

DETROIT BUILDING HOMES FOR POOR IN LOW-COST TEST

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Council Housing committee is moving ahead with plans for its demonstration low-cost housing project for welfare families. Construction of the homes, some of which will be built of street widening salvage materials, will aid in coping with the housing shortage in Detroit.

Plans for the 15 houses in the project are complete now. All of the homes must meet the requirements of the building code of the federal housing administration. Ten of the residences will be constructed by the Detroit department of public works. The housing committee is seeking bids from private builders for the other five.

The D. P. W. homes are to be built of materials salvaged from street widenings and wrecking operations resulting from condemnation proceedings. Basements will be features of the D. P. W. structures, but private builders will not be required to include them if an "adequate utility room" is provided.

Each of the homes will be of different architectural design. All will be equipped with refrigeration units,

PUPILS FAIL TO REST ON DAYS HOME, STUDY IN ENGLAND REVEALS

ENFIELD, Middlesex, England. (UP)—Children who return to school "tired and listless, rather than rested and keen for work," after weekends, were the subject of an investigation here.

The investigation was made by Dr. D. H. Geffen, medical officer, and Dr. Gertrude Forrester, school medical officer. They placed the blame on four causes in their report—the cinema, dancing, the radio and motor-toring.

A large percentage of children, it was found, attend the cinema at least once a week. One boy was reported to be paying five visits regularly each week.

Infants and girls' school teachers complained of the dancing "craze." They said the children go to bed with muscles twitching to the rhythm of the latest jazz tune, and their sleep and rest are disturbed. Many also attend tap-dancing classes after school. Performances are frequently given in public after tiring nights of rehearsals.

No fewer than 25 percent of infants and 35 percent of junior children listen to the radio in bed, it was found. Many children spend most of Saturday going on long journeys in closed cars to the seashore. Some of them were either late at school on Monday or unable to attend at all owing to fatigue, complain the teachers.

Wed Despite Tragedy

Dressed in somber black, Miss Margaret Campbell Geddes became the bride of Grand Duke Ludwig van Hesse Bel Rhieln in a private London ceremony cloaked with the tragedy of an air crash in Belgium that killed nearly all of the bridegroom's family—five members of the former German royal family of Hesse. The newlyweds (above) left immediately after the wedding on their honeymoon, which started with a trip to Belgium to claim the bodies of those killed.

BALL IS DESIGNED FOR GOLF DUFFERS

CLEVELAND (UP)—A hook and slice-reducing golf ball is being introduced here by its inventor, John R. Farrar.

Farrar, a structural designer in the engineering department of the Erie railroad, has played golf for eight years. He usually shot around 92 and sometimes got down to 85 when the course was conditioned and the wind blowing his way.

He tried to induce a friend to take up golf, but was met with the reply: "I'll play when somebody invents a ball that won't slice."

So Farrar acted. He designed a ball with eight circular grooves. His theory is that if the ball is struck on either side, producing a hook or slice, the ball will rotate without creating turbulent air currents. The amount of hook or slice would be reduced by about 25 percent, Farrar contends.

There is, however, a catch. The ball must be teed up with the grooves in horizontal position. Thus, it is necessary to play winter rules on the fairway, if the player wishes to play a hook-less sliceless game. Farrar says.

Driving machines have tested his ball, Farrar says, and it compared with standard balls. He calls it the new "answer to a duffer's prayer."

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mousor of Gold Hill at Sacred Heart hospital this afternoon, a baby girl weighing 7 pounds 3 ounces. Mother and child are reported doing nicely.

FRANCE'S LOAN to the American motion picture industry is Miss Danielle Darius, who has started work in Hollywood on her first U. S. film.

SAVANT WHO ROUSED CONTROVERSY DIES
CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Sir Jagadisa Chandra Bose, 79, Hindu savant who stirred up a storm in scientific circles in 1901 with his "heart beat" theory of plants, died at Girdid today of a heart attack. When he presented his theory of the identical nature of physiological reaction in plants and animals to the British Royal Society there were allegations that he was not the first to discover the electric response of ordinary plants. The society at first rejected his paper but later recognized his claim of priority and conferred a fellowship upon him.

