Jimmy Lott Tries Meanie Taming Role in Main Grapple Tonight

EX-GRIDIRON STAR FACES SMOLINSKI IN FEATURE EVENT

Red Lyons to Tangle With Strelich in Semi-Windup — Jarbo and Aho Open Card in Clean Contest

In what is figured will be one of the most resounding grappling explosions of all time takes place in the Medford armory tonight when Polish Palooka Joe Smolinski pits his unsavory tactics against the clean maneuvers of Alabama's Jimmy Lott in the main event and Ren Lyons, Joplin Terror, faces Steve Strelich of Hollwood in the middle bout. Lone lily white exhibition of an otherwise blood and thunder program will be furnished by Bic Jarbo meeting Toy Aho of Finland in the opener. Sailor Ole Olson, a wrestling brute himself, will wear the referee's white togs.

A nice crowd is expected to jam the armory for the second appearance in over six months of Smolinski, one of the game's most detested fellows, and the return, after a week's absence, of Red Lyons, the 205-pound villain who claims he can knock the block off any current grappling gentleman, or otherwise. Promoter Mack Lillard says advance ticket sales are good.

Pole Has One Coming

Although outweighed considerably, the tough Jimmy Lott, who used to take care of the blocking duties in the University of Alabama's football backfield, will enter his main event go on almost even terms with the Palooka. In fact, many local addicts believe Lott has what it takes to give Smolinski the whipping of his life, a whipping the Pole is in great need of since Pete Belcastro last worked him over. Since then, which was way last summer, Smolinski has enjoyed a satisfactory run of victories and observers figure it is about time for somebody to up and wham the dickens out of the scoundrel.

Lott really showed class last week in battling Bobby Chick to a no-fall deadlock, displaying an effective head lock that worried the ex-light heavyweight champion no end. Whether he has the power to stand off the cruel tactics of Smolinski remains to be seen, but Medford fans have their hopes.

Steve Faces Meanie

Steve Strelich, stymied in his attempt to get a return engagement with Smolinski after last week's disgrace, must be satisfied with Red Lyons tonight. However, if it is a villain that the popular leg-artist wants, he will not be disappointed. Lyons, whose sour-faced expression never changes as he goes about his unorthodox and underhanded business, is one of the meanest to appear here. He, also, is the victim of a suppressed desire, having begged for another crack at Chick after that gentleman soundly whipped him a month ago but not getting it when Chick left town.

Toy Aho, the popular Finnish wrestler, returns after an absence of several months to face another clean wrestler in Bic Jarbo. The match is expected to be clean, fast, and scientific.

Promoter Lillard announced today that he had signed Hugh Nichols, former light heavyweight champion of the world for one Medford appearance—next Monday night. Nichols is the wrestler who took Bobby Chick's crown away from him, and is rated one of the greatest scientific wrestlers in the world.

KARAMATIC'S KICK BRINGS 3-2 WIN

PORTLAND, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The University of Portland's big league football hopes were dashed Sunday when George Karamatic, Gonzaga halfback, showed 6,000 fans a perfect place kick for field goal to win, 3 to 2.

Karamatic, a one-man team, snapped into action after the Pilots ruled the field throughout the first half. He carried the ball from the Portland 32-yard line to the seven in six plays, despite an off-side penalty, as the third period ended.

He lost three yards on a fumble, recovered, dropped back to the 15-yard line and kicked the winning points.

Portland scored a safety in the second quarter when it blocked Karamatic's kick after losing the ball on downs at the Bulldog goal line.

THORNHILL URGES PITTSBURGH FOR ROSE BOWL TILT

Stanford Coach Adds Voice to Chorus — California Prefers Dartmouth Is Belief — Small List Eyed

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—California's Golden Bear, No. 1 football guy in his own territory, searched through the national records today for a suitable opponent to invite for a touchdown scramble in the Rose Bowl, New Year's Day.

