Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Buyers picked their stocks cautiously today and the market moved ahead at a barely perceptible pace.

For a while after a little spurt at the opening, dealings dropped almost into a complete stalemate. Absence of selling pressure, however, seemed to encourage some traders to bid for shares and leading industrial points upward again toward the finish.

Transactions held to the previous slow pace, approximating only 400,000 shares. Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks follow:

MARTIN REVEALS FARLEY PROMISE OF 'HANDS OFF'

Governor Martin charged that Sheldon Sackett, Coos Bay publisher, who "to the best of my knowledge is not a Democrat," boasted of "Washington connections" and threatened dire things for me from the national capital.

"On his recent trip to Washington," said Martin, "Mr. Sackett boasts that he received an audience with John L. Lewis. . . . Now Lewis is not exactly friendly to my campaign either. I have found it necessary to criticize him as well as his two alien leaders out here—Mr. Bridges of Australia and Mr. Pritchett of Canada, both enjoying the hospitality of our fine country by grace of the secretary of labor, Madam Perkins.

Justifies Criticism "I have been critical of Madam Perkins . . . on several occasions and I think the circumstances justified the criticism. Her official acts have brought much labor distress to our state.

"I have also offended the national labor relations board, one of her favorite official children, whose rulings have disrupted our industry and thrown thousands of our workers out of employment. We are still suffering from the mal-administration of the Wagner labor act by this board. So we may expect to hear more of my record from that source also."

The governor reiterated his loyalty to the Roosevelt administration and asserted he had given "far greater support and cooperation to the president than have the Democratic congress and most other governors. The Democrats are not all rubber stamps. Neither am I."
