Gracie Allen With Brilliant Cast In Craterian Picture

A frolicsome comedy, studded with new songs, had its first local showing last night at the Craterian theatre in "College Swing," the new production starring Burns and Allen, Martha Raye and Bob Hope.

The dizzy antics that take place on a great college campus when the school dumbbell inherits the university and makes over the place in her own image, form the plot background with Gracie the happy-go-lucky "educator" and Bob Hope the shy student who shows her how to get by with a minimum of brains and a maximum of nerve.

Because she is the first member of her family to pass an examination in two hundred years, Gracie comes into possession of Alden College. She believes that a revolution in education methods has long been overdue in America and so proceeds to set out in motion. After making herself "Dean of Men," Martha Raye a professor, and Ben Blue director of physical education, she makes applied romance the one and only required subject and puts Bob Hope in charge of this department.

The resulting pandemonium gives the willing students the gayest time of their lives, but proves too much for the hard-headed trustees, who are headed by a woman-hating multimillionaire, played to perfection by Edward Everett Horton. They expose the trickery used by Gracie and Hope to achieve their power and take the college away from the pair before further damage is done. In a rollicking climax Gracie turns the tables on the trustees, by showing them that although she's weak in philosophy and mathematics, she knows her romance.
