LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Annual School Meeting

Notice Is Hereby Given to the legal voters of School District No. 49 of Jackson County, State of Oregon, that the ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING of said District will be held at Senior High School; to begin at the hour of 2:00 P. M. and continue to 7:00 P. M. on the third Monday of June, being the 20th day of June, A. D., 1938.

This meeting is called for the purpose of electing two directors for a term of three years each and the transaction of business usual at such meeting.

Dated this 28th day of May, 1938.
C. C. LEMMON,
Chairman Board of Directors.
Attest:
Rebecca Jensen, District Clerk.

Notice of Alley Vacation.

Notice is hereby given that the Council of the City of Medford did on the 7th day of June, 1938, by resolution propose to vacate the alley between Lot 7 of Block 3, Helms Addition and Lot 1, Block 5, South Park Addition within said City, and did provide for a public hearing to be held upon such proposal at the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the City of Medford at the hour of 7:30 o'clock p. m., on the 12th day of July, 1938, and all persons interested, or whose property is or will be affected by the vacation of said alley are hereby notified to present their remonstrances or objections to the closing of said alley at such hearing, or file the same in writing with the Recorder of the City of Medford.
M. L. ALFORD, Recorder.

MOVIE 'BLOCKADE' IS CALLED POTENT WAR INDICTMENT

Though Made Carefully Neutral, Picture Of Spanish Conflict Is Praised For Tackling Current Strife.

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—"Blockade" is the movie news of the week—and for timely significance, of the year.

The setting is war-shattered Spain of today. The hero (Henry Fonda) is a simple country boy who, instead of fleeing his native soil when it is threatened, rouses his fellows to resist. The heroine (Madeleine Carroll) is a girl without a country unwillingly involved as a spy in war-fostering machinations of an international intrigue artist (John Halliday).

Producer Walter Wanger, by refraining scrupulously from accuracy in uniforms, place names and any other slips which might identify the combatting forces as loyalist or nationalist, presents a neutral front—and yet the chances of "Blockade" for exhibition in certain countries are slight indeed.

The film through exciting drama and finally through a direct appeal from screen to audience via Fonda's impassioned fade-out speech, is a powerful denunciation of modern warfare—the bombing of cities, the murder of civilians, the starving of non-combatants. Cries Fonda: "It isn't war—it's murder! . . . Where is the conscience of the world?"

Current Significance

The screen, hampered by fear of international market complications and reprisals for future product, has never gone so far in frank statement of this theme. There have been many anti-war pictures (most notably "All Quiet on the Western Front") but until now there has been none to grapple with a conflict currently at its bitterest. It is one thing for the screen to agree with Sherman concerning the late World war, and another for it to speak right out in meeting concerning what goes on in Spain—or indirectly, for that matter, in China.

That is why "Blockade," product of an industry which day after day harps on the folly of crime, the invincibility of true love, and other of its assorted axioms, seems startlingly courageous in its plea against wanton slaughter.

Dramatic Appeal

Directed for maximum dramatic and emotional effect by William Dieterle—the parade of peasant mothers' faces is unforgettable—"Blockade" is aided by the sensitive performances of its stars, by the smooth work of Halliday, the lightening influence of Leo Carrillo, fine supporting performances by Reginald Denny and many others, and especially by the musical score of Werner Janssen. John Howard Lawson's screen play, of course, is exceptional.

"Blockade" has been booked for an early showing at Hunt's Craterian theater.

SPASTIC CHILDREN GAIN BY PLAYING; PROGRESS NOTED

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Remarkable progress in treating spastic paralysis of children has been shown in the first experimental class in that line of children's diseases at San Francisco's Sunshine School for Crippled Children.

Children, unable either to walk or talk, and bound into rigidity by what physicians had diagnosed as spastic paralysis, now are able to walk and talk and are gradually taking on all of the activities of normal children.

The experimental class in this line of afflictions was sponsored at the San Francisco school by the Rotary club under the auspices of the board of education and the department of health.

Inspiration for establishment of such a class came from Dr. Earl R. Carlson, international authority on motor disorders of children, who refuse to catalog youngsters suffering from lack of physical coordination as mental defectives.

Dr. Carlson, who was once a victim of "muscular stuttering," believes that proper education and scientifically supervised play will return these children who suffer from spastic paralysis of the entire motor system at the time of their birth to a great degree of normalcy.

The first experimental class at San Francisco consisted of four children ranging in age from four to eight. They were installed in a bright and cheerful playroom and at once placed under the system of education and play calculated to loosen their tense and tied up muscular systems.

After a year of such training, their hands, heretofore clenched against their will into tight fists, now hold pens, pencils and paint brushes.

Their legs, which once were wobbly, now are under full control.

Two of the children are confined to wheel chairs, but in the past four months have learned to use the especially built equipment for them, such as "walkers," tricycles and bicycles.

At the same time they are learning the meaning of social participation from which they formerly were barred. Their speech defects are being overcome and they are all acquiring a sense of security.

The two of the children who have made the most progress are expected within a short time to be able to take their places with children of their own age in normal classrooms and on playgrounds.

The results attained to date with the experimental class are such that it is planned to make the Sunshine school a center of treatment for children's spastic paralysis.

GILL WILL DEDICATE APPLEGATE GRANGE

BIG APPLEGATE, June 16.—(Spl.) Ray Gill, master of the state Grange, will act as dedicating officer in an open ceremony Saturday evening dedicating the new Upper Applegate Grange hall. Other state Grange officials in attendance at state convention at Klamath Falls this week also will attend. A beautiful ritual has been prepared for consecration of the building, which will be followed by a program to which all of the Jackson county Granges have been invited to contribute.

Upper Applegate Grange, No. 829, was organized in October, 1935, and the attractive rustic hall was started

The Grange

Griffin Creek Grange.

Home Economics club of Griffin Creek met at the home of Mrs. Leo Young, Thursday, with a large regular attendance and four visitors. Meeting was called to order by Gertrude Logan in absence of Chairman Ruth Hood.

Maud Arnold was appointed to collect sales slips for the coming year, issued by the business firms sponsoring 4-H scholarships. We hope to earn as many scholarships as the Grange was able to award this year, as they sent three 4-H club members to summer school.

Several articles of fancywork were selected to send to the state Grange convention at Klamath Falls.

It was decided to hold a birthday party at next Grange meeting, honoring all who had birthdays in the past six months.

At the close, our hostess, Mrs. Young, assisted by Mrs. Nick Kime, served delicious refreshments and the rest of the afternoon was spent in visiting.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. J. Logan on Stewart avenue, on July 14. All are urged to be present at 1:30 when a dessert luncheon will be served, after which the meeting will be held.

Japanese automotive engineers have perfected a charcoal-burning automobile.

two years ago this month. The Grange extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend the ceremony. The home economics committee will serve lunch.
