

13 NEW KEY JOBS OPENING SOON ON ROOSEVELT'S LIST

Civil Aeronautics, Wage-Hour and Maritime Commission Acts Creates Jobs Carrying Good Salary

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will have 13 more key jobs on his "men wanted" list when he signs three major pieces of legislation now on his desk.

The civil aeronautics bill, the wage-hour bill and the amendments to the maritime commission act will create new offices with salaries ranging from $7,000 to $12,000 a year. Other vacancies already waiting to be filled offer paychecks up to $17,500 a year.

Five board members and one administrator would receive $12,000 a year as officials of the proposed new civil aeronautics authority. Three air safety board members would get $7,500 each.

A wage-hour administrator would be paid $10,000, and three members of a proposed maritime labor board would be paid $10,000 each.

Subject to Senate confirmation, the president can fill these jobs this summer subject to senate confirmation after congress convenes. In vacancies which existed before congress adjourned, however, appointees could receive no salary until confirmed by the senate.

Highest paid job in the category is ambassador to the Soviet Union, who will receive $17,500. Two other important diplomatic posts are open—minister to Canada and minister to Iran—at $10,000 each.

Congress created 21 new federal judgeships during the last session. Thirteen district judges, who are paid $10,000 a year, and four circuit court judges at $12,500 each are yet to be appointed in that group.

In addition, there are one circuit and two district court vacancies due to retirement and death.

Many Jobs Unfilled
The office of comptroller-general, with a 15-year term and $10,000 a year salary, has been vacant since 1936.

There has been no comptroller of the currency since May. The job pays $15,000 a year. The office of budget director, paying $10,000, has been unfilled for several years. A $15,000-a-year job on the federal reserve board is also vacant.

The president has not appointed a successor to Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, who was ousted from the board of the Tennessee Valley authority last spring. TVA directors get $10,000 a year. Commissioner John W. Hanes of the securities commission has been appointed assistant treasury secretary, but has not yet resigned his SEC post. When he does, another vacancy will be created.

Prospect Scouts Try Semaphoring

PROSPECT, June 24.—(Sp.)—Scouts of troop 19 took a hike to the summit of Pimple Head, near Prospect, June 18. The main idea was to educate the Scouts in rudiments of semaphore and Morse signalling. Pimple Head was used as one signalling base, while Vaughn's ranch, across a canyon from Pimple Head, was used as the other.

Scouts who had to stay on the other side to receive signals from the Scouts on Pimple Head were consoled by plenty of strawberries and ice cream served by Mrs. Vaughn.

The Scouts (there was 14 in all, including Scoutmaster Heston Grive and Assistant Scoutmaster Harry Goode) had an all-around good time and left reluctantly, hoping to return for more instructions in signalling, but the main reason will be to get more strawberries and ice cream.

'SCOUT LEADER' is one of five jobs he'd like. Thomas Corcoran (above) once told newsmen. Attorney with the R.F.C., Corcoran is credited with having drafted much New Deal legislation.

MANY JOBS OPEN BY EXAMINATION IN CIVIL SERVICE

United States civil service commission today announced open competitive examinations for the following positions:

Operating engineer (marine Diesel), $2,800 a year, bureau of marine inspection and navigation, department of commerce. Experience is required.

Photo-engraver, $1,444 an hour, 40-hour week, government printing office.

Under instrument maker, $1,260 a year, geological survey, department of the interior. Experience in the instrument-making trade is required.

Medical officer, $3,800 a year; associate medical officer, $3,200 a year, food and drug administration, department of agriculture.

Public health nurse, $2,000 a year; graduate nurse, $1,800 a year; nurse technician, $1,800 a year, Indian field service, department of the interior.

(Applications for the foregoing positions must be on file in Washington, D. C., not later than July 21.)

Assistant gardener (greenhouse), $1,260 a year, bureau of plant industry, department of agriculture. July 14 is the closing date for receipt of applications.

Title of the examination now open for the position of assistant scaler has been changed to scaler. The beginning salary has been changed to $1,800 a year and the application filing date has been extended to July 11. The examination is for the United States forest service in Oregon and Washington.

Complete information regarding the positions and qualifications therefor may be procured at Medford post-office from Earl H. York, secretary of the local board of civil service examiners.

Catching Octopus by Hand Is Easy, Coast Youth Says

AP Feature Service
DE POE BAY—Arden Howard hunts for octopuses barehanded and brings them ashore alive. It's his method that does it.

"I grab an octopus where his eight tentacles come together," he says. "This brings my two thumbs right between his eyes and the pressure there seems to paralyze him."

"When that doesn't work, I can turn the animal inside out, but that usually kills him."

He says an octopus will not bite a man or crush him to death, but will hold him under water and drown him—if that makes any difference.

The powerful suction cups of octopuses' tentacles have raised many painful welts on his skin, he says, but he has yet to be in serious trouble.

The sea monsters he catches are features of a small aquarium here which he manages.

Howard doesn't consider the octopuses the most dangerous ocean creature he has to contend with to keep his aquarium stocked. The wolf fish, a large eel-like creature, is reputed to be able to bite an ear in two and the keeper risks his hands in forcibly feeding it and wiring its jaws shut after the meal, Howard says.

FAROUK LAUNCHES HUGE PROGRAM TO MODERNIZE EGYPT

CAIRO (P)—Youthful King Farouk is sponsoring a $70,000,000 plan to give each of his 16,000,000 subjects some of the benefits of the western civilization he likes so well.

When Farouk opened parliament he announced a 10-year program of social reforms for the fellahen, or peasants, who form 80 per cent of the population.

The Egyptian government realizes a higher standard of living will increase production and give the country more money to pay its bills.

Western civilization has made long strides in Egypt in the last half century. Tourists who come to Cairo are often amazed at the broad, clean streets of the European quarter, with its streams of automobiles and its nine-story apartment houses.

Many Egyptians wear western clothes, topped by the scarlet turbans. But 10 miles from the city the fellahen, whose ancestors built the pyramids, still live in low huts of brown Nile mud, with roughly thatched straw roofs, their mode of life little changed from that of their ancestors.

AT 5 O'CLOCK

NAME DIRECTORS FOR APPLGATE SCHOOLS

BIG APPLGATE, June 24.—(Sp.) School districts here casually held annual elections Monday, with all going well in each district except Uniontown, which may not even have a school next term. Children from permanent homes have completed their grade work there, and with other families continually moving in and out of the district, the number of pupils by fall will be uncertain. For this reason no teacher has been hired. Fred Straube and Louis Straube were reelected director and clerk at Uniontown.

At Beaver Creek school Ed Pinley and Mrs. Lee Port were reelected director and clerk; Watkins, Mrs. Jim Wingham, new director, Mrs. Bert Harr reelected clerk; Applegate, Edward Kubli, new director, Mrs. Wesley Davis, new director to succeed Frank Knutzen, who moved to Medford.
