

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR ANDREWS IN ASHLAND TODAY

ASHLAND, April 14.—(Sp)—Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Andrews were held at the J. P. Dodge and Sons funeral chapel this afternoon with the Rev. James H. Edgar, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews met death in an automobile accident, April 10 near Glendale, Cal., en route to visit relatives in Montrose. Both were well known residents of the Rogue River valley, having come here almost 50 years ago to make their home and have been identified with the up-building of the community. Their residence and interests have been centered in both Medford and Ashland.

Since retiring from active business they have spent much time in California where a number of their children and other relatives reside.

Aaron Andrews was born December 7, 1855, at West Salem, Wis., the son of Aaron and Caroline Andrews.

In his boyhood his parents moved to Minnesota, returned to Glendale, Wis., and later moved to Beloit, Kas., where he grew to manhood. During his young manhood he taught school, serving as principal of the Cawker City schools; was county surveyor and followed farming.

On March 22, 1881, he was united in marriage to Ann G. Kendall and in 1883 they moved to Canyon City, Ore., where they lived until 1885, when they returned to Beloit, Kas., living there until 1890, when they came again to Oregon, settling at Medford.

Since coming to Oregon the second time he has engaged in farming largely but retired from active business life in 1910.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church for many years.

Ann G. Kendall was born at Liberty, Ill., March 23, 1859, the daughter of the Rev. R. P. Kendall and Anna Kendall. During her youth her parents moved to Beloit, Kas., where she grew to womanhood. She was engaged in the teaching profession until her marriage to Aaron Andrews. Mrs. Andrews was also a member of the Presbyterian church from childhood and active in the work of the W.C.T.U.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews are survived by the following near relatives: Two sons, George A. Andrews, Talent, Ore., and Alan K. Andrews, Sacramento, Cal.; four daughters, Miss Marguerita Andrews, Mrs. Marie Miller, Santa Cruz, Cal.; Mrs. Abby Hurd, Montrose, Cal.; and Mrs. Eunice Moore, Santa Cruz; one grandson, Leonard Andrews, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Mildred Thornton of Ashland, and Jean Miller of Santa Cruz; two great-grandsons, Alan Andrews and Richard Thornton, Ashland, Ore.

Aaron Andrews is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary L. Matthews and Mrs. Sarah Wheeler, Medford. Interment will be made in Mountain View cemetery, Ashland.

He made Medford his headquarters while he visited surrounding cities to confer with party leaders. He spoke at public meetings here and in Cave City and Grants Pass.

Mr. Hyde, state representative for three sessions, said he favors conciliation and arbitration in labor disputes and the impartial enforcement of labor laws.

Since 1920 Mr. Hyde has been engaged in the real estate and loan business in Eugene. He also operates a diversified farm near Eugene.

Mr. Hyde was born in Idaho in 1888 and came to Oregon with his parents in 1900.

CORVALLIS, April 14.—(AP)—Approximately 70 percent of Oregon State college students who took the trouble to vote favored compulsory

R.O.T.C. training for men in college. This question was one of a score dealing mostly with international affairs on a ballot printed twice in the Daily Barometer as part of a nationwide effort to obtain American student opinion on current affairs. Only 463 ballots were turned in under the voluntary voting system employed. Of these 321 favored the compulsory R.O.T.C.
