Thanksgiving Is Festive Day For Medford Society

Thursday will be a festive day in Medford with many events planned for the Thanksgiving holiday. Holding the center of attraction will be the large number of family gatherings with students and others from out-of-town joining their families for the holiday.

The Eugene-Medford football game in the afternoon is of interest to many and several cocktail parties have been arranged following it.

The larger event for the evening is the Firemen's annual ball to be held at the Oriental Gardens with Steve Whipple's orchestra furnishing the music. Proceeds from the ball will be applied on supplies for repairing and repainting discarded toys for the distribution among the less fortunate at Christmas time.

Dessert Bridge Given Tuesday by Mrs. Davis

Mrs. Russell D. Davis was hostess for a dessert bridge Tuesday at her home inviting eight guests.

Present were Mrs. John Day, Mrs. Frank Perl, Mrs. Kenneth Parrett, Mrs. Jack Simpson, Mrs. J. Frank Reinhart, Mrs. Harold Reichstein, Mrs. Charles Barnes, Mrs. E. C. Westergren of Grants Pass.

Mrs. Lenox Speaker at Business Class

A splendid talk on "Personality and Grooming" was given by Jacques Lenox for the business girls' class Monday evening at the Girls' Community clubhouse. The class which is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, under the supervision of the Community club, has proved a most successful undertaking and the last session was attended by 33 girls.

Mrs. Helen Parish will address the group for the next class November 29. The following week the class will be held Tuesday evening instead of Monday, the regular date, and Mrs. Mabel Mack will be the speaker.

TALKS AND MUSIC ENLIVEN PROGRAM OF ROTARY CLUB

Three interesting features made up the program at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of Medford Rotary club at the Hotel Medford. In observance of Thanksgiving day, W. A. Gates gave a brief, enlightening talk on the "Origins of Thanksgiving" in which he traced the primitive source of Thanksgiving and pointed out that some kind of Thanksgiving ceremony has been and is observed by people of every part of the world, even the aborigines of Australia. Thanksgiving day on the American continent was originally a day of fasting and prayer, Mr. Gates said.

The Grotto accordion band, a Medford musical organization, entertained the Rotarians and guests with three splendid selections, La Golondrina, dedicated to Mr. Gates; the ever-popular Missouri Waltz, dedicated to Dr. Sweeney, and the Sharp Shooters March, dedicated to Walter Leverette. The Crater accordion band comprises the following Medford men and women: Mrs. Harry Prentice, Lilla M. Purucker, Mrs. George Johnson, Eddie Tomdells, Kenneth Hecker and Warren Mullen.

Carl Boswell, a spokesman of the Toastmasters' club of this city, presented a splendid address on the need for supporting the sale of tuberculosis stamps.

Next Rotary club meeting will be held next Tuesday noon at the Hotel Medford in conjunction with the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce forum with Regional Director E. J. Griffith, head of WPA activities in this state, as guest speaker.

Church Meeting at Mrs. Faber's Home

Mrs. E. C. Faber and committee were hosts on Thursday to the various organizations of the Federated church of Central Point. Following a brief business session, the devotional period was held and was in charge of Mrs. Earl Richmond, who also led in the many numbers on the Thanksgiving theme.

Miss Helen Carlson, president of the Missionary group, outlined briefly her work. Mrs. Louise Grimes reported on the Central American Missions and Mrs. W. P. Grimes on the Oronoco Missions of South America. Mrs. Louise Ayers, Berean class president, and Mrs. Case teacher, participated in the program. Mrs. Lottie Mimmick gave a report of work accomplished by the Ladies' Aid group, presided by Mrs. Earl Richmond is president. Mrs. Floyd Lefter was honored with a shower and received many beautiful gifts, at this time Mrs. Alvin Williams gave a reading selected from a book of poems by Mrs. Amy Caran Phillips. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Fifty-four guests enjoyed the meeting.

The December party will be held at the home of Mrs. Ella Leonard, Beall Lane.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT ST. MARK'S CHURCH

Following its usual custom, St. Mark's Episcopal church will observe Thanksgiving day tomorrow with services at 10 o'clock, concluding with a short sermon by the rector, Rev. Ernest L. Bartlam. All attendants are requested to bring an offering of food for the poor, distribution of same being made shortly after the conclusion of the services.

For those who prefer to bring their offerings previous to Thanksgiving day the church will be open all day today and this evening to receive them, or the gifts may be left at the rectory, 48 Quince street.

PUNCHBOARDS GO ON PROSECUTOR'S ORDER

Punchboard operation in Jackson county was discontinued yesterday, upon ruling by the district attorney's office that punchboards came under the Oregon anti-lottery law.

Full compliance with the removal order was reported today by Sheriff Syd I. Brown who said approximately 25 punchboards, practically all in this city, had been withdrawn.

RADIATOR CAPS WAIT OWNERS AT STATION

Car owners who have lost their radiator caps recently may possibly recover them by calling at the city police station. Chief of Police Clatus McCredie said today.

Several caps were found by children and turned over to the police and they may be returned to their owners after identification, the chief said.

