

2800 CCC GIVEN PNEUMONIA SHOTS IN MEDFORD AREA

More than 2800 Medford district CCC enrollees have received the pneumonia immunization treatments offered by the war department to all CCC men who care to take them, according to Capt. H. T. Gentle, district surgeon.

Sufficient antigen for immunization against types 1 and 2 pneumonia was received to supply half the men in the camps and no difficulty was experienced in finding that number willing to be immunized, the surgeon said.

Although the treatment is fairly new to medicine, it has already proved itself an almost sure preventive of pneumonia, Dr. Gentle related. The "shots" were offered last year and, although several cases of pneumonia developed in the district, not a single case involved a man who had taken the immunization treatment, he stated. In the entire ninth corp area, out of 42 pneumonia cases last year, not a single case involved a man who had taken the "shot," records show.

CUPP TO LAUNCH FURNITURE SALE

The John Cupp furniture store will launch a pre-Christmas sale of a $15,000 stock of fine furniture, beginning Wednesday, December 1st at 9 a. m., according to an announcement by John Cupp, owner.

The store will be closed all day today and Tuesday to make ready furniture stocks for this sale event. "I believe that our customers and friends are entitled to at least one good sale a year so, here it is, at the beginning of the Christmas shopping season," Mr. Cupp said. "I can assure the public that no cheap merchandise has been shipped in for this event; every article is from our regular stock and bears its original price tag plus our new sale tag showing the saving you can make," he added.

The entire stock, with the exception of one or two contract lines, goes on sale Wednesday with exceptional savings on davenport suites, bedroom suites, lamps, rugs, and scores of items suitable for holiday gifts. Used furniture may also be exchanged for new during this event, Mr. Cupp's announcement stated.

ROOSEVELT ASKS CONGRESS AID IN SPUR TO BUILDING

"From the point of view of widespread and sustained economic recovery," he added, "housing constitutes the largest and most promising single field for private enterprise. He pointed out that building of new dwelling units had fallen behind by between 600,000 and 800,000 a year in the last seven years compared with the seven years prior to 1930 and that this presented an "urgent problem which is the common concern of industry, labor and government."

"All business needs the infusion of orders and the diffusion of purchasing power that come when building is thriving," he continued. "Great numbers of people look directly or indirectly to the construction industry for employment."

Would Aid Budget. "This industry, to a greater extent than any other, can put idle funds to work and this speed up the circulation of the nation's money supply. This, in turn, would increase national income, reduce unemployment and as a result contribute towards a balancing of the budget."

He said his proposals could not be effective unless builders, contractors, manufacturers, labor and finance cooperated in producing housing within reach of the incomes of the vast majority of the people.

"If the building industry is to play the vital part that it ought to have in our economic system," he said, "it must do it in the characteristic American way."

He said the program was designed primarily to encourage private building to "meet the needs of families of moderate means," since the government already had made provision under the slum-clearance act to care for "many of the most needy."

3—Make the mortgage insurance premium one-half of one per cent on the "diminishing balance" of an insured mortgage instead of on the original face amount, as now required; furthermore, cut the rate to one-quarter of one per cent on properties valued at less than $40,000 and where the mortgage is insured prior to July 1, 1939.

4—Authorize insurance of mortgages up to $200,000 for construction of individual homes and apartments, as well as groups of houses, for sale or rent, but limit the mortgage to $100,000 per room. Such insured loans are now limited to $10,000 for each project.

5—Revise the limited dividend corporation section to encourage construction of large-scale rental properties in the larger communities, insured loans to be kept at 80 per cent of appraised value on mortgages up to $8,000,000, as at present, but a limitation of $1,200 per room to be substituted for existing "low income" definition which officials regard as too vague.

6—Liberalize provisions for chartering national mortgage associations to permit financing of such large building projects by a single or "blanket" mortgage; the reconstruction finance corporation to make available $20,000,000 for capital purposes.

7—Make the $2,000,000,000 limitation on the total amount of mortgages insurable apply to the amount of insurance to be outstanding at any one time.

