

2 for 1 Trade and Win Votes Offered July 1 to 9

VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED WORKERS IN NOVEL CONTEST

$1600 in Merchandise Awards—Ford V-8 Coupe First Prize — 98 Active Workers.

This smart Ford V-8 (35) Coupe is the major prize being offered by Medford merchants in their 1938 Trade and Win Contest. A total of $1600 in merchandise awards are being featured in this contest, now going into its sixth week.

Going into the sixth week of the city-wide Trade and Win contest, sponsored here by over thirty Medford merchants, two contest votes will be given for one as a special offer until Saturday night, July 9. Announcement of this special double vote offer, beginning Friday, July 1, was made today by contest officials. Medford merchants participating in the contest are offering special values for this double vote period, featuring the added inducement of two for one votes on all cash purchases and on cash payments on accounts.

With $1600 in valuable prizes, the Trade and Win contest has become the talk of the town and contest headquarters at Main and Bartlett streets has become a busy spot with 98 active participants checking in their steadily mounting votes. Ray Jeannot, in charge of contest, will return to Medford this week to personally assist in the many details of the bonus vote offer. Miss Marion Duff, assistant in charge, has been working night and day due to the increasing interest in the contest. Miss Duff was in Medford two years ago when Mr. Jeannot conducted a similar Trade and Win contest here and she is well known in this city.

The long list of prize awards is headed by a smart new Ford V-8 (35) coupe with U. S. Royal Master tires. The first prize was selected from the C. E. Gates Auto Company. As an alternative first prize, a Model B. John Deere tractor plus one ton of Triangle feed, are being featured.

Included in the long list of valuable prizes are: A Frigidaire, Zenith washer, Eton Universal gas range (special prize), Evinrude motor, Eastman movie camera and a complete fishing outfit. Five World bicycles are also being awarded, two have already been won by contest workers and another will be awarded after final tabulation is made at 5:30 Saturday evening.

The following Medford business concerns are participating in the 1938 edition of the Trade and Win contest:

Bowman's Beauty Shop, Brassfield Music Company, C. E. Gates Auto Company, C. M. Kidd & Company (shoes), C. M. Kidd Shoe Repair Dept., Chet Leonard Super Service Station, City Meat Market, Coppa Furniture Company, Cuyper's Furniture Exchange, Dally's Auto Painting, East Side Pharmacy, Economy Lumber Company, F. MEDICAL SOCIETY DINNER IS LAST UNTIL NEXT FALL

Dr. Burhl Gilpin of Medford was dinner host last night in the Hotel Holland to the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Jackson County Medical Society. Thirty-eight members were present at the final meeting until this fall, and which concluded the 18th successful year of the organization. Dr. Gordon MacCracken of Ashland, president of the society, presided.

Instead of the usual reading of medical papers, the physicians devoted themselves to a round table discussion of several clinical cases and of various phases of medical economics.

Drs. Charles T. Sweeney, L. D. Inskeep and James C. Hayes of Medford and E. A. Woods of Ashland paid their respects to the late Dr. J. W. Robinson, one of the last of the old-fashioned country doctors, telling many stories concerning his early day experiences in Jackson county.

Dr. Edwin Durno of Medford presented a report of the recent semi-annual meeting of the house of delegates to the state medical society.

It was announced that the annual society picnic would be held the evening of July 20, in Ashland's Lithia park.

The society, organized in 1920, now has a membership of over 30, which includes practically every licensed practitioner of medicine and surgery in southern Oregon. It was pointed out.

CRIME, INSANITY SHOWN AS PRICE MARIHUANA USE

Federal Government Unites With States in General Drive Against Weed — Control Found Difficult

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Criminality and insanity in many cases spring from use of marihuana, a study of the drug's history reveals.

J. Skelly Wright, assistant U. S. district attorney, who is co-operating in the federal-state drive to ban the weed, found that for 30 centuries the "muggle" has been used. Smoking on a large scale is comparatively new in the United States, Wright explained.

The marihuana weed can be grown in flower gardens with little fear of it being detected. With this condition prevailing and with the sudden and terrible effects of the weed, Wright stressed the difficulties in stamping out its use.

"Within 30 minutes," he said, the crude cigarette rolled by a marihuana smoker can transform a normal person into a raving maniac who obeys every impulse arising from current or previous suggestion."

In Ancient Asia

In Asia Minor and India, where its influence first was felt, priests 3,000 years ago used various forms of the weed to induce religious frenzy, Wright said.

Centuries ago royal families drank "bhanga," which was a mixture of honey and water with marihuana added to it for a "kick."

Although the drug was introduced in western Asia more than 3,000 years ago, it was not until 1843 that a French doctor made a detailed study of its effects and the relation between "hashish" excess and insanity.

Since then, according to Wright, use of the weed has spread over the entire world. In the United States, "killers for hire" smoke a "muggle" or two to bolster their nerve.

Wright does not believe that continued smoking of marihuana will produce addiction, as the use of opium or heroin.

"But it will produce a craving," he said, "not unlike that of a tobacco smoker for cigarettes."

What a person does under the influence of the weed, Wright said, is determined partly by his racial, physiological and emotional background.

Pattern Not Universal

But even then "muggle" smoking does not affect along a given pattern. "Afflicted with hallucinations of terrifying extent," Wright said, "he is liable to run amok, leaving a trail of crime—even murder—in his wake."

Case after case in which criminals have admitted smoking "muggles" indicates this is true, according to Wright.

And after the crime is over, Wright said, and the effects of the marihuana die off, the smoker's mind is usually blank of all that happened in the meantime and his confessions cannot be depended upon.

Eventually, continued smoking brings on complete mental collapse and insanity for which there may be no cure, according to Wright.

Dry Spring Helps Potato Growers

KLAMATH FALLS, June 30.—(AP)—A dry spring has benefited potato growers here, and barring early frosts, the outlook for Klamath County's major farm crop is the best in several years, County Agriculturist C. A. Henderson said today.

The county agent said, however, that an almost total lack of rain during the past two months has seriously affected dry farming. Dry land crops will be at least 25 per cent under those of last year, he predicted.

Student Heads Thanked

PORTLAND, June 30.—(AP)—Six student leaders at Oregon universities and colleges received the thanks of Gertrude Sweet, secretary of the joint council of hotel and restaurant unions, yesterday for urging fellow students not to accept employment at strike-affected hotels.

Got His Mosquito

PORTLAND, June 30.—(AP)—An annoying mosquito was swatted and killed by W. H. Chapman, 60, traction company shop employe. Then Chapman went to the hospital for repairs to his hand. He struck a saw.

Ship First Wheat.

PENDLETON, June 30.—(AP)—

What possibly was the first carload of the 1938 wheat crop to leave this region was shipped from Lexington to Portland yesterday. The consignment of 500 sacks was sold by Edward Rice, Lexington, to the Balfour Guthrie company.

SCOTCH FLYWEIGHT TECHNICALS JURICH

GLASGOW, Scotland, June 30.—(AP)—Benny Lynch of Scotland scored a technical knockout over Jackie Jurich, California flyweight, in the 12th round last night, a few hours after the British board of boxing control had stripped him of his world's flyweight title for being overweight. Lynch weighed 118½ pounds, six and a half over the flyweight limit. Jurich tipped the scales at 110½.

The referee stepped in and stopped the scheduled 15-round bout after the American had absorbed a terrific beating.
