Borden's Milk Condensery at Albany, Ore.

The state of Oregon is fortunate in having ideal dairying conditions within its borders. Long recognized for its eminent position among states as a large producer of dairy products, it has been known primarily for the high quality standards to which its products conform. Many sections of the United States produce milk but Oregon is favored with a suitable climate and sufficient rainfall to provide ideal natural grazing conditions which are so essential to the production of pure balanced milk of natural flavor.
The Borden company early recognized the advantages of the state of Oregon as a source of supply of good milk suitable for their existing use in the production of Borden's Irradiated Evaporated Milk. Today Borden's operate a large condensery located at Albany in the heart of the famous Willamette valley. To the Borden plant many dairymen daily

DIET OF GRASS SEEN FOR U. S.

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—The United States may soon become a nation of grass-eaters, Dr. George I. Christie, president of Ontario Agricultural College, predicted at a farmer's meeting here.
"Dried grass, specially treated and prepared, may be one of the important farm crops of tomorrow," Dr. Christie asserted.
Grass-eating by man, he said, would be a change no more startling than the development of the automobile from a "chug-scaring go-devil" to the smoothly-functioning vehicle of today.
"There is even a man on our staff," he said, "who suffered from ulcers of the stomach. He has been taking two spoonfuls of this dried grass daily and has made a remarkable comeback."

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Largest dividends in the seven-year history of Pendleton Grain Growers, Inc.—totaling $918—have been paid out to former members this fiscal year, according to announcement today by James Hill, Jr., manager.
Individual patronage checks of the co-operative agency, which specializes in grain selling but also is a buying unit for various farm needs, ranged from $1 to $300, he said.

DOUBLE SUICIDES ARE CUT IN JAPAN BY WAR

TOKYO (AP)—Statistics compiled by the metropolitan police board show that the number of double suicides in Japan this year is less than half of last year's total for the same period.
The practice is comparatively common in Japan. It is the traditional escape of frustrated lovers, and lately it has become common among poverty-stricken married couples. But since the war in China began, it has dropped sharply.
The running cost of the Dionne quintuplets' nursery is $18,000 a year. Great Britain has twice as many merchant vessels as the United States.
