matter to the President. He took the line that he had only voiced his own opinion, and that in a tentative fashion, and he apologized for having given rise to the misrepresentation that followed.

The President answered Mr. Davis' letter in pleasant and friendly terms, telling him that he need not be in the least upset. And he not only pool-pooched Mr. Davis fear that he had been indiscreet in saying anything at all, he went much further. He referred to the misquotation of Mr. Davis to the effect that a third term was definitely out of the question and, it is understood on the best authority, stated in rather positive fashion that, so far as he was concerned, the misquotation of Mr. Davis had hit the nail of his own attitude squarely on the head. In fact, the President is said to have written that he had made up his mind not to run again.

The second bit of evidence is of more recent origin. Not so many weeks ago, one of those eminent but non-political foreign statesmen with whom the President is especially liked, the visitor, called at the White House. The ex-ambassador was an ardent admirer of the New Deal, a man of large and inquiring mind, and one whose great interest was in coming events. Naturally...

SITDOWNERS HEED MARTIN'S APPEAL FOR EVACUATION

Union President Marches Out at Head of Group Which Had Occupied Factory Since Wednesday

POTNIAC, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Strikers who had held the General Motors Fisher body plant here since Wednesday evening marched out at 11:30 a. m. today, led by Homer Martin, international president.

Martin, who entered the plant at 10 a. m., said when he emerged that the strikers had voted unanimously to evacuate the plant.

He said the company would be notified at once that the men had left and that he would attempt to open negotiations which caused the strike.

Started Wednesday

The strike, which began without warning Wednesday when a few hundred members of the night shift refused to work because the company insisted upon the suspension of four men whom it blamed for a previous unauthorized strike, ended just as unexpectedly.

The men had refused to heed appeals of the international officers and of the international executive board, which was summoned into emergency session yesterday by Martin. The board recessed at 9:30 a. m. until 3 p. m. after issuing a statement describing the strike as "unauthorized and unassented." That statement came after 23 hours of nearly continuous conferences.

Although one striker, guarding an entrance to the plant, said the men would "turn a fire hose" on Martin (Continued on Page Three.)

Girl's "Little White Lie" Causes Suicide of Lover

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A "little white lie" from the lips of a pretty dark haired 18 year old high school girl was blamed today for the death of a young military academy student.

The girl, Lovetta Harynek, said in a signed statement to police she had told Warren S. Stanley, 17 year old son of a wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, she was to become a mother, when actually, she said, "it wasn't true at all."

The cadet, with a bullet wound in the head, was found early Sunday in a wrecked automobile which police said had been stolen. A pistol was clutched in one hand. He had been a student at the Missouri military academy at Mexico, Mo.

William Polhemus Walter Healy and Stan Hogan said Stanley's car led them in an 80 mile an hour chase, skidded on the icy pavement and crashed into a tree in suburban Berwyn. Healy asserted he heard a pistol report and found the youth slumped over the steering wheel.

In his pocket police found a note addressed to Miss Harynek, who said their romance dated back to grammar school. The missive attested to his love for her.

NATIONAL GRANGE NAMES 12 PLANKS IN NEW PLATFORM

Preamble Sets Forth Unity Is Keynote for Progress of All Farmers — Different Needs Recognized

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER (Associated Press Farm Editor) HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The National Grange announced today its 1938 "platform for agriculture," 12 planks based on conclusions reached at the organization's recent 74th annual meeting.

Drawn by Louis J. Tabor, master of the National Grange and the executive committee, composed of Fred J. Eckert of Interlaken, N. Y., E. A. Eckert of Mascoutah, Ill., and Ray W. Gill of Mountville Station, Portland, Ore., the platform was not intended to represent only the interests of grange members, but farmers throughout the country. Copies were sent to all members of congress.

The preamble set forth that unity was the keynote of progress for agriculture and the country and for this reason the grange sought advancement of all farmers, but recognized that certain groups, such as cotton, dairy, wheat and tobacco growers, had certain problems calling for specific action.

LABOR BOARD WINS COURT REVIEW FOR GREYHOUND ORDER

Supreme Court Agrees to Scan Litigation Over Order to Halt Recognition of Company Union

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The labor relations board won a supreme court review today in its effort to enforce an order directing the Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc., to withdraw all recognition from a labor organization it was alleged to have formed and dominated.

A review recently was granted of similar litigation involving the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc. The labor board lost both cases in lower courts.

In the Pacific Greyhound dispute, the board appealed from a decision by the ninth circuit court of appeals that the Wagner labor relations act did not authorize such action.

Other parts of the board's order—that the bus company cease from discouraging membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and refrain from "dominating or interfering with" any organization of its employees—were upheld by the circuit court and were not involved in the appeal.

After an investigation, the board found that the bus company had warned its employees not to join the brotherhood and had formed an employees' organization named the "Drivers' association, Pacific Greyhound Lines."

No written opinions were delivered at today's brief session before the court adjourned until December 6.

The justices denied a motion of Robert Gray Taylor of Media, Pa., for permission to file a brief questioning the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to sit on the bench.

'CHOOSY' BURGLAR TAKES BEST DUDS IN LARSEN STORE

Robbers sometime between 9 p.m. Saturday and 6:15 p. m. Sunday entered Larsen's clothes shop at 42 South Central avenue and stole merchandise valued at from $250 to $300, according to Harold Larsen, owner.

Entrance to the store was effected by opening the front door with a key, it is believed by Larsen and city police. There were no clues left by the burglars, city police stated, and neither the front nor back door, of two entrances, gave evidence of being forced open.

The robbery was discovered by Larsen when he returned to the shop yesterday evening to find some letters, he said. He stated that the front door was locked as usual and that he didn't realize anything was wrong until he entered the store. He closed the shop himself Saturday night and said he was certain he had locked the door.

