

Paris Lists Anthony Eden As World's Best Dresser

By Audrey Ames
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS (UP)—Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, heads a list of the world's 10 best-dressed men as named by an international group of men's tailors and shirtmakers with shops in Paris. The British statesman was unanimously selected as "outstanding in general appearance and tailoring."

His nine runners-up include two Americans, two South Americans, one Austrian, three Frenchmen and an Indian. They are:
Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.
Jean Dupuy, French newspaper owner and speedboat racer.
Gary Cooper.
Maharajah of Rajppla, 1934 derby winner.
Michel Metzoy, French aviator.
Senator Martinez Hoz, of the Argentine.
Charles Boyer.
Senator Georges Beaulieu, Prado, of the Argentine.
Archduke Otto, pretender to Austrian throne.

None of the male best-dressers is conspicuous or eccentric in his sartorial ways. All of them, however, have a wide variety of suits and the majority of judges conceded that a man should have at least 20 suits to be well-dressed, although one of the world's most expensive tailors declared that "any man is well-dressed when he dresses according to his position."

Eden, though seldom seen by the public in anything but a morning coat and striped trousers, has always been regarded as a leader in men's hat styles. He has the advantage of having natural good looks and a "bearing" which is a tailor's inspiration. He is at all times dressed conservatively.

M. Jean Dupuy always buys three suits at a time of the same design and material—but in three different colors. He is fond of sports clothes and is perhaps the gayest dresser on the list.

Gary Cooper and the Maharajah of Rajppla are at opposite poles in the masculine fashion world. Cooper made the list because his very nonchalance and apparent disregard for the fit of his clothes gives him a certain distinction despite the fact that his suits are regarded as "far too large for him and perhaps not even made to measure."

The Indian potentate goes to the other extreme by wearing his clothes tight, almost to the point of their being molded to his body.

Charles Boyer prefers browns. Both Senator Martinez Hoz—who's striking wife was one of the world's 10 best-dressed women in 1937—and Senator Prado are true to the general preference of most of their South American countrymen in their preference for light grays.

Jacksonville High To Give Program
JACKSONVILLE, May 20.—(AP)—A program of music will be presented in the Jacksonville high school gymnasium at 8 o'clock tonight to raise funds to procure uniforms for the student band.

The public is invited. There will be no admittance charge but a voluntary offering will be collected.

Selections by the band, glee clubs, sextets and quartets, a skit and community singing comprise the program.

Deer Caesarian.
PLUMMER, Idaho, May 20.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Weinberg said today he performed a Caesarian operation to save the life of a fawn deer. The mother deer's legs were broken when she was struck by a train. Twin fawns were delivered, but one died. The other, Dr. Weinberg said, is thriving on a bottle.

Big Applegate
BIG APPLIGATE, May 20.—(AP)—Mrs. George Puroel is receiving congratulations upon becoming a grandmother Tuesday, May 17, when a son was born to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Okeney Garrison of Prospect. The baby, named Robert Allan, weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces, and was born at the Purucker maternity home at Medford. Both Mr. and Mrs. Garrison are former residents of this community. The latter will be remembered as Miss Berniece Rhinesburg.

J. C. Cass of Medford visited his Little Applegate ranch Sunday. Jim Conklin of Copper district left a few days ago for Salem.

Edward Kubli is confined to his home this week with influenza.

Mrs. Opal Mooter and son Lionel of Medford were visiting friends on the Applegate Sunday.

Miss Lois Matthey had as guests Sunday Miss Evelyn Bentley, student of Southern Oregon Normal school, and her brother, Delbridge Bentley, of Portland. Robert Archer also was a week-end guest of Wendell Matthey.

Henry Cameron, employed at the J. R. McCracken dairy farm at Valley View, spent several days last week at Star Ranger station, where he was employed last year.

Members of the junior play cast of the Jacksonville high school came to McKee Bridge forest park Monday evening, where they enjoyed a few hours' outing. The cast presented "It Happened in Hollywood" last March.

Mrs. Albert Hartley of Bly, who is spending a short time in Medford, visited the Hartley mine on Little Applegate Sunday. She was accompanied here by Miss Forest Dale, Mrs. Alta Hartley, and Al Schafer of Medford.

Mrs. Mary Puroel spent a few days this week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Claud Medley, at Medford. Emmett Phillips, accompanied by Walter Gierup of Santa Barbara and Gerald Morningstar of Medford, left recently for Alaska, where the three will be employed through the fishing season until September on a herring boat. They expect to travel to Seattle, there to be engaged for a short time in making seines, after which they planned to embark for Kodiak, Alaska. Mr. Gierup, who had spent several months on the Applegate, will be engaged as a cook on the boat.

LeRoy Offenbacher, primary pupil at the Ruch school, has been ill for a few days with chicken-pox.

M. T. Dawson of Roseburg is spending some time here at the home of his son, Ben Dawson.

Dean Saltmarsh of Oak Grove is employed in logging operations on Beaver creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Harton of Klamath Falls were visiting friends here Tuesday.

The Beaver Creek baseball players waged their first game Sunday, battling the Camp Applegate boys on the camp diamond. The farmers lost 10-17.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Buck of Alturas, Cal., are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Buck.

Applegate school was defeated by Medford High school in a baseball game last week 18 to 7. The winners served lemonade and cookies to their opponents and guests after the game.

An autolat was reported to have made the trip to Squaw lake early this week, making the first car to reach the lake shore this spring.

Pomona Grange

By Gertrude Haak
A special meeting of Jackson County Pomona Grange will be held at Central Point Grange hall May 25 at 8 p. m. for the purpose of conferring the degree of Pomona, considering resolutions that go to State Grange, electing an alternate delegate to State Grange, bills and accounts, and for any important business that cannot wait until next regular meeting in July.

This will be the last time that the degree of Pomona will be conferred until some time in the autumn, so all who plan on going to State Grange and taking the state degree should avail themselves of this opportunity to get the fifth degree, which must be taken before the state degree may be taken.

State Grange meets in Klamath Falls in June and Jackson county is cooperating with Klamath county to secure a large number of members to take the state degree.

The Grange

Wilma Choate, Louise Britton and Melvin Hall representing 4-H sewing, cooking and woodwork clubs, were chosen to receive the annual Griffin Creek Grange scholarships to summer school at Corvallis. Alternates selected are Marie Logan and Glenn Hall.

At the last Grange meeting an exhibit of club projects was presented, including clothing, bread, sponge cakes and woodwork. The articles exhibited, together with notebooks, were used by a committee of Grange judges as a basis for awarding the scholarships. Number of club projects completed, number of years in club work and age of member were also given consideration.

Scholarships, which pay tuition for the annual O.S.G. summer school, were given Griffin Creek Grange by Gates & Lydian and the Economy Lumber company, as prizes in a sales slip contest conducted by the Grange Bulletin. Transportation costs are borne by the individual, most of the children earning their own expense money.

Interest is still running high in Griffin Creek's "Name the Pig" contest. Names are drifting in from Grangers all over the county who hope the name they suggest will win the two tickets to the sausage and waffle supper. The pig has just completed a month's visit at the home of R. D. McCarty and will go this week to the Jake Brown home, where she will be a guest for a month.

At the Grange meeting, Tuesday night, Mrs. Eleanor Britton of the educational committee was in charge of lecture hour and presented a nicely balanced program of akits, musical numbers, readings and games.

Additional members to serve on standing committees were appointed by Master W. B. Britton. They are
