Williams Piano Recital Enjoyed By Large Crowd

Valley music-lovers packed the Baldwin Piano Shoppe to overflow last night for the concert given by David Williams, piano pupil of John Reischer, and Jean Barnum, vocal pupil of Mrs. Jean Stevens, who accompanied Miss Barnum. Generous applause elicited several encores, and after-comment left no doubt of the audience's enthusiasm for these local artists.

Mr. Williams, scarcely out of his teens, tackled an ambitious program with an ability that was often inspiring, and at all times highly creditable both to himself and to his teacher. A slight rhythmic incoherence and a technique that is not quite up to the most exacting passages are faults that will soon disappear as the rate the artist is progressing. Given a few more years in which to develop and mature, Mr. Williams should attain a rank that will entitle him to serious consideration anywhere in the realm of pianists.

Miss Barnum, with her youthful freshness and artistic charm, won her audience almost before she had uttered a note. Her singing impressed with its clear diction, good intonation, and artistic phrasing.

BPW Members Hear Immigration Laws

Business and Professional Women met last night at the Girls' Community clubrooms. Mr. Maud Snider, club president, presided.

Mrs. C. M. Hurd, chairman of the legislative committee, was in charge of the program for the evening. The main feature of the session was a very informative talk on the United States immigration laws given by Mrs. Frank Hull. Mr. Hull explained the U. S. present immigration laws and their effect on the alien situation in this country. He stressed the need of stringent laws so that undesirable elements might be kept out of the U. S.

In the business meeting which preceded Mr. Hull's talk, final plans were made for the state convention to be held in Oregon City on June 10, 11 and 12. Members who are able to attend are to notify Mrs. Snider or Miss Bernice Sears.

Mrs. Rose Houston distributed theater tickets among members to be sold for the picture at the Rialto on May 26 and 27. Those not receiving tickets are to call Mrs. Houston.

Refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the session.

Next meeting will be an initiation banquet to be held on June 28, the executive committee is in charge of arrangements.

Piano Recital This Evening

Piano pupils of John Reischer will be presented in a recital this evening at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe at 8:15 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

From the top down and from the bottom up

WHENEVER the directors of this Company meet, a stenographer presides. He is the president now. With him sit down a former office-boy—a surveyor's chairman—a salesman. For all the directors—who are also the Company's chief executives—have come up by promotion—most of them from the very bottom of the heap.

They have been—still are—employees. All the responsibilities of management can not change this.

These employee-directors and their predecessors have initiated many policies on behalf of other employees—the first eight-hour day and the first six-day week in the oil fields—everyone on a monthly payroll after the beginning year—vacations for all—sickness compensation—gratuity life insurance—retirement privileges.

And the other employees know the problems faced as directors by their ranking fellow employees—times of over-supply or shortage with prices gone crazy—"hot" oil and "hooligan" warfare—taxation growing like cancer—depressions and recessions to be met with continuing stability of employment.

Understanding—and with it the willingness to stand behind one another—exists in this Company both from the top down and from the bottom up. Some sixty years of experience in common—years that have proved such trust justified—alone make this possible.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The stock market quickened its step on the downward today, retreating before a steady inflow of offerings which met apathetic buying support.

Commodities set the pace on the deflation path. A sharp break in wheat at Chicago turned the focus sharply on the renewed descent of Major Staples into new low ground for the 1937-38 downward.

Losses of fractions to more than 2 points put leading industrial shares at the lowest levels of the reaction from the April-May rally tops. Wider declines were recorded in a few of the more inactive issues, such as Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical.

Transactions picked-up a little, approximating 50,000 shares.