The thieves were careful that they stole only the highest priced clothing, Larsen said. From the shop windows were taken one gray gaberdine shirt, one necktie and one dark brown leather jacket. Three overcoats, three suits, two leather jackets, four sweaters, a dozen sweaters and one small bathrobe were stolen from inside the store. Fifty cents in small change was stolen from the cash register, Larsen said.

DUKE OF GUISE SERVES NOTICE OF INTENTIONS

Son Denies Action Connected With 'Hooded Ones'—Success Royalist Move Seen Impossible

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—In the midst of police efforts to crush an armed revolutionary organization, Duke of Guise, pretender to the throne of France, issued a manifesto today announcing he had decided to "reconquer the throne of his fathers."

The duke's son, the Count of Paris, immediately denied his father's act had any connection with the Gagliardis, or "hooded ones." He insisted it was mere coincidence the manifesto was issued while the secret organization was being investigated.

The duke was in Belgium, where he is living in exile, as the 5,000 word manifesto was distributed in Paris.

(A dispatch from Geneva reported the count had returned there unexpectedly today.)

Spokesman for the count's Paris newspaper, the Courrier Royal, also stated the duke's use of the word "reconquer" meant only he planned to rally Frenchmen to his program and had in mind no military action.

Political observers viewed the duke's chances of changing France into a monarchy as "practically zero." The royalists throughout the country were believed to number less than 50,000.

LOLETA BANK ROBBERY BELIEVED CLEARED UP WITH ARREST OF PAIR

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 22.—(AP)—With two men in custody and the recovery of approximately $45,000 in cash and securities, county authorities said today they had practically completed their investigation of the holdup of the Bank of Lolo.

Sheriff A. A. Ross reported yesterday that state highway patrolmen had seized Waldon O. McAninch, 38, near Rio Dell, south of Eureka, and in his pockets found a dozen 50-cent pieces and a yellow coin wrapper of the type used by banks.

Officers said Walter F. Dickson, vice-president of the bank, had asserted he recognized McAninch as one of the men who held up the bank last Friday.

The other man in custody was Ralph Edward Johns, 35, seized Saturday by officers in a Rio Dell restaurant.

In addition to the bank robbery, Sheriff Ross said, the two men were questioned concerning the kidnaping of Richard Santreed, Eureka automobile salesman. Santreed was slugged and his car was stolen and used in the bank holdup, Ross reported.

Lad Shoots Father to Save Mother From Mistreatment

FREEHOLD, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Weeping at times and declaring he was "sorry" for what he had done, Robert C. Miller, husky and intelligent 15-year-old Keyport high school senior, was held today on a charge of slaying his father when the latter came home drunk and beat the boy's mother.

"Back of the whole case," said Assistant Prosecutor Edward Juska, "lies the tremendous affection" of Robert and his younger brother for their mother who has supported the family for three years by baking pies and cakes for the neighbors and a roadside refreshment stand.

The boy was quoted by Juska as confessing that he shot his unemployed father, Robert E. Miller, 41, with a .22 calibre automatic pistol when he came home drunk last night, woke up his wife, Marie, 36, demanded that she prepare supper for him, and scuffled with her when she refused to precede him downstairs.

Robert and his brother, John, 14, had often objected to their father's failure to get a job, his drinking and his treatment of their mother, Juska said.

2009 FILE CARDS IN JOBLESS COUNT

Cards totaling 2,009 were returned to Medford postoffice in the national voluntary unemployment census which ended at midnight Saturday. It was announced this afternoon by Postmaster Frank DeSouza.

Of the total 1183 were returned before Saturday morning, 540 were received over the week-end, 96 were XPA report cards and 250 were sent to the Medford postoffice when they should have gone to other postoffices, Mr. DeSouza said.

The returns were made in more or less routine fashion, Mr. DeSouza stated, there being nothing particularly outstanding in the census.

2 BURN TO DEATH IN TRUCK CRASH

REDDING, Calif., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Two persons were burned to death and another seriously injured today in a truck accident south of the Elko county line. None has been identified. One of the victims was a woman.

The truck, owned by the Hendricks Produce company, overturned and burned. The bodies were brought to Redding.

Dr. A. N. Johnson of Medford, returning from a meeting in Sacramento, came upon the scene of the accident seven miles south of Dunsmuir about one o'clock this morning. He was one of the first to arrive at the flaming wreck, and said that it was impossible to help those inside the truck.

Dr. Johnson stated the driver of the truck had been thrown clear and, critically injured, had been taken to a hospital in Dunsmuir. He said the driver told him that he had swerved the truck suddenly to avoid crashing into a car approaching on the wrong side of the road. Dr. Johnson quoted the driver as stating the two persons were in the sleeping compartment of the truck when it overturned.

FAST NEW PLANES SURPRISE JAPS IN NANKING FIGHTING

By James A. Mills SHANGHAI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Japan urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today to surrender.

A message was dropped to him by Japanese airmen making their first flight over Nanking since the government announced its transfer from the capital to Chungking, about 1,000 miles farther inland.

No bombs were dropped—only the message urging cessation of hostilities. It was released from a plane flown by Lieutenant Kochiomi Nango, one of Japan's ace pilots.

Chinese pursuit planes attacked the Japanese fliers, nevertheless, engaging them in spectacular dogfights over Nanking. One Chinese plane crashed.

The Japanese airmen, apparently trying to determine the strength of the remaining Chinese air force, were taken by surprise. The aerial defense, however, included little anti-aircraft fire, which was interpreted as a possible indication some batteries had been shifted to Chungking and Hankow to protect the new government headquarters in those cities.
