Garden Inspection Is Premier Event On Social Agenda

Medford society is looking forward with pleasure to Wednesday when Garden Day will be observed throughout the city.

The Medford Garden club is sponsoring a tour of many beautiful gardens here. Two outstanding features of the affair will be the grill luncheon which will take place at the home of Mrs. Alfred S. V. Carpenter on the Old Stage road from 12 noon to 2 o'clock.

From 4 to 5 o'clock at the attractive Crown Hill home of Mrs. George M. Roberts a tea will be held and thus bring the day's activities to an end.

The public is invited to attend and participate in Garden Day. Tickets may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning or at any garden visited during the day.

Naomi O. Fluke Weds Mr. McLean Wednesday Rites

A recent marriage of much interest here was that of Naomi O. Fluke and Robert L. McLean.

The ceremony was performed May 18 at the home of the Rev. Sherman L. Divine before only close friends and the immediate family of the bride and groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie Bloom, formerly of this city and now living in California. Mr. McLean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. McLean, Medford. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McLean departed for a wedding trip to the north.

SEARCH FOR HECKNER REVEALS NO CLUE IN JACKSONVILLE REGION

There were no new developments today in the search for John H. Heckner, Jacksonville prospector missing from his home since one week ago tonight, and believed by authorities and friends to have crawled deep into an old abandoned mine shaft and committed suicide because of dependency over the death of his wife, May 10. Deputy Sheriff Bill Grenbemer said Eagle Scouts in Jacksonville were still scouring the foothills, after school hours, and that many old miners in the vicinity were searching the hundreds of mine shafts that perforate the surrounding mountains. Many of these ancient tunnels have 30 or 40 feet of water at their end, the deputy sheriff explained, and added that it might be several months before Heckner's body is found, if he has taken his life. Yesterday, the Mail Tribune received a farewell note from the aged prospector, in which he wrote that he "has decided to end what can only be a few years more of drab existence—deliberate to others." The letter gave no clues to where he might be found and searchers have been forced to comb miles of territory.

NEW COUNTY COURT SEEN IN JOSEPHINE PRIMARY OUTCOME

GRANTS PASS, May 24.—(P)—The courthouse will probably see an entirely new county court next year, and there may be a new state senator from Josephine. Judge Grant W. Matthews was defeated for the Republican nomination by State Senator W. A. Johnson, whose term in the legislature does not expire until 1941. Johnson will compete with Stephen S. Jewell, Democrat, and is expected to resign as senator if he wins. Commissioner H. S. Morgan, Democrat, lost the nomination to Richard McElligott, who will face H. N. Parker, Republican. George Thrasher, remaining commissioner, is expected to resign or disqualify himself before November to take up residence on a Tulelake homestead. He has already started building his new home in California. A Republican, he has more than two years to serve. All other incumbents seeking re-nomination were successful, including Grants Pass city officers. James A. Slover, Democrat, and Treasurer Robert F. Harris were selected by both parties in the city primaries.

Pertinent Facts on Wage Hour Bill

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Here are answers to some pertinent questions about the revised wage-hour bill being considered by the House today: If enacted, would it apply to all workers? No, it would affect only concerns engaged in interstate commerce. The secretary of labor would designate what firms fall in that category. How many workers would be involved? Labor department experts estimate about 2,500,000 employees would obtain shorter working hours, and about 850,000 would be affected immediately as to wages. What are the bill's main provisions? It sets up a graduated minimum wage, starting at 25 cents an hour, increasing five cents an hour each year until it reaches 40 cents, and a work week starting at 44 hours and dropping to 40 after two years. How does the house bill differ from the one passed last July by the senate? The senate bill, instead of imposing universal wage and hour standards, would empower an independent board to regulate both wages and hours of all interstate industries. The board, however, could not fix any minimum wage higher than 40 cents an hour or any work week shorter than 40 hours. Did the senate bill provide for wage differentials? Not as such, but the administrative board could authorize lower wages or longer hours for firms which could show justification for such concessions. The board could consider living conditions, freight rates, natural economic conditions and other factors in making its decisions. Does the house bill provide for different wage and hour standards for the north and south? No. Some proponents contend the graduation of both wages and hours would protect the south's differentials long enough for all industries affected to adjust themselves. What would happen to violators of the law? They would be subject to fines of $500, imprisonment for six months or both. Are any workers engaged in interstate commerce exempted by the bill? Yes. It would not apply to workers covered by the interstate commerce act, such as railroad employees; air transport workers; fishermen or shrimpers. Agricultural workers would be completely exempted and employees whose hours are regulated by the motor carrier act would be exempted from the bill's hour provisions. What would the bill do about child labor? It would prohibit interstate shipment of goods produced in any plant where "oppressive" child labor is employed within 30 days prior to removal of the goods. How is "oppressive" child labor defined? The employment of children under 16 years of age or those under 18 in hazardous or unhealthful occupations.
