

CONGRESS ROWING BROUGHT TO HALT BY ADJOURNMENT

It had dealt him rebuffs, however, in killing the court bill, shelving the government reorganization program, and writing a tax law of its own.

President Leaves
Waiting for adjournment, the president had held up his special train to Nahant, Mass., where his youngest son John, will be married Saturday. Two minutes after the session ended, he was on his way. Vice President Garner had beat him out for adjournment, but left for his home at Uvalde, Texas, at dinner time.

The senate scrap over the lobby committee funds began when Senator Burke announced frankly that he and other senators would hold out against the proposal as long as they were physically able. He denounced activities of the lobby group, which recently quizzed officers of organizations fighting the government reorganization bill.

Discussing Minton's recent statement that the lobby group might make an "objective study" of newspapers, Senator Clark (D., Mo.) asserted: "It's just what they are doing in Germany."

Filibuster Wins
Minton rose frequently to reply to his critics, asserting that any newspaper study would include publications both favoring and opposing the administration.

When it became apparent that the filibuster might run on into the night, Democratic Leader Barkley conferred with Minton and the request for additional funds was abandoned.

In the final drive which pushed the deficiency appropriations bill to enactment, a hastily-summoned joint committee threw out an amendment by the veteran Senator Norris (Ind. Rep.) to provide $1,300,000 for planting "shelter-belts" of trees.

"I know this appropriation is going out," Norris said sadly when the committee action came before the senate. "I know that we have got to adjourn tonight."

"Everyone is tired. If we tried to meet tomorrow we couldn't get a quorum."

Enactment of the relief bill, most provisions of which had been approved previously, came late in the afternoon after the two chambers reached a final agreement on minor amendments.

Bombings Condemned
The senate took time out to condemn bombings of civilian populations but ignored contentions of some senators that the resolution was an empty gesture unless followed by sterner measures.

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.), however, asserted that to go farther than a "pious exclamation" contained in the resolution would invite war.

The house recessed late in the afternoon to let the senate catch up. At the close, members clustered together on the floor, their arms thrown about each other in friendly good-byes.

A cheer went up for Speaker Bankhead when he wished the members a "safe adventure at the polls" in November.

Rebel yells rang out when Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas took the floor and shouted, "I love you all!"

Representative Spell of New York, the leader of the smallest Republican membership in history, expressed "our continued confidence in the great speaker of the house."

White-shirted page boys tossed bunches of bills—the legislative kind—into the air.

Camp Leader

Mrs. E. E. Segesman of Trall, has been appointed chairman of the Jackson county homemakers vacation camp committee. Mrs. Segesman has been an active leader in the home economics extension program of Jackson county for the past eight years, having served as chairman and secretary of the Trall extension unit and as project leader in foods and nutrition, parent education and recreation. Mrs. Segesman is one of the county's most enthusiastic campers. She has attended the vacation camp each year and participated in all phases of activities. Mrs. Segesman, with her committee, will be in charge of camp enrollments and general arrangements preceding and during camp. Miss Isola Jensen, extension specialist in community social organization of Oregon State College will direct the camp.

after he made a speech praising his colleagues for "industrious and earnest performance of duty." Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, was among the first to greet Barkley. Commenting on the session's accomplishments, McNary later told reporters:

"In my judgment, the session was void of any fundamental legislation calculated to cure the economic and social problem of the country."

In its final days the 1938 session became known on Capitol Hill as the "$12,000,000,000 congress" because it appropriated that amount—a peacetime record.

The session was noteworthy in another respect.

other respect. The court fight and other issues split the largest Democratic majority in history—a division that will extend not only into the November elections, but also into the 1939 session.

For leaders already have served notice that the close of this five-and-a-half months' session did not end the controversy over key White House proposals. Next winter they expect to offer a new reorganization bill and a new tax measure. What will happen to these depends largely on the results from the ballot boxes this fall. Even so, a sizable group of anti-administration Democrats in the senate does not face reelection this year and hence will form the nucleus of the opposition.

Wait Topic Probe.

One major topic which will come before the new congress will be the report of the anti-trust investigating committee approved this week at Mr. Roosevelt's request. Three senators, three representative and officials from five government agencies will compose the group.

Senator King (D. Utah) contended "the paramount task" of the committee was first to determine whether monopolies exist.

Senator Borah (R. Idaho), the senate's No. 1 anti-monopoly crusader, declared on the other hand that he did not care to "go into a long exploration of the existence of monopoly and what it is doing."

"The one thing I am interested in is finding the remedy," he said.

Rose Grocery Sold To Montana Man

Recently George E. Townsend of Billings, Mont., stopped in Medford while on a pleasure trip. He took a liking to the city, impressed by its progressive spirit, scenic attractions, climate and proximity to outdoor recreational facilities.

Now, Mr. Townsend is a Medford resident and business man. He has taken over the Rose grocery at 201 West Jackson boulevard. He is restocking the entire store, planning to create a modern grocery.

Residing here with Mr. Townsend is his sister, Mrs. Philip H. Short.

GEORGE DOUGLAS DIES AT FRESNO

Word was received here today of the death of George Douglas in the home of a relative at Fresno, Cal., last evening. Mr. Douglas had been in ill health for some time. He was about 70 years old.

Mr. Douglas was a Medford resident for the past two years. He went to Fresno about May 1 for his health. His wife was with him at the time of his death.

The body is to be brought to Medford for funeral services and interment. Mr. Douglas, who had been employed at the Scott Davis ranch in Rogue River, was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Arrangements for the last rites were being made today by the Congregational home.

LUMBER INDUSTRY UNDER SLOW BELL

SEATTLE, June 17.—(AP)—The West Coast Lumbermen's association said today a survey showed 850 mills "down" out of a total of 950 large and small units in the Douglas fir area of Washington and Oregon. The survey showed 285 mills were operating part time and only 118 on full time.

The association estimated 36,000 persons were employed in logging and sawmill operations during June, this year, compared with approximately 60,000 in June, 1937.

Production of 181 down and operating mills for the week ending June 11 was 72,893,324 board feet. At this rate of cutting the entire industry produced 46.1 per cent of its average weekly cut during 1928-29, the association said.

These mills reported new business totaling 80,397,484 board feet. Shipments were 85,070,283 feet and the unfilled order file stood at 283,780,087.

WONDER BOY WINS ONE FOR SEATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—(AP)—Sacramento's Senators, the Pacific coast baseball league leaders, play the San Diego Padres in a "hot" park today.

A CIO miscellaneous employee union put Cardinal field at Sacramento on the unfair list yesterday over the discharge of four concession employees. Last night three pickets were forced to work overtime when it took the San Diego team 11 innings to lick the Senators, 4 to 3.

Freddie Hutchinson, Seattle's 18-year-old pitching sensation, broke his team's losing streak at night games when he pitched a 7 to 0 shutout against Portland. It was young Hutch's 10th win of the season. He struck out six, issued three walks, hit a single and drove in one run.

Cedric Durst hit a home run and a single to drive in another run to give the Hollywood Stars a 4 to 2 win over the San Francisco Seals.

Gene Lillard, the Los Angeles Angels' smoke ball expert, raised his season's strikeout total to 81 as he fanned six, blanking the Oakland Aacorns, 8 to 0.
