Herbert-Hoxley Wedding Rites Held In Ashland

An Ashland wedding of interest to southern Oregon people was that of Miss Mary Herbert and Wesley Hoxley which was solemnized in a four o'clock ceremony at the Methodist Episcopal church in Ashland Sunday.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white chiffon over white satin with insets of lace. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and roses with blue delphinium. She was attended by Miss Genevieve McGee, who wore blue net over blue satin. Emerson Pratt was best-man.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers of blue and white, with the color note repeated in candles lighted by two attendants preceding the ceremony. Immediately following the wedding about fifty guests were invited to the home of the bride's parents for a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoxley will reside at Copco No. 2, where he is employed. Mrs. Hoxley had been employed at the office of the Ashland city attorney for several years.

Attending the wedding from Medford was Lee Port, Jr., who was accompanied by his mother and sister, Miss Frances Port, of Applegate.

MANY TO ATTEND HEALTH LUNCHEON

A large attendance is anticipated at the annual luncheon of the Jackson County Public Health association at noon Saturday. Members and others interested in public health are expected to attend from all parts of the county.

As in past years, it will be a covered dish luncheon and will be held in the Jackson county courthouse. Members are to bring their own service, the committee in charge furnishing coffee, cream and sugar.

This annual affair has always been a popular event on the association's calendar. The informality of the event provides a genuine get-together atmosphere. To insure continued success of the affair, Miss Mildred Carlton, association president, has asked all members to make a special effort to be present and to bring friends interested in public health matters.

WM. COY SUFFERS INJURED BACK IN BLOW FROM AUTO

William T. Coy, 34, of 504 Hamilton street is confined in Sacred Heart hospital with a painful back injury and Doyle Charles Cowles, 39, of 315 Willamette avenue, is being held in city jail on an open charge following an accident in front of The Spot, 17 S. Riverside ave., at 9:30 last night in which police and witnesses claim Coy was struck by a machine operated by Cowles.

Attending physician said this afternoon that the extent of Coy's back injury had not yet been fully determined, but it was apparently not serious. He was resting comfortably in the hospital, the doctor said. X-ray pictures were being taken today.

Coy, employe of the Southern Oregon Brewing company, had just finished delivering a keg of beer to The Spot when the accident occurred. He had parked his truck just north of The Spot, headed north, and was placing the two-wheeler hand-truck into his vehicle when Cowles, driving an International pickup north, struck an Oldsmobile sedan owned by H. E. Hurst of 105 North Oakdale avenue, parked in front of The Spot, glanced off and hit Coy in the back, knocking him to the pavement.

Barney Lova, employe of The Spot, heard the crash, rushed out and helped Coy to his feet. Thinking himself uninjured, Coy attempted to stand alone, but crumpled to the pavement, Lova said. Otto Jeldness of 225 South Grape street helped Lova place Coy in the back end of the brewing company truck, and Jeldness then drove the injured man to the hospital.

Police said they undoubtedly would charge Cowles with driving while intoxicated. Lova said that after the International pickup struck Coy, Cowles backed it up and crashed into the Oldsmobile sedan again. The front end of Cowles' pickup was badly damaged.

PREHISTORIC TUSK WILL BE STUDIED BY EXPERTS HERE

The prehistoric animal's tusk discovered recently in an Applegate mining operation was to be brought to Medford tonight for identification and study.

The tusk was found on the Alaska of Oregon Mining company's property at the fork of Forest and Poorman creeks. It was donated to the Southern Oregon Gem and Mineral society.

The tusk was dug out yesterday by E. R. Santo, president, and William H. McClure, second vice president, of the gem and mineral society. Plaster of Paris was applied to one side of it yesterday and the other half, after moisture had evaporated, was to be encased today so that the tusk might be moved without danger of disintegration.

The fossil, Mr. Santo said, is about five feet long and six inches through at the thickest part. Whether it is complete or whether some of it had worn away could not be determined, he stated. It was about six feet under ground.

After the tusk has been bought here, the plaster will be removed and shellac applied as a preservative.

Mr. Santo and Mr. McClure were helped in their work by Earl and Don House and Hubert Santo, Mr. Santo's son.

FLOOR SHOW SLATED FOR EAGLES DANCE

With a floor show as an added attraction, the Eagles' dance in Dreamland tonight is expected to attract a large attendance of pleasure seekers.

The Reno Bachelors will play old-time and modern music for dancing from 9 to 2. Members of the band will present the floor show, featured performer being Buttermilk Bess, radio singer.

Proceeds of the dance will go to the Eagles' drill team, which assists whenever possible in all civic activities.

NECESSITIES or LUXURIES

NECESSITIES of today would have been luxuries in grandmother's time. Yet these things for the home today probably cost much less than the bare necessities cost grandmother. She was forced to spend hours over a steaming kettle while canning her winter's supply of fruits and vegetables. Just think what modern Pressure Cooker Methods would have meant to her.
