

LONE AIR RAIDER REPEATS ATTACK ON BRITISH PORT

British Freighter Is Again Struck at Alicante — Starts Sinking — French Vessel Is Sunk at Denia

MADRID, June 10.—(AP)—A lone insurgent air raider, flying an Italian-made Savoia seaplane, again bombed Alicante, Denia and the British-owned port of Ganda today.

The British freighter Thorpehaven, which was bombed three days ago at Alicante, again was struck and started sinking this morning.

The civilian section of Alicante, which previously had suffered one of the worst bombardments of the war from a fleet of insurgent air raiders, again was battered. Details, however, were not immediately available.

Ganda Target Again At Ganda the "phantom" raider, repeating his practice of striking about midnight, destroyed the main warehouse of the British-owned port and sank a small Spanish coastal schooner.

At Denia, he returned to the attack on the French freighter Brisbane, and dropped two bombs aboard the crippled ship.

The Brisbane, which had been smoldering on the beach since incendiary bombs set her ablaze yesterday, filled rapidly and settled to the bottom.

Seven persons were killed in the first attack on the Brisbane, but no new reports of casualties followed the latest raids, which started about 10:30 last night.

Misses Sailing Ship Dispatches from the coast said that a seaplane, possibly the same that attacked Alicante, Denia and Ganda, swooped down on a sailing vessel off Javea, just below Denia, and dropped two bombs, which missed the ship.

The British cruiser Penelope was to put into Ganda tomorrow to investigate the attacks there. Officers from the United States destroyer Claxton, which had called at Ganda to pick up Vice-Consul Lee Worley, were conducted on a survey of the air raid damage by Edwin Apfel, British manager of the port.

Sailors from the destroyer gathered machine-gun bullets as souvenirs. Worley, who had been stationed at Valencia, had been given leave to go to Paris for an appendectomy.

Local Women Get Caught In Portland Hotel Strike

The Portland hotel strike provided unexpected excitement for the delegates of the Jackson County Public Health association who attended a conference in the up-state metropolis this week, it was revealed today by Mrs. Moore Hamilton, the association's director of public relations.

The strike was called suddenly after lunch Wednesday while the Medford women were on a tour to Bonneville dam, Mrs. Hamilton related. They knew nothing of the strike until they returned to the hotel and were told by the bus driver that they would have to carry their own luggage and otherwise shift for themselves, she said, adding that a picket line had already been established around their hotel, the Multnomah.

Feeling nourishment, the women found the coffee shop closed, though it was reopened yesterday, she stated. Things were peaceful enough outside the hotel but inside all was confusion, with executives and inexperienced personnel, hastily drafted for service, running around without any apparent aim, Mrs. Hamilton said. The new help appeared very willing to be of assistance but had little idea of what to do, she related. Elevator service was maintained by the strike-breaking help so that the local women did not have to climb the stairs to their 4th floor rooms. Mrs. Hamilton stated. Nevertheless, traveling in the elevators was a trifle precarious as the operators either overshot or undershot the floor levels and one didn't know whether the lift would shoot up through the roof or get stuck between floors, she asserted.

Carrying their own bags, the Medford women checked out of the hotel without difficulty, Mrs. Hamilton said. She added that the strike did not interfere with the collection of bills.

The delegates were Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. R. E. Green, Mrs. J. C. S. Wells, Miss Helen Bullis, Mrs. F. Corning Kenly and Mrs. Howard Hill.

Attending the conference for the Jackson county health department were Dr. C. I. Drummond, Mrs. Blanche Runels, supervisor of public health nurses, and Miss Florence Weisser and Miss Helen Parish, nurses. They did not stay at a hotel, however, and so missed the excitement of the strike.

Reports of prime importance are to be submitted and reviewed at the annual covered-dish luncheon-meeting of the Jackson County Public Health association at noon tomorrow in the courthouse auditorium. It was announced today by Mrs. Moore Hamilton, public relations director.

Reports on public health activities in each county community during the past year are to be given, these to disclose in codified form precisely what the association has accomplished and the progress to achieve in the next 12 months, Mrs. Hamilton said.

Reviews also will be submitted on the 9th annual conference of the western branch of the American Public Health association held in Portland this week. Association delegates to the conference were Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. R. E. Green, Mrs. J. C. S. Wells, Miss Helen Bullis, Mrs. F. Corning Kenly and Mrs. Howard Hill.

Mrs. Elwood Hodgberg and Mrs. W. E. Bartlett of Ashland are to give the report on the annual meeting of the Oregon Tuberculosis society held some time ago in The Dalles.

The meeting will begin at noon in the courthouse auditorium with the covered-dish luncheon. Members are to bring their own table service and one covered dish, the association furnishing coffee, sugar and cream.

Because of the importance of the meeting all members are asked to make a special effort to be present. Non-members interested in public health work are invited to attend.

Following the meeting there will be a Durkee's famous food mayonnaise demonstration. Samples will be given to each candidate. Rose bakery will serve cake and Snider's dairy will provide Pepsi Cola. Free samples of Crown best patent flour and Borene soap will be given.

Saturday closes the third week of the contest. Candidates working for the second bicycle will have until Saturday, June 18, to cast their votes. Many are working toward this prize and contest headquarters are still open to those who wish to register and try for any of the four remaining bicycles yet to be given away and the many valuable final prizes including a Ford V-8 coupe.

In the Ashland justice district, M. T. Burns, Republican nominee, and Herb Moore, Democratic nominee will be the contestants.

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 10.—(AP)—Burglars ransacked three churches yesterday, apparently in search of money. Police said only a few dollars were taken.

In the Jacksonville justice court district, H. C. Mechem received both Republican and Democratic nominations in the primary. The district had no justice of the peace the past two years, due to the duly elected candidate declining to qualify. Jacksonville cases have been handled in the Medford justice court.

In the Medford district court, in the general November election, William R. Coleman, incumbent justice of the peace, and Republican nominee will be opposed by James Stewart, Democratic nominee.

COURT WILL NAME SUCCESSOR SOON FOR JUSTICE REED

Appointment of a justice of the peace for the Gold Hill district, made vacant by the passing of the late H. D. (Johnny) Reed, will receive consideration soon, by the county court. No action has been taken, and no names mentioned as yet, in connection with the appointment.

The appointee will fill out the unexpired term of Reed, who in the last primary election received both the Republican and Democratic nominations, according to records of the county clerk's office. In the opinion of the district attorney's office, under Oregon election laws, any appointee would have to run in the November election, if he desired to continue in the office. Reed served two terms, and the Gold Hill justiceship is not on a fixed salary basis, the county only furnishing office supplies. All of the justice court business of the north end of the county is handled through it.

Bible School Pupils Enjoy Picnic, Swim

Children who have been attending the vacation Bible school at the First Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed a swim at Jackson Hot Springs this afternoon as a grand finale to the picnic which started earlier in the day. Sixty-two children enrolled this year for the special Bible work which is given by the church school each year following the closing of the public schools.

Sunday morning there will be a general assembly in the sanctuary of the church at 9:30, when they will give a special program demonstrating some of the things learned in the vacation Bible school. All the parents are especially invited.