8—Revise the provision that expired last April, authorizing insurance of loans up to $10,000 for modernization and repairs, but excluding equipment such as refrigerators. In complaining of high costs of materials and wage rates, he said he was "not seeking to apportion blame for manifestly no industrial or labor groups would deliberately adopt a policy that would result to their own disadvantage."

"I am simply pointing out what did occur and what the consequences were," he said. Previously he had pointed out that the "sharp rise of wage rates and prices" last year had reduced by 100,000 or 150,000 the number of new houses that were estimated in prospect for this year.

ences, bringing them within striking distance of the last fortifications before China's capital.

Official communiques said the Japanese occupied Kiangyin, on the Yangtze river, within about 20 miles north of Wushu on the Shanghai-Nanking railroad; and Ding, about 85 miles southeast of Nanking.

Chinese Hold Forts. An army spokesman admitted, however, that the Kiangyin forts, which have held out for more than a week against Japanese land, air and river bombardment, still flew the Chinese flag.

The spokesman expressed belief that the fall of Kiangyin, behind the forts, after desperate street fighting, would force the surrender of the strong but outflanked fortifications.

As soon as they capitulate, he declared, the Japanese plan to destroy the river barrier, proceed upstream and bombard Nanking from the Yangtze.

Towns In Flames. Intense bombardment and fires set by retreating Chinese were reported to have left Wushu, Wutain and Ding in flames.

Japanese naval dispatches said a heavy aerial bombardment was made on a wide area of the front, including the Kiangyin forts, Liyang, Lishin, Ningkwofu, Kwanteh and the road to Wuhu.

Troop concentrations at Tsunyang and Kintan, Chinese troops retreating from Wushu and junka carrying Chinese supplies in the vicinity of Chinkiang also were reported bombarded by the Japanese.

A Japanese embassy spokesman, meanwhile, announced that Japan had taken over "in principle" Chinese customs, postoffice, censorship bureau, telegraphs and radio systems.

He said, however, the Japanese were not taking actual physical control or making any administrative changes at present. He declined to answer what eventual action might be taken concerning administration of China's maritime customs.

In Tokyo, a foreign office spokesman declared Japan insisted on her "right to act independently" in Shanghai and "did not have to consult Great Britain or the United States" on her actions.

OUSTERHOUT SUFFERS LOSS OF FINGERS IN FARM GRAIN CHOPPER

O. E. Ousterhout of route 3, well-known Jackson county rancher, lost all the fingers of his left hand Saturday morning when the member became entangled in the machinery of a grain chopper, into which he was feeding corn.

Attendees at Osteopathic clinic where he is confined, said today his hand was so badly mangled that amputation of the fingers was necessary. He is recovering nicely, it was stated, and will be able to return home in a few days.

According to clinic attendants, Ousterhout was working alone on his ranch when the accident happened. The grain chopper became clogged. It was said, and when the rancher tried to clear it his left hand was caught in the fan. He then went to his house, and after telephoning the clinic, Mrs. Ousterhout drove him to Medford.

Ousterhout didn't remove his glove and clinic attendants said he lost very little blood.

is met, he said, it may get "beyond control and lead to remedies of a character that few really desire."

The anti-trust laws, he said, "need to be adapted to our modern problems for realistically and intelligently, and they need behind them the drive of adequately financed enforcement machinery." He continued:

Problem for all. "Do not for a moment imagine that this is solely the government's business. It is the problem of all our people, and that includes every element of American life."

"In this welter of things, nothing is more obvious than the fact that big business, if I may use that term, is moving blindly but with accumulating acceleration down the road leading to ultimate government supervision."

"The American people have a deep and abiding faith in Democratic processes. They have seen the stop-work-and-listen signal passed all too often; but while their patience endures every possible effort should be made to solve the problem within the terms of our political and economic ideas. Personally, I adhere to the faith that these difficult matters can be dealt with within the framework of our customary processes."