Royal Family Dies in Airliner Crash

Debris of an airliner in which 11 persons were killed, including five members of the family of the late Grand Duke Ernst Ludwig of Hesse Bel Rhein of Germany, is shown amid the damaged wreckage at Ostend, Belgium, where the plane fell after hitting a chimney in a fog. The picture, transmitted by radio to New York from London, was confiscated temporarily by local Belgium authorities, but later released.

Club Has Initiation Banquet; Objects of Group Discussed

The Business and Professional Women's club held its initiation banquet Tuesday evening at the Valentine's Cafe with Mrs. Maud Snider, president, presiding. Among the new members initiated were Ruid Funk, Winnifred Darnell, Geraldine Latham, Audrey Wentworth, Dorothy Christanson, Cola Poy, Lucy Landon, Marjorie Humphrey, Jean Garman, Vivian Turner, Beryl Brockaway, Mary Ellen Bell, Zoe Byington, Helen King, Eloise Knox, Elizabeth McGalliard and Nina Moore.

Mrs. H. M. Weishaar was chairman for the initiation and emceed the ceremony, assisted by Barbara Drury, Bertha Glasgow, Laura Lynch, Goldie Axland and Eva Judd.

The meeting opened with the reading of the club collect and group singing, followed by a violin solo by Lucy Landon of the Southern Oregon Normal.

During the banquet, Mrs. H. M. Weishaar outlined the work of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs; Mrs. Mabel Mack, state program chairman, explained the importance of the state federation; and Mrs. Goldie Axland, outlined the work of the local B. and P. club. Mrs. Jacques Lenox explained the duties of club members to the club.

The Business and Professional Women's club is the largest organization of its kind in the world and membership is open to any business or professional woman. The organization was started in 1919 and today more than 50,000 women are members, including many of the leading figures of the country, among them Eleanor Roosevelt.

The club is not only a social organization, but also has a definite goal. Each local club not only serves its members, but also tries to better the community in which it is located. Included in the work of the Medford club is a vocational guidance program for high school girls and young business women which consists of sponsoring a series of talks on business given every Monday evening at the Girls' Community club.

The club has a student loan fund used to help college girls who are in need of funds to complete their education. Two such loans were made to local girls last year.

The Medford club holds two meetings a month, one a social and the other business. International relations has been the subject considered recently. Mrs. Thora Lawrence is chairman of the international relations committee. "Our Town's Business" and "Value of Knowing Ourselves" will be discussed during future sessions. The local club also has a program for health and recreation.

Among the important future undertakings of the club will be the sponsoring of a dance December 4 at Dreamland hall, the proceeds to go to the student loan fund.

The next meeting of the club will be a Christmas party December 14 at the Girls' Community clubhouse. Each member is to bring a 10 or 15 cent child's gift and also food for Christmas baskets for those less fortunate. Helen Parish is chairman of arrangements for the party and the refreshments committee consists of Zelpha Armstrong, Margaret Fabrick, Mary Hanley, Elizabeth McGalliard and Marcella Northland.

UNION SERVICE AT 10 A.M. THURSDAY

As has been the custom in years past, churches of Medford will join in a union service of thanksgiving tomorrow at 10 a. m. The service this year is to be held in the Christian church at 9th and South Oakdale streets. In addition to hymns of thanksgiving by the congregation there will be two special musical numbers by the choir: "The Lord Is in His Holy Temple" by Barker, and "The Lord of Harvest" by Peace.

The service is sponsored by the Medford Ministers' association, and Dr. Sherman L. Divine of the local Presbyterian church will preach the sermon. It is hoped that those who attend the service will show their thankfulness in a practical way by bringing a liberal offering which will be turned over to the National Tuberculosis association and will be used in Jackson county to aid those afflicted by the white plague.

ORVILLE ROHRER TAKEN BY DEATH

Orville Francis Rohrer, 71, a resident of Medford for many years, died in the family home, 632 Albert street Tuesday morning after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Rohrer was born at Mount Vernon, Ill., on April 30, 1866.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah A. Rohrer, a son, Warren Rohrer, of Medford, and two daughters, Mrs. Helen Worden of Medford and Mrs. Emma Sheffield of Newport.

The body will be transferred to Roseburg Friday morning for services and interment. Peril funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

MOVE FOR VOTE OF WORKMEN IN PORTLAND MILLS

National Labor Relations Board Moves to Obtain Consent of All Concerned — AFL Blocks Plan

PORTLAND, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The national labor relations board's re-entry into the A.P.L.-C.I.O. sawmill dispute here had brought a recommendation today for an employee election—a plan apparently blocked by refusal of the A.P.L. to lift its boycott pending, or as a result of, the outcome.

The policy committee of the central labor council contended that "a national controversy cannot be settled by any local vote," and that withdrawing the boycott would prolong the struggle.

The board, its jurisdiction challenged by the A.P.L. and Mayor Joe Carson, instructed Regional Director Charles W. Hope last night to attempt to obtain consent of all parties to the vote.

It stipulated that employees should agree to reopen the mills regardless of the outcome and that both labor factions should accept the result without boycotts or picketing.

The telegram pointed out that the C.I.O. had been previously designated as the "millworkers' bargaining agency on the basis of 'indisputable evidence' it represented a majority of the workers, but suggested the
