DALLES CHERRY CROP BRINGS PICKER HORDE

THE DALLES, June 13.—(AP)—As cherry-picking activities hit its peak early this week, a tented city of more than 1000 transient pickers was established west of The Dalles.

The Dalles co-operative growers and the Columbia fruit growers, the two local cherry cooperatives, were stepping up their barreling production to meet the output of orchards.

The Dalles cooperative put up 300 barrels Saturday. The Columbia organization barreled slightly more.

Weather to date has been ideal for the cherry crop, which last year suffered more than a 40 per cent loss due to heavy rain. The crop this year is reported good, although no definite figures are available by growers.

REWARD POSTED FOR MISSING LUMBERMAN

PORTLAND, June 13.—(AP)—A reward of $500 has been posted by the Ralph Smith Lumber company and friends of missing Fritz Burrell, 39, for a clue to his fate. Burrell, superintendent of the company, disappeared last Wednesday night after driving away from the Portland golf club following a conference of lumbermen.

Because Burrell, formerly of Longview, Wash., was unfamiliar with the roads and terrain over which he was driving, fear has grown that he might have met with an accident but so far a search of the region has produced no results. Intimation that foul play was feared was seen when FBI agents from the Portland office were called into the case.

Who said
All Motorists are Rich?

IF SOME dictator came along and said "All automobiles are out"—he himself would last quick. The nation would rise as one man to defend the motor car as the greatest modern contribution to better living—everybody's better living.

Yet the tax-makers who keep piling tax after tax on the motorist do it on the theory that they are luxury taxes which anybody rich enough to own an automobile can easily afford.

Well, what kind of chap is this average motorist—the source last year of $1,550,000,000 in taxes? He may be you. Certainly he wasn't one of the few who toiled the highways in an imported, custom-made job of countless cylinders. Nor was he the college boy with his be-slo-ganed "heap". He was a fellow with a car several years old who earned $30 a week or less, a nation wide survey shows. He was most certainly the common people.

There were eleven million of him—and that means more than half all the car-owners in the nation. To him and his family his car was no luxury for which he might justly be forced to pay through the nose. They considered it as much a necessity as bread—an American necessity in the pursuit of happiness.

FACTS.. FIGURES.. FITNESS.. ARE HER BUSINESS!

BUSINESS GIRL—1938 MODEL—Office manager Olive Tucker keeps disarmingly calm despite nerve-nagging phones, buzzers, interviews. "If anyone needs healthy nerves, I do," Miss Tucker smiles, adding: "That's one reason why I smoke Camels regularly. They never get my nerves upset." Later—much later—Miss Tucker skips to the roof-top gym for a quick work-out. A shower—a rub—a Camel—and she's off again! Tired? Miss Tucker's answer: "Camels give my energy a refreshing 'lift.'"

CIGARETTES MAY LOOK ALIKE—BUT WHAT AN APPEALING DIFFERENCE THERE IS IN CAMELS!

As a smoker, you'll be interested to read what Miss Tucker, successful young office manager, said to Miss MacGregor about the difference between Camels and other cigarettes (below).

"Olive, do you always serve Camels because you feel that there's a big difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

"I know just what tobaccos the cigarette companies buy at the auctions," says Mr. John Durham, Jr., well-known planter. "One year after another, I've seen Camel buyers take the finest grades in the market—the best of my own crops and those of my friends. They took the best part of my last crop too. Better tobaccos make better smoking, as anyone that grows tobacco knows. So, like most other planters, I smoke Camels. I know the quality tobacco that's in them!"

"There's quite a difference between fine tobacco and ordinary grades," says Mr. Calvin Wiggins, who has sold tobacco to Camel for 20 years. "From my own experience, it's Camel who buys the fine, thin leaves that make the nicest cigarette smoking. Camel bought the really fine baskets of my last crop. I smoke Camels, myself. Most of my grower friends do too. I know, and they know, Camel uses costlier tobaccos!"

OLD MAN BUSINESS licked for another day, Miss Tucker entertains dinner guests—thoughtfully! There are lots of Camel cigarettes around her living room. Miss Tucker observes: "Camels are the favorite with my guests and are delightful for topping off a meal. During and after dining, I smoke Camels for digestion's sake." Camels set me right!"
