Unite With Illinois Valley In Good Will Caravan To Happy Camp—Forest Road Betterment Urged.

GRANTS PASS, Ore., July 2.—(AP)—Chambers of Commerce of Grants Pass and the Illinois valley will combine in a good will caravan to Happy Camp in Siskiyou county, Calif., on July 10.

They seek forest service improvement of the mountain road, reopened for the summer a week ago, into Oregon to strengthen trade connections and the historic alignment of over 80 years standing. Residents along the then doubtful state line in the 1850's paid taxes in both Oregon and California and fought together in the Indian wars.

To Urge Trading
Also joining the caravan will be Crescent City, Calif. All three units will urge Happy Camp and other Siskiyou county interior towns to come north to do their trading. They are asking improvement of the road north at the same time District Attorney James Davis of Siskiyou county wants the Klamath river road west to the sea improved to avoid the necessity of going through Oregon.

Davis' plea is reminiscent here of the petition signed by 10,000 persons three years ago asking for a federal military road along the Rogue river from Gold Beach, called an "Oregon road to Oregon," to avoid going through California and its "bug stations."

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 2.—(AP)—District Attorney James Davis of Siskiyou county urged the state highway commission today to improve the narrow, winding Klamath river road with convict labor as a major state and military highway. He said it would be the "most strategic highway on the Pacific coast" in the event of future invasion from the orient, leading to rich copper, manganese and other mineral deposits in the copper mountains.

Closest to Orient
Crescent City promontory, he said, is closer to the orient than any other point in the United States and a strategic harbor for the movement of naval vessels in time of war. The district attorney appealed as a member of a Siskiyou county delegation for an appropriation to develop a major lateral from the interior of northern California, ending the necessity of going up to Oregon to reach the coast.

CHAPPELL IS ELECTED TO HEAD LOCAL UNION PAINTERS, DECORATORS

Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers local union No. 1124, announced Saturday the election of the following officers at the June 30 meeting of the body:
President, R. C. Chappell, vice-president, Victor Medcalf; recording secretary, Fred Lawrence; secretary-treasurer, Joe Marsh; conductor, H. J. Graham; warden, Charles Williams; preceptor, Roy Baker; trustee, Ed C. Carlson; business agent, Roy Crawford; delegates to central labor council, Fred Lawrence and R. C. Chappell.

Spokesmen for the local union declared it is committed to a constructive program and to that end will foster cooperation and friendly relations with industry and the public in general.
Plans were initiated for a mid-July basket lunch picnic in the upper Applegate at which all painters of the Rogue river valley, whether affiliated or not, and their families, will be welcome. Further details of the picnic are to be made public soon.

NATIONAL GUARD RESUMING DRILLS

Regular weekly drills will be resumed at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Medford armory by Company A, and headquarters company 188th Infantry, of the Oregon national guard following the annual maneuvers held recently in Camp Clatsop.
The annual encampment was the most successful ever held, it was stated yesterday by Capt. Carl Y. Teng, commanding Company A. Both Medford companies made an excellent showing, he said.
It was the first time, he pointed out, that the entire national guard of Oregon joined forces in one camp. About 3600 guardsmen participated in the maneuvers.
The Medford guardsmen returned Wednesday. They engaged in 18 days of intensive maneuvers at Clatsop.

Scenic Attractions Feature Union Oil Advertising

Tourist attractions of Pacific northwest cities will be featured during the next three months in an advertising program on which Union Oil company will spend $100,000. It was announced here today by J. F. Wallace, district sales manager for the company. The basic idea behind the Union's program, he explained, is to promote travel to the northwest by Pacific coast residents and eastern tourists by making the public generally more appreciative of the attractions offered by Oregon and Washington. The program has been worked out in cooperation with the Oregon Travel Bureau and the Portland Chamber of Commerce.
Outstanding scenic attractions of the northwest will be portrayed by natural color photography in full colors in a series of newspaper advertisements and 24-sheet poster boards. Reproduced by a new photo-

OAK GROVE PLANS PLEDGE PETITIONS FOR WATER USAGE

Before any further steps are taken in providing city water in the recently-formed Jacksonville highway water district, circulation of a pledge petition will be completed to determine definitely how many residents will become consumers.
This action resulted from the meeting of residents held Friday night in the Oak Grove school house. It was expected that about 100 families of 120 in the district would pledge themselves to take the city water if the system is installed. With this number of signers, the district commissioners would proceed with the plan, it was indicated.
The meeting was called primarily for the purpose of explaining the various factors involved, particularly the costs and means of financing the project.
Installation of the city water system would be financed by a federal government grant and loan, it was explained. While no definite commitments can be made until the whole project is concretely outlined, it is anticipated that the PWA will provide an outright grant of 48 per cent of the cost and that the government will lend the remaining 52 per cent, taking the district's bonds as security, the meeting was told. It was pointed out that the government favors developments of this sort.
The district proposes to install the pipe system and buy water from Medford at wholesale rates. Under the present plans, the water would then be retailed to consumers at a flat rate of $2.50 a month up to 5,000 gallons, to a month up to 10,000 gallons to cover payments of the bond issue. Medford residents pay a flat monthly rate of $2.50, 15 cents of this being for sewage disposal.

WEATHER BALLOON HAS LONG FLIGHT

A shredded weather bureau observation balloon was yesterday in the possession of Rogue River national forest headquarters here. It was sent to headquarters by Stephen A. Moore, lumberman at the Chiloquin Lumber company logging operations.
The balloon, Mr. Moore wrote, was found in the lodgepole pine at the south side of Scout hill which is east of Crater Lake national park. The balloon, Mr. Moore thought, had been released from the weather bureau at the Medford airport.
The weather bureau said the balloon had not travelled any remarkable distance. When balloons were first used here to make weather observations they were tagged and finders invited to report where they were recovered. The balloons were picked up as far away as San Francisco, the weather bureau said.

ROOF BLAZE CAUSES SLIGHT DAMAGE TO HOME ON J STREET

Fire did slight damage yesterday afternoon to the roof of the residence at 409 J street. The blaze was caused by sparks escaping from a metal stovepipe that led from the kitchen range through the roof, Chief Roy Elliott said. There was no chimney.
The house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kludt who bought the property recently. The loss was covered by insurance, Mr. Kludt said.
Using a garden hose, M. S. Devedo of 417 J street put the fire out before the arrival of firemen, who answered a ward alarm at 8:15.

The east front show window has been set aside for safety exhibits and the chamber of commerce was motivated in changing the display by the realization that safety of Oregon's forests was of vital importance. Forest fires, it was pointed out, cause not only the destruction of valuable timber and other assets that cannot be replaced but also the loss of life in numerous instances. The Bandon fire, with its attendant loss of life, was recalled. The exhibit vividly shows the damage wrought by forest fires. The public's attention was directed to it. The display already had attracted wide interest.

PICKET LINE RESPECT BARS COMPENSATION

SALEM, July 2.—(AP)—The state unemployment compensation law does not provide benefits for workers refusing to pass a picket line and return to work, Laurence Brown, referee, held in an opinion yesterday.
Brown ruled Richard E. O'Brien and 120 other employees of the C. D. Johnson Lumber company at Toledo and Siletz were entitled to benefits from January 2, when the benefits law went into effect, until February 14, when the mill reopened. He said, however, that they could not collect after February 14 because refusal to pass a picket line constituted stoppage of work due to a labor dispute.
