

To Dance Again
LOS ANGELES, June 17.—(AP)—Georgia Coleman, blonde diving champion of Olympic fame, is going to a dance tomorrow night—her first since infantile paralysis nearly claimed her life. Miss Coleman flew by plane from Los Angeles to attend the National Junior Chamber of Commerce ball at Oakland.

PARTIES TO BEGIN ON FALL ELECTION
HERE TOMORROW

County Central Committees
Meet To Elect Officers
And Organize For Autumn
—Women To Take Part.

Local start on the fall election campaigns will be made tomorrow with the organizational meetings of the Jackson county Democratic and Republican central committees. Each committee will meet at 2 p. m., the Democrats in the Knights of Pythias hall at Fifth and Grape streets, the Republicans in the Hotel Medford.

Officers are to be elected for the next two-year period and plans outlined for the fall campaign. The central committees are composed of men and women elected as precinct leaders in the May 20 primaries. This is the first year women have been elected to serve on the central committees.

Frank P. Farrell is present chairman of the Republican committee. Fred Homes of Ashland is vice chairman and Joe E. Wood secretary. Secrecy today surrounded the possible line-up for tomorrow's election, Republican leaders refraining scrupulously from speculating on the outcome.

Gossip Sets Lineup
On the other hand there were definite rumors as to the probable Democratic line-up. The chairman now is J. R. Marshall. Other officers are Ward Spatz, vice chairman, William Greenbender, secretary, and Dr. Charles T. Sweeney, treasurer. Party gossip lined up the chairman's post, with Mrs. Hal McNair of Ashland as vice chairman. U. S. Senator A. Evan Reames would be continued as state committeeman, with Mr. Marshall in line for the position of congressional committeeman. There is an old saying, however, about alphas between the cup and the lips and perhaps, party adherents acknowledged, the elections will not follow the general gossip.

Like United States.
PASADENA, Cal. — (UP) — Cecil Howard, younger brother of the Earl of Suffolk, one of England's oldest noble families, has announced his intention of buying a ranch in the San Gabriel valley and settling down here. He plans to enter the aviation industry and will establish a private airport on his ranch.

Largest Wind Tunnel.
MINNEAPOLIS — (UP) — The nation's largest college wind tunnel, in which gales of 150-miles-an-hour velocity can be unleashed, will be completed in about a year in the University of Minnesota's engineering laboratory. It will be used by aeronautical engineering students and faculty members for research work.

CONGRESS SESSION
HARD TO CLASSIFY
FOR HISTORY BOOK

Some See Beginning Of End
Of Great Spending Spree
—Birth Of New Partisanship Also Predicted.

Editor's note: Washington politicians talk not only about the forthcoming elections and the latest actions of president, congress and the courts, but also about the place of today's events in history. Because that is part of the Washington picture, the chief of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press reports at the adjournment of congress the trend of today's prophecies about tomorrow's histories.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Do you want to know the probable place of the 75th congress in history, now that it belongs to history? So do the Washington politicians. Not a few of them would read more easily and proceed more confidently if they knew.

It is a great indoor sport hereabouts to guess what the historical significance of an incident of a period will be.

Posterity To Decide
Posterity, of course, will have the last guess.

But among the politicians who are here and are voicing their guesses today, the most unpopular is the one who suggests that maybe posterity, looking back at the first 40 years of this century, will be confused about which Roosevelt was which and which LaFollette was which.

A quick survey of a few of the more specific current predictions enables the reporter to give you a wide choice of theories.

There are those who say the era of the 75th congress will be marked for—

1. The beginning of the end of a great spending spree;

2. A down-slope from the peak of New Deal experimentation;

3. The nation's first tremor of alarm at vague possibilities of dictatorship;

4. Conversion of depression emergency devices into permanent reform;

5. Union labor's grip on partisan politics and government policy-making;

6. The losing struggle of business to keep government out of business;

7. Final breakdown of the old Republican - Democratic partisan alignment and the birth of a new partisanship.

Wishes Influence Views
There is obviously a lot of wishful thinking involved in this historical fortune-telling.

For example, those who predict the time of the 75th congress will be remembered as the beginning of the end of the lend-aid-to-prosperity era may be identified loosely as those who hope for reaction to bring an era of frugality. But their argument is pooh-poohed by those who predict the nation never again will grow accustomed to working in millions, rather than billions.

Those who assert the hectic developments of the 75th congress prove that the new deal had previously reached its historical peak are those who, for the most part, wish much of the new deal to be put aside.

On the other hand, the reporter cannot classify in one group those who make much of the dictatorship fears of this period. Some of them seem to believe the show of popular feeling in connection with the supreme court and reorganization proposals proved that the people never will tolerate dictatorship.

But there are others who express belief that such phenomena will have a place in history because some kind of qualified dictatorship, being efficient, will probably come.

New Dealers See Gains
The supporters of President Roosevelt are the ones who hail the 75th congress as a fruitful and fairly successful period of conversion of hasty emergency devices into more conservative permanent reforms. They argue that in spite of inevitable setbacks and schisms, citizens have indicated a desire to reclaim from the AAA and NRS experiments certain policies for permanent utilization in government.

It does not alarm them that opponents contended the compromises were many, the progress difficult and the resulting actions weak; what interests them is that they constituted a beginning.

Those who think the era will mark the final break-down of old party alignments have stirred up more controversy here than the others because party leaders insist it has not yet been proved that the old alignment is hopelessly broken down.

These guessers assume that a loose end of untractable and unpredictable voters caused the succession of recent Democratic landlides and still exists. They assert its swing to the Roosevelt standard weakened the Republican party and that its further misbehavior has brought the cleavage in democracy illustrated by the insurgency of anti-Roosevelt Democrats in the 75th congress.

They believe the upshot will be a new alignment because it will have to be. Come next century, when that still undisclosed realignment is also history, it may well, in their opinion, be the thing more remembered about the politics of this era.

The two title-holders who will swing into action are Miss Clara Mortenson, top woman wrestler, and Cowboy Dude Chick, recognized in 31 states as the Junior heavyweight champion. La Mortenson meets Maria Martinez in a two-out-of-three-fall match to finish, immediately following the middle event, and Chick faces Floyd Britt in a one-hour main event. Terrible Ted Christy returns after a long absence to tangle with Sockeye Jack McDonald in the center engagement, and Tony Morelli and Cy Fox go to the post in the opener.

CONTINUE PONDERING OF REED'S SUCCESSOR

The county court is still considering the appointment of a successor for the Gold Hill justice post, made vacant by the recent passing of H. D. Reed, and whose widow is an applicant for the appointment to fill out the unexpired term ending January 1 next.

One of the four applicants—John Hammerley, has withdrawn, and another is expected to.

Mrs. Reed is conversant with the duties of the office and, if appointed, would probably be the only woman justice of the peace in the state.

We Still Think We're Right

by giving our employees Sundays off. We know from past experience how employees are gradually forced to work longer hours. When Sunday opening starts each employee is given a day off sometime during the week but in a short time the employee is forced to work seven days a week.

Later the store will probably stay open evenings and it isn't long before the employee finds himself working long hours, every day in the week.

If you do not think Sunday opening is necessary, tell your favorite grocer. If you think it is necessary come and tell us.

Again we appeal to our customers to do their shopping Saturday to help us continue our policy of Sunday closing.
