

OREGON AG GROUPS TO UNIFY CAMPAIGN FOR FEDERAL 'LAB'

SALEM, July 5.—(AP)—A meeting of Oregon agricultural interests, looking toward unified action to obtain for the state one of four federal marketing laboratories to be set up through the country, will be held in Portland tomorrow under the direction of Solon T. White, state agricultural director.

A federal grant will set aside $4,000,000 to establish a laboratory in each of four districts into which the country will be divided. The research will be devoted to the study of the utilization of surplus agricultural crops.

"It has come to my attention," White said in letters to farm leaders, "that various cities have been making bids independently for one of these laboratories which lessens our chances as a state."

"In my opinion, Oregon has no chance to secure one of these laboratories unless there is a united effort on the part of those interested in agriculture to obtain one."

TWO Hands Are All He Has

THERE IS, in a certain Pacific Coast city, a cabinet-maker who runs a one-man business consisting principally of his two hands and the skill that's in them. You'd never think of him being a figure in the oil industry.

Yet, whenever this Company needs an out-size desk or a table which doesn't fit the usual specifications, it goes to him. This business is enough to keep his little shop humming the year 'round.

Seldom does anyone consider the filtration into the bloodstream of all business of money spent by a large organization such as this Company—or what it means to the general commercial health. Yet this Company buys from no fewer than 7000 firms annually. With at least 2500 of them, yearly purchases run into impressively high figures. We buy crude oil, for instance, from 220 of the 991 independent producers in California—some big, some small.

All these firms buy from other companies which in turn make purchases, meet payrolls, pay out earnings in dividends. It's an endless process—beyond imagination in its intricate developments.

But our cabinet-maker is a mighty symbol as he earns from us to pay the butcher, the baker—and maybe even the candlestick-maker.

PLAN SANITY TESTS FOR CHARLES BUTTE, CONFESSED SLAYER

SEATTLE, July 5.—(AP)—Police today planned sanity tests for Charles Felix Butte, 58, held without charge as a confessed wife-slayer, after Dr. L. R. Hutchins, city doctor, reported the formerly wealthy San Francisco contractor extremely nervous.

Butte was badly shaken yesterday when taken to the apartment where Mrs. Butte was found bludgeoned to death Friday.

Doctor Hutchins reported today, "Butte at times had lapses of memory; instead of answering a question he appeared to be entirely unaware of being addressed;" complained of having been nervous a long time and of "going all to pieces" the morning his wife was slain.

The doctor reported that Butte appeared more concerned with a real on his face than about his future.

Butte confessed Sunday to the slaying last Friday morning of his second wife, the former Mrs. Emily Maude Zigler of Elkhart, Ind. He said he clubbed the 56-year-old woman to death with a closet clothes-hanging rod. Detective Chief Ernest W. Yorks said.

Insurgents have been just outside Burriana since the capture of Villavieja June 17.

Occupation of the town followed insurgent reports they had smashed government lines south of the Teruel-Mediterranean highway in the Saragon sector.

Dispatches from General Jose Varela's field headquarters said his insurgents had advanced 12 miles since their sudden, relentless offensive south of the highway was started Saturday.

Thousands of government troops defending almost-surrounded positions in the Universales mountains were in danger of being trapped.

ONE SMALL FIRE IS ONLY BLOT ON FORESTRY RECORD

Smoker Blamed for Blaze North of Star Ranger Station—Public Thanked for Caution Over Fourth

Only one small fire on the Rogue River national forest marred a perfect record in this section of the state. The lone blaze occurred about two miles north of the Star ranger station in the Applegate and was attributed to a smoker who ignorantly tossed a cigarette in the grass along the road.

No fires occurred on land protected by the state forest department, first perfect Fourth of July record in many years.

Both Dwight L. Phipps, state district fire warden, and Karl L. Janouch, supervisor of the Rogue River national forest, expressed their appreciation of the public's cooperation in preventing forest fire. In view of the large number who utilized the forest recreational areas over the holidays, it was a remarkable record and an example of splendid co-operation, both men said.

Campgrounds Full. All of the available improved and many of the unimproved campgrounds of the forest were taxed to capacity during the holiday week-end. As an example of the use made of the forest area, Rogue River national forest headquarters announced figures for several of the campgrounds districts.

PICKETING, by two CIO-affiliated unions, of a N.Y. jewelry firm, was impermissibly restrained in injunction issued by Supreme Court Justice Salvatore Cotillo (above), who cited unions' coercion exceeding legal bounds in giving his

More than 300 persons were registered at the McKee campground in the Applegate and 50 cars went through to Squaw lake. The Star ranger station served 188 persons in issuing campfire permits for use at unimproved campgrounds. No permits are required at improved campgrounds. About 1500 campers and picnickers used the campgrounds in the Lake of Woods district. An estimated crowd of 2000 witnessed the boat races at the lake resort. Other forest campgrounds attracted similarly large crowds.

Fire Soon Controlled. The lone forest fire that spoiled a perfect record occurred Sunday afternoon. It was reported at 2:30 by Homer Pennings, Wagner Butte lookout. A crew under Ranger Lee Fort from the Star ranger station circled the blaze in an hour, had it completely out by 9 p.m. The firefighters saved a barn that had been threatened.

The fire was between the road and the Applegate river. It burned about an acre of brush.

There were no city fires Sunday and Monday and Chief Roy Elliott joined Mr. Phipps and Mr. Janouch in thanking the public for its help in maintaining a remarkable record.