The Pacific Coast conference champions, strongest unit to represent California in nearly a decade, had a small but formidable list from which to select a team for the classic, which before "bowl" games sprang up like mushrooms, came close to determining the mythical national title.

"Best in East"

If Oregon follows the suggestion of C. E. ("Tiny") Thornhill, Stanford coach whose team took a 13-to-0 licking from the Bears Saturday, Pittsburgh will be its rival at the big Pasadena encounter.

"California easily is the best team on the coast and should pick Pittsburgh, the greatest team in the east, for the Rose Bowl. Both have what it takes. The whole country wants to see them play," he said.

To Kenneth Priestley, graduate manager, will fall the responsibility of picking the opposing team. He won't talk—on this especial subject.

Among Rose Bowl possibilities are Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Fordham, Alabama and Villanova. None has been defeated. Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Fordham and Villanova have been tied, Dartmouth twice. Alabama's record is unsullied.

Dartmouth Preferred

Although Priestley will not confirm it, it is believed California would prefer Dartmouth, a member of the "Ivy League" and of unquestioned scholastic rating. Word recently, however, indicated Dartmouth would not be in a receptive mood toward an invitation because of examinations falling around the holidays.

"Feelers" probably already have been sent out to Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Fordham, Alabama and Villanova.

Remaining on California's schedule is a tentative date to play Georgia Tech at Berkeley, December 25. The game will not take place. The schools had an agreement if either reached the Rose Bowl it would nullify the prospective Christmas Day meeting.

While California was clinching the conference title, other league games saw Washington dump Oregon, 14 to 0, and Washington State upset Oregon State, 7 to 0. Another unexpected reversal resulted in previously undefeated Montana losing to Idaho, 6 to 0.

Southern Methodist hung a 26-to-13 defeat on the University of California at Los Angeles, groggy from its most disastrous season in years.

Only one conference game remains on the schedule. It will bring U. C. L. A. and Southern California together December 4.

Billy Hulen Says:

Axmen Facing No Walkaway Here Thursday

It won't be 44-0 this year.

Much as we would like to place quotation marks around that statement and point the finger at Sir William Bowerman of Medford high's Black Tornado, it can't be done.

Billy Hulen.

For the simple reason that the Tiger mentor didn't actually make the utterance. Therefore, until the lanky head man of Medford's neat football machine comes across with such a prediction regarding the big Thanksgiving Day classic between Eugene and Medford here next Thursday, those words will have to stand on their own merit. Also in the meantime, all you who are interested can gather around while your favorite columnist sputters out his private reasons why he believes the current Tigers are not going to be chopped to pieces by the Axman from up north.

In the first place, Coach Fritz Kramer hasn't the football club he had in 1936—not by a long sight. That Eugene outfit last season was a holy terror. It handed Medford one of its worst defeats in history and against Willamette valley competition was just as potent. There was simply no stopping it, and it ended the season undefeated and untied and considered by far the most powerful prep aggregation in the state.

This year, however, Kramer has had his troubles. Graduation hit the Axemen a stunning blow. Marshall ("Dutch") Shields brought his Vancouver, Wn., team to Eugene and got a deadlock with the Axemen. McMinnville, not so hot, also tied Kramer's team. Then on Armistic day Salem's Vikings blasted out a 13-7 victory in the mud and Eugene's undefeated victory string, extending through almost two years, was snipped. Oregon City followed with a 13-0 win over the Axemen last Friday to prove Salem's win was not a fluke.

Regarding the Medford angle, there is no comparison between the situation last year when the Tigers traveled to Eugene for their most severe licking and this season, with the Tornado at its peak. Medford was on the downgrade in its 1936 game with the Axemen. Ray Lewis, great halfback, had been forced to the sidelines with a hip injury early in the year; Bob Olson had been declared ineligible; and Ardo Stocks had been knocked out of commission with hurts. The Tigers had been tied by Ashland and beaten by Klamath Falls and Bowerman's highly-geared attack, which in earlier games had manufactured touchdowns galore, was sputtering and knocking along on three cylinders.

