NEW PUNCH BOARD TERMED LOTTERY

SALEM, Ore., April 27.—(UP)—Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle today said a new type of punch board called "jar of jack" is a lottery and therefore illegal.

The ruling was given in answer to George L. Anderson, Jr., Union county district attorney.

The new board asks historical questions and gives 20 cents for a 10 cent punch if the customer answers correctly. If he fails to answer correctly, he gets nothing.

The attorney general said since there was no way of knowing whether he would punch one of the 20 cent slips or one worth from 50 cents to $5 the game "undoubtedly" is a lottery.

Andreas Pico's
BRANDY
 may have suffered some

PERHAPS a padre mentioned casually, in conversation—that it would be nice to have oil lamps at Mission San Fernando. One heard of them in places like San Francisco and Sacramento.

This wonderful petroleum was at hand. Ramon Perca, the shepherd, had found a spring of it yonder in the canyon. But how to process it, so it would burn with a steady flame at the wick? That baffled one.

Andreas Pico—a great man in a great country—agreed. Traditionally it was his part to assume leadership. To the oil seepage in Pico Canyon Andreas Pico sent men to skim up the black oil. Was he not—along with everything else—a distiller of brandy? Might not the process be the same?

So he distilled petroleum in his brandy still and sent kerosene to the Mission—possibly in the early fifties.

Even now the refining process has a similarity to that Andreas Pico used—greatly elaborated—only the major problem is to produce gasoline.

The manner in which science and the oil industry have met the increased demand for gasoline—due to the automobile—by vastly increasing the yield from the same amount of "crude" is one of the great romances of business.