Announcement was made today of a free lecture on astrology by Claudius Maack at 7 tonight in suite 413 of the Hotel Medford. Astrologer Maack is on a west coast lecture tour, having arrived here from Seattle and Eugene en route southward. He will be here about ten days, holding meetings and giving private readings, his publicity agent said.

'DITCHED' TRIO SUE STEAMSHIP
PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—(AP)—In an unusual case growing out of a summer vacation of three students, the Norwegian motorship Maloja was held in port today under a $38,040 libel action filed by the youths' guardian, George Estes, lawyer. On grounds that the captain "ditched" the trio in distant Yokohama. Estes said the boat would have to remain here "until a bond satisfactory to us is posted." A hearing in federal court remains to be set. The complaint alleged that Kenneth Long, 17, Alfred Sadler, 18, and Stanley Walker, 18, all of Portland, sailed on the Maloja last May for the Orient, intending to return for the fall term of school. Reaching Yokohama, the captain told the students he had to go to Singapore. Upon their return to Japan, the captain said he had to sail to Australia and might be gone a year, but complained that the youths protested, they claimed he called them "American rats" and abandoned them.

Author of Famed Ballad Succumbs
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Toll Taylor, 61, author of the famous ballad "Down By the Old Mill Stream," died today of a heart attack. A spokesman for the Forster Music Publishing company, which bears Taylor's name before his retirement, said the song writer, now a resident of Findlay, Ohio, collapsed in the home of friends with whom he had been staying here, and died before a physician arrived.

NEVADA LUCKIEST IN MINE STRIKES
RENO, Nev.—(UP)—Nevada offers the nation's best mining opportunities to prospectors willing to "go into the hills and dig," according to Roy A. Hardy, supervising engineer for the R. F. C. "Nevada has more raw materials than any other state," Hardy said. "We need persistent workers who are willing to dig and follow up prospects. That's how the rich copper property at Mountain City was uncovered—by the persistence of S. Frank Hunt in the face of discouragement." Hardy, whose mining experience in Nevada dates back 35 years, predicted that the price of newly-mined domestic silver would not be lowered from the present 77.57 cent price. "The mintage on silver has put the government 'in the black' by more than $150,000,000," he pointed out. "I cannot see where the administration will discontinue that profit. It has added to the country's resources by the production of large quantities of precious metals."

Portland Enjoys Sunshine Spell
PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Sunshine dried Portland today after days of almost constant rain, but the weather bureau predicted it would be short-lived. Showers for tonight and Wednesday were forecast, with snow in the mountains. Since September 1, 13.83 inches of rain have been recorded, compared to normal of 9.47 inches.

Closed Shop Pact For Candy Stores
PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Thomas Lenhart, president of the retail grocery clerks' union, said today a closed shop agreement has been reached with 60 Portland candy stores, providing for a 44-hour week of 8 1/2 days and minimum pay of $18 weekly, with double time for holidays. OLD GRADS CHIDED ON IDIOSYNCRASIES
HIRAM, O.—(UP)—Kenneth L. Brown, president of Hiram college, believes the American college alumnus often suffers from over-development of his sentimental and critical impulses. In the college periodical he listed the following "unworthy specimens" among the species alumnus: "Alumnus lacrymose: Ready at all times to gush over departed glories, convinced that genius deserted dear old Alma Mater the day his class was graduated, easily irritated over changes to the campus flower beds or the refurbishing of an ancient dormitory. "Alumnus puerile: The middle-aged Peter Pan, ever present at all college gatherings, whose chief delight is cornering the un-graduate to tell him of the pranks of former days. "Alumnus bibulous: Appears only at football games, deploring the passing masculinity of the college, and takes a varsity defeat as a personal insult."

Cities Bombarbed On Spanish Coast
MADRID, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Spanish coastal cities from Barcelona to Valencia were bombed today by insurgent air raiders operating from their Mallorca island base. Among the towns attacked were Tarragona, Benicarlo, Peniccola and Amposta. Two planes dropped loads of bombs on Peniccola and Benicarlo, with rather heavy casualties. Three bombers attacked Tarragona and, after a fight with government aircraft, flew out to sea off Amposta.

San Jose Called Nov. 23.—(AP)—Walter Main, 33, San Jose, and Edna Crider, 23, Klamath Falls, Ore., obtained a marriage license here Monday.