Look now. The Black Tornado is really rolling. The team has been brought along rather slowly and is at last beginning to function with the power that was always there but didn't start generating until the Klamath Falls battle. A slight letdown after the 0-0 tie with the Pelicans was experienced against Bend, but that was no disgrace. No team in Oregon can hold the Lava Bears to four touchdowns if they really want to turn on the heat.

Then came Ashland, the squabble figured a tossup in every respect, and Medford roared to a 20-7 victory behind a really great forward wall and on the wings of flying Bobby Ettinger and Jack Bowman. Then, Grants Pass last Friday night in the championship game, and it was Medford copping 6-0 in almost impossible playing conditions. On a dry and fast track, the Tigers would have beaten the Cavemen by 30 points.

No, friends, it won't be 44-0 this year. In fact, it won't be 24-0, we sincerely believe. Eugene may win; it will be the decided favorite, but it will be a ball game.

Talk about your "ending in a blaze of glory" business, Mr. I. Pickem certainly wound up his season of football prognosticating in such a manner. It was his best week of the year, and in addition to calling the turn on the nation's big upset, the master picker hit two scores smack on the buttons.

Pickem named Harvard's valiant crew to stop Clint Frank and Yale's undefeated run by a score of 14-13. The score was 13-6 for Harvard, an upset in anybody's league, and while Pickem missed slightly on the actual score, the big form reversal was pointed out. Pickem also named California by two touchdowns over Stanford; the score was 13-0, a clean KO for the ole maestro. And, Washington over Oregon by two touchdowns, and the final count was 14-0, another Pickem masterpiece.

In all, the renowned prognosticator named nine out of 12 encounters correctly. He called the turn on the following: Medford-Grants Pass, Southern Methodist-UCLA, Baylor-Loyola, Fordham-St. Mary's, Ohio State-Michigan, and Pitt-Penn State, in addition to those three already mentioned. Misses were on the Idaho-Montana, Oregon State-Washington State, and Navy-Princeton affairs.

So Pickem leaves you today for another year, and sincerely hopes that all of you have paid off the mortgage on the old homestead from following his invaluable tips. The season's batting average looks like this:

Picked	Won	Lost	Tied	Avg.
108	63	31	14	.670

Bulldogs Defeat Shamrocks 45-26

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Although the Los Angeles Bulldogs were newcomers to the American Professional Football league this season and it was considered a doubtful experiment to take a team from such a distant city, they're looking like the whole league now that the season is almost over.

Los Angeles hung up its seventh straight league victory and its tenth of the season yesterday, trimming the Boston Shamrocks, 45 to 26.

The other clubs in the circuit were not scheduled yesterday.

GIANTS AND BEARS LOOM AS FOES IN PRO TITLE CLASH

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A lot of things can happen before the national pro football league season ends, but it's a good bet that the New York Giants and Chicago Bears will battle it out for the 1937 championship.

The Giants and Bears last met for the title in 1934. On that occasion, the Giants won out by donning basketball shoes in the second half and scampering to victory on a slippery field. Yesterday the Giants went out of their way to help Chicago get a chance for revenge by practically eliminating Green Bay from title consideration.

New York, with a 10 to 0 victory over the Packers, handed Green Bay its third defeat. Chicago's Bears now lead the west section with six wins, one tie and one defeat, and are heavy favorites to clinch the right to meet the winner of the eastern title for the championship. New York has won six games, lost two and tied one, and the runnerup, Washington, probably will have hard going against the Packers next Sunday.

Washington clung to its title hopes by defeating the hapless Cleveland Rams 16 to 7.

Detroit registered a 16 to 7 win over the Chicago Cardinals.

With Ace Parker providing the punch, Brooklyn's Dodgers whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 23 to 0.

Sunday's Results

New York 10, Green Bay 0.
Detroit 16, Chicago Cardinals 7.
Brooklyn 23, Pittsburgh 0.
Washington 16, Cleveland 7.
