Unique Musicale By Thursday Club Greatly Enjoyed

A beautiful prelude to Music Week was the "Evening of Music" presented at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe Friday evening. This musicale, sponsored by the Thursday Morning Study Club, was arranged by Roberta Ward Bebb who also was announcer and commentator of the program.

Mrs. Bebb is not only widely known as a gifted musician herself, but is also recognized as one of those foremost in the advancement of and support of the art of music in southern Oregon.

Adding variety and interest to the program were the talks given on the music of those various countries represented by the musical selections.

Mrs. Angus Bowmer, who spent last year in England in the interest of the Southern Oregon Shakespearean theatre, gave her impression of the English people and their music.

Mr. Hilding Bengtson told of the customs and music of the Scandinavian countries. He particularly mentioned that the homeland of Grieg is a nation of music and musicians.

Mrs. Esther Church Leake, who has recently returned from the National Educators' conference at St. Louis, gave an interesting account of the work of the music clinic as conducted at the conference and elsewhere. Mrs. Leake told of the importance of the music camp in promoting musical endeavor among young students and she expressed the hope that Oregon also, may soon have a music camp for young people.

The tone quality of the new Everett electric organ was beautifully demonstrated by Mrs. Eva Marsh who played Handel's immortal "Largo." A duo, "The Waters of Minnetonka" (Lisianski), was played with Mrs. Marsh at the organ and Mrs. Lilla Purucker at the Baldwin grand.

Mr. Frederick Gustaf, popular exponent of German music, sang two numbers, "Oh, Gently Hear My Gondolier" and "When Through the Pines" (Jensen). He was accompanied by his mother.

Miss Elizabeth Clement (soprano) was heard in the English songs, "A Pastoral" (Carey) and "Cherry Ripe" (Horn). Mrs. Marsh was her accompanist.

An English ballad, "Blow, Blow Thron Winter Wind," from Shakespeare's "As You Like It," has been set to music by Sargant. Miss Marian Luce gave a delightful interpretation of this song. She was accompanied by Roberta Ward Bebb.

A touch of Hungarian atmosphere was reflected in the two-piano rhapsody "Hungary" (Koelling), which was played by Mrs. Lilla Purucker and Mrs. Roberta Ward Bebb.

Representative of American music was the negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" (Burlingame), and "O'er the Billowy Sea" (Smith). These numbers were sung by Mr. Ronald Reedy (bass) who was accompanied by Mrs. Reedy.

A brilliant number, the first movement of the Piano Concerto in A Minor (Grieg), was played by Mr. David Williams and Mr. John Reischer.
