

SCHUSCHNIGG, IN NAZI DETENTION, WEDS BY PROXY

Brother Takes Place Of Former Chancellor In Ceremony—Bride Among Vienna's Most Beautiful.

VIENNA, June 3.—(AP)—The marriage of Kurt Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria, and Countess Vera Fugger von Babenhausen, with the absent bridegroom represented by his brother as proxy, was reported today by a usually reliable informant.

The marriage, this source said, took place at 1 p. m. today in the private chapel of the Dominican church in Vienna's downtown section.

Dr. Arthur Schuschnigg took the place of his brother, detained by the Nazi authorities since Germany's absorption of Austria March 13.

The informant said the witness for the 34-year-old countess, considered one of the most beautiful women of Vienna, was the ex-chancellor's father, Maj. Gen. Arthur von Schuschnigg. The bridegroom's witness was the sacristan of the church.

Church authorities would give no information concerning the marriage. (The 40-year-old Schuschnigg was a widower, his first wife having been killed in an automobile accident in 1935. The countess, mother of four children, was separated from her husband, and informed sources understood an annulment of her marriage had been obtained.)

Schuschnigg disappeared May 26 from Belvedere castle in Vienna, his home in detention since Austria's annexation, but the authorities have insisted he was still "somewhere in Vienna."

It was believed the countess did not know where Schuschnigg was. But today, it was reported, she received a letter from the bridegroom simply dated Vienna, which said:

"My dear wife, this time we should be man and wife. This makes me extremely happy. A thousand kisses, Kurt."

Floods Peril Island Farms

Dairymen and farmers on rich Sauvie island, 35-mile strip below the confluence of the Willamette and Columbia rivers, near Portland, slung up sandbag barricades Wednesday as freshets shot the rivers beyond the 21-foot mark and menaced island dike. One view shows Reeder road, near the upstream-end of the island, partially washed out; another pictures a farm wife helping her husband stem the rising waters, while in a third dairymen take to boats to transport their milk.

ROADS OPENING TO HIGH ELEVATIONS AS SNOW RECEDES

The following recreational bulletin was issued today by Rogue River national forest headquarters:

"Many of the roads are now open in the higher elevations, thus making numerous fishing streams accessible by car. At this time, wild flowers are blooming profusely in both high and low elevations.

"Fishing at Squaw lake is reported as good, with limit catches being made. Conditions at Carberry will probably be fair unless the water should become extremely warm. The low water bridge on Carberry is passable now and will remain so over the week-end unless much warmer weather causes the melting snow to raise the flow of water. The bridge is unsafe to cross if the water is flowing over it. The grass is becoming dry on the lower elevations and care should be taken with fires.

"Fishing is still poor in the Union Creek area because of high water. The Union Creek campground is in good condition and the Natural Bridge, Woodruff Meadows bridge and Farewell Bend campgrounds are all open for use. The old Diamond lake road is still closed with four or five feet of snow on the summit.

"All roads in the Butte Falls district are open except for a short distance on the Lodgepole road between Snowshoe and Parker Meadows. The road to Fish Lake and Lake o' Woods is in fairly good condition but there are eighteen inches of water over the road near Lake o' Woods. It is possible to drive to within one-half mile of the Blue Canyon trail. It is about a four-mile hike from the trail to Island Lake, the largest lake in the canyon and possibly the only one free from ice at this time.

"The west side Lake o' Woods road is passable but is in poor condition. It is suggested that tourists wishing to use this road contact the ranger at Lake o' Woods concerning road conditions.

"Many wild flowers are in bloom at Lake o' Woods, lady slippers, trilliums and dogwood being the most conspicuous.

"The Hyatt dam road is open but in poor condition. Base fishermen are having variable success there. The Rocky Point road is open and the fishing is fair. Bait fishing still continues to be best in all of the lakes."

Farm Products Are Not "Loss Leaders" Says Safeway Head

For several years Safeway Stores, Inc., has participated in a program of cooperation with agriculture to increase farm income through greater efficiency in distributing farm products, and "correcting practices which are considered harmful to agriculture."

One of the practices considered harmful is the use of farm products as "loss leaders," and this practice has been contrary to Safeway's policy.

The latest development in perfecting actual operations under this policy is contained in the following bulletin issued to division managers of Safeway by L. A. Warren, president of the company:

"Two years ago we adopted a policy of not using farm products as loss leaders. In the future you will see that no farm products are sold at less than 20 percent over your landed warehouse cost, except to meet competition.

"When it becomes necessary to meet a lower price than that quoted by you, please get documentary evidence to support the meeting of the competitive price. If the lower price appears in a newspaper advertisement, please get copies of it and mail it to me. If the price is made by the use of window posters or price cards, please have photographs taken by a local photographer and mail copies of these to me.

"This is of vital importance in carrying out the policies which we adopted in good faith and, as a matter of fact, I see no reason why we should ever sell this type of merchandise on any other basis as a matter of good business."

Old Wine Taxes Studied COLUMBIA, S. C.—(UP)—Two centuries ago ministers, clerks and sextons of the Church of England in South Carolina were paid with the revenue from wine, ale and rum, Rosamonde R. Wimberly revealed in her thesis, "Drinking Customs in South Carolina, 1663-1830."

CALIFORNIAN NABBED ON ASHLAND STREET FOR FRISCO POLICE

Earl Andrews Kennedy, 45, alias Albert E. Cole of 1461 Cortez avenue, Burlingame, Cal., arrested by state police in Ashland last night, is being held in the county jail to await arrival of San Francisco authorities, who will return him there to face a charge of robbery. He has waived extradition proceedings, state police said, and is being held under $5,000 bail on information received from Chief of Police Quinn of San Francisco.

Kennedy, alleged to have been a prominent business man of the bay district at one time, was arrested at Oak and Main streets in Ashland while driving a 1937 custom-built Cadillac sedan allegedly stolen May 24 from Mrs. Beatrice M. Meyers of Beach street, San Francisco, after he had broken open the private garage where it was parked.

Switched license plates on the machine were registered to a 1930 Chevrolet under the name of Albert E. Cole, according to state police.

In the Cadillac car was elaborate and expensive fishing tackle, which Kennedy explained by saying he was anxious to angle in "the famous Rogue river." Also in his possession were four sets of automobile keys for different makes of cars.
