

MEDFORD MOOSE COMPLETE PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Local Lodge Will Play Host to Over 300 Delegates From Throughout State From July 15 to July 17

With arrangements being completed, plans for welcoming the state association of the Loyal Order of Moose now loom bigger and better for the three-day conclave which opens in Medford July 15 and continues through July 17.

A full program will greet delegates, visitors and friends, highlights including a large Saturday evening parade, drill team contests, ritualistic contests, initiation of new members, election and installation of state officers, banquets, special breakfasts, and a Legion frolic.

From all sections of the state Moose delegates will descend upon Medford, an approximate total of 27 lodges being represented. Portland, Salem, Eugene, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Klamath Falls, Tillamook, Staxton, Pendleton, Corvallis and other cities are known to be entering representation. Tentative estimates are that more than 300 delegates will be registered.

Business sessions for the main organization will be held in the K. P. hall, corner of Fifth and Grape streets here, temporarily named the Moose hall. The women's auxiliary, which parallels the main body, will stage their sessions in a nearby location.

One of the highlights of the drill team contests, to be held at the new high school field, will be appearance of the Corvallis auxiliary championship team captained by Mrs. Grace Chells of that city. This group of well-trained women has won the championship in its class for the past three years and is recognized as one of the outstanding drill units on the entire Pacific coast. Teams from other lodges will also be present for competition, with cash and other prizes awarded the winners.

Both the convention hall and the Legion frolic will be held in the Moose hall, it was announced. The Klamath Falls Moose lodge is sending a special orchestra over for the former affair, which will be opened to the public. Arrangements for the frolic are yet in the process of formation, with details being announced later.

Dr. George S. Jennings of Medford, secretary of the local Moose lodge, who is supervising plans for the conclave, indicated that the vanguard of delegates would undoubtedly arrive Thursday, July 14. Several state and regional officers will be here the early part of the convention week to assist in last-minute preparations.

The Hotel Medford has been designated as the official convention hotel.

TRAILER WHACKS SEAT FROM MAN'S TROUSERS

PORTLAND, July 5.—(AP)—It's surprising the trouble a trailer can cause. G. P. Pessler, 40, Santa Monica, Calif., stood beside his parked car on a Portland street Saturday night.

"Whizz," a car and trailer passed. The trailer grazed the seat of Mr. Pessler's trousers and removed it. A police ambulance hustled Pessler to a tailor shop.

First Flight.
PORTLAND, July 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances E. A. Linfield, 86-year-old Oregon pioneer for whom Linfield college at McMinnville is named, made her first airplane trip Saturday. She flew to Spokane to visit friends for a month.

SILVERTON, Ore., July 5.—(AP)—E. L. Amo, 46, Silvertown constable and Democratic nominee for the office, died in the veterans' hospital in Portland today. He was rushed to the hospital Friday for an emergency operation.

FALL IN ORCHARD IS BASIS OF SUIT AGAINST INSURER

Wesley Potter, 65, in a circuit court suit filed against the Indemnity Insurance Company of America, seeks $4,682.75 damages for alleged injuries received in an orchard accident, on September 10, 1937.

The complaint sets forth that Potter, while engaged in picking fruit on the Young & Hall orchard, fell from a fruit ladder, and sustained injuries to his back and left arm, permanently partially disabling him.

It is further set forth the Young & Hall orchard took out an insurance policy in the defendant company, as protection for their employees and have in all things complied with the terms of the policy. Potter, through counsel now alleges, the insurance company has refused payment.

On the first cause of action, Potter seeks $1,238.75, comprising $289 for wages lost by reason of the accident; $1,004.25 hospital fees since the date of the accident; $845.50 for medical services rendered during this period, and $500 attorney's fees.

On the second cause of action, $504 is asked for hospital care for the next six months, $40 for a back brace, and $2400 for partial permanent disability.

Potter claims, as a result of the injuries, he will not be able to walk without artificial aids.

Attorney Charles W. Reames appears as counsel for Potter.

FINE PLEASURE BOAT PILED UP ON JETTY

NEWPORT, July 5.—(AP)—Three amateur yachtsmen cheated the sea, when their $30,000 pleasure cruiser, Raw II, went aground on the south jetty of Yaquina bay, but the boat, recently completed in Seattle, was a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson, San Francisco, owners of the sumptuously outfitted craft, pulled themselves hand over hand through the roaring surf on a line carried ashore by the third member of the crew, Morris Shane, Seattle. Shane was battered when he swam through the surf with the line.

HEARING ON FEHL SLATED THURSDAY

Arguments on the appeal to the state supreme court, filed in the Earl H. Fehl insanity proceedings, will be heard before that body at Salem Thursday. Due to the illness of Attorney E. E. Kelly, the plaintiff, Fred Kelly, will be represented by Attorney George W. Nelson.

Fehl, a former county judge of Jackson county, was ordered committed to the Oregon state hospital, December 20, 1937, where he since has been an inmate. Fehl was ordered committed following hearing of testimony before an advisory jury. A report of Portland alienists and the testimony of local physicians held Fehl was insane and unsafe to be at large.

Documentary evidence will be taken to Salem Wednesday for presentation to the high court if necessary.

Sprague Speaks.
SALEM, July 5.—(AP)—Charles A. Sprague, Salem publisher and Republican gubernatorial candidate, told a July Fourth crowd yesterday that too great willingness to sign a "declaration of dependence" upon government is one of the dangers besetting Democracy now.

Pioneer Cleric Dies.
VANCOUVER, Wash., July 5.—(AP)—Death Sunday took the Rev. Thomas J. Hazelton, 72, one-time circuit rider and Methodist minister for 45 years, during a visit to the home of his son in Newberg.

WAYNE S. JANES WILL BE EXPERT TEACHER FOR SWIM CLASSES

The Red Cross swimming and life saving campaign here July 6 to 16 will stress the value of having swimmers and non-swimmers alike familiar with rescue methods and water-safety equipment, says Miss Marjorie Kelly, chairman for life saving of the local chapter.

Miss Kelly announced today that Wayne S. Janes has been assigned as head instructor for the swimming classes to be conducted by the Red Cross at the Natatorium.

Red Cross experts, who have been factors in materially reducing the number of deaths by drowning, give to the public the following observations.

Rescuers may be made by non-swimmers from the shore or docks or by persons wading. Rescuers may be made from small craft with special equipment.

During the swimming and life saving campaigns this season, special attention will be given to these various rescue methods. Students will learn how to extend a hand, or a leg, to a person in distress. They will learn how to use a coat, a fishing rod, oar, pole, bathhook or plank.

Miss Kelly asserts that interest in the classes this year is exceptionally great and she urges prompt enrollment.

Seaside Crowded.
SEASIDE, July 5.—(AP)—Seaside, one of Oregon's largest coast resorts, watched its normal population figure of about 1800 jump to nearly 30,000 for the Fourth of July weekend. The crowd swamped the town and many persons, unable to find accommodations, slept on the unsheltered beach.

PORTLAND, July 5.—(AP)—Bollivar E. Cogswell, 71, son of John and Mary Cogswell, who settled in Oregon in 1842, died yesterday.
