

HIGHWAY SPEEDER ASSESSED $25 BY JUSTICE. COLEMAN

Kenneth P. Faulkner, of Grants Pass, charged with speeding at 80 miles per hour in Fourth of July traffic on the north Pacific highway, pled guilty Tuesday and was fined $25 and costs, in justice court. In lieu of payment of the fine, the court appropriated Faulkner's driver's license, until it was paid. The state police report stated that when Faulkner was first sighted on the Pacific highway, he was traveling 80 miles per hour, and the state police car was "unable to overtake him." Near the south city limits, heavy traffic slowed Faulkner down to 70 miles per hour, and "he dodged and weaved in and out of traffic." At Riverside avenue and Thirteenth street, a 25-mile per hour zone, he continued at the same pace, while an auto was entering the intersection, the state police report said. "Faulkner stated he did not pay any attention to his speed, and just was in a hurry to get to Grants Pass for no apparent reason," the state police report concluded. Bert Townsend, Albany, Calif., driver of a stage, charged with speeding at 65 miles per hour on the Pacific highway, was scheduled to appear in justice court today. Near Vorhies crossing, two autos were forced to leave the paved portion of the highway, to avert a crash, the state police report said.

RELIGION A TEST TO THE NATION

Speaking from the Church of the Nazarene last Sunday morning, from the topic "Life Analysis," Fred M. Weatherford, pastor-evangelist drew his text from Joshua 24:15 "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." His sermon in part follows: "The last two chapters in the book of Joshua tell something of the experience of Joshua as his life was drawing to a close. He was calling for national and religious loyalty. He had called the nation to reaffirm its religion in Jehovah as against false gods. "His approach was likewise the same as that of Moses, who likewise called upon his followers to make a decision in a great national and religious crisis, when he challenged them in these words: 'Who is on the Lord's side let him come unto me.' "Elijah was called upon in a great national religious crisis also, during which time he evidenced the Baalites to bring in the evidence showing the power of their god. He utterly defeated them when he was able to pray down fire that consumed the offering, which served as the mutual test, while the Baalites utterly failed. "We have some national and religious problems confronting us today. One of these false gods is Communism. Its twin brother is Nazism. Both of these systems have proven themselves to be the betrayal agencies of individual and national liberty. "The Marxian spirit of communism has no basic primacy of spiritual fellowship whatever. This differentiates and puts it wholly beyond the role of comparison with the Christian attitude. The rule by which the Communist state operates is the weapon of force—the armory is ever at its command. "The spirit of totalitarianism is also the spirit of the totalitarian or the law of coercion. It denies the rights of the individual, who surrenders his voice to govern to a single dictator. "A prominent senator recently said: 'What America needs is a return to the morning and evening service in the church and a determination to substitute nothing for the Gospel message. Then and only then will the problems that threaten home, community and nation be solved.' "In the face of clashing currents in the social world may we pause for a moment to make an analysis of life. How shall we measure life? Can we adequately measure it by time? If so, it could be said that he who lives longest has best succeeded in life. But you could not tell an artist that the size of a canvas must determine the value of the painting. By the same rule we could well judge that the length of a life would not be a primary consideration in determining its value. "Could we determine the value of life by temporal possessions? Is that man's life to be construed as having been lived best who has accumulated most? While the Wise Man does not make a virtue of want and privation, neither does he confuse wealth with that which is ultimate in life. Wealth often makes of men slaves, more abject than ever poverty could. "A material world measures values with a tradesman's gauge but God measures a man by the investment he makes of his life. "God's estimation of the value of a life is summed up in these words: 'Fear God, and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of man.' "The reason why more men do not find God is that they are in the stay-away class. Let this be remembered: that Christ coming from God and man going toward Christ are sure to meet. If you set your face toward God you have your face in the direction of the oncoming Christ. The only one who can befriend the prodigal is He who alone is able to say: 'Come home.' "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." "In the language of God this is the primary individual and national duty of every citizen: 'Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man.' Ady.

Perl Home Scene Of Birthday Party Tuesday

It was circus day Tuesday afternoon at the Frank Perl home on South Oakdale avenue when Mrs. Perl was hostess for a party in observance of her son Billy's birthday. Master Billy celebrated his seventh birthday and received many handsome gifts during the day. Twenty small guests were invited to the party and the day was spent in enjoying swimming in the Perl pool, a variety of games and other festivities appropriate for the occasion. Bob Barry was recipient of the prize in the diving contest and his brother, Teddy, won an award for staying under the water the longest. Allen Flynn pinned the tail on the donkey and also received a prize. Following the activities, dinner was served near the pool and guests were given favors of large balloons. Children present at the unique and enjoyable party included Allen Flynn, Teddy and Bob Barry, Del Simpson, Jerry Hunter, Billy Heath, George Porter, Philip Sanders, Johnny Coleman, Marilyn and Johnny Coleman, Helen Marie Brown, Alice and Gordon Koehler, Gordon Marx, Corinne and Herbert Wing, Russell Patterson, Jr., Jack Six, Dickie Reinhardt and Marianne Perl.

Ashland Wedding Of Much Interest In This City

On Friday evening in Ashland a wedding of much interest in Medford was solemnized. At a beautiful ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. May, Miss Emma May became the bride of Dr. Marcus B. Woods, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Woods, at 7:30 o'clock, the Rev. James H. Edgar, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, reading the impressive ring service in the presence of the immediate families. White was the dominant decorative theme, with a pyramidal bank of lilies and ferns forming the background for the improvised altar. Other white flowers were used in the rooms in an effective manner. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of white tulle, of princess style over white tulle. Her fingertip tulle veil was held in place by a tiara of white rosebuds, lilies-of-the-valley and orange blossoms. White gardenias and Tulleman roses formed the bridal bouquet. Mrs. Harry May attended the bride as matron of honor; she wore a becoming gown of aqua blue satin and carried a colonial nosegay of Cecil Burner roses, forget-me-nots and tiny white blossoms. A wide blue hat and matching accessories completed the ensemble. Dr. Harvey Woods acted as best man for his brother. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held, after which the couple departed for a wedding trip to Canada and northern points. Mrs. Woods wore a dusty pink suit with blue accessories for her going away ensemble. The bride graduated from Ashland high school and from Southern Oregon Normal school. She has been teaching school in Ashland the past several years. Dr. Woods graduated from Ashland high school, the University of Oregon, and took graduate work at the University of California. He was graduated from the North Pacific Dental college in Portland. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, Phi Mu Alpha, and Delta Sigma Delta. During their wedding trip, Dr. Woods expects to attend the Pacific Coast Dental conference at Vancouver, B. C. The couple will make their home at 345 Liberty street in Ashland.

Mrs. Brewold Feted Prior To Leaving For Extended Trip

On Friday afternoon Mrs. J. S. Lundy entertained with an enjoyable party at her home in Jacksonville in honor of Mrs. A. Brewold. The occasion was a going away affair for Mrs. Brewold, who with Mr. Brewold, will leave the 9th of July for Norway where they will spend a month visiting. Mrs. Brewold was the recipient of many lovely handkerchiefs during the shower given her by her friends present at the entertainment. Gifts included Mrs. V. T. Wilson, Mrs. Albert Keyser, Mrs. H. O. Childreth, Mrs. Mary Gustafson, Mrs. Laurence Pennington, Mrs. Clair Shores, Mrs. P. J. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Earl Brewold, Mrs. W. Knips, Sr., Mrs. Wallace Brill and her mother, Mrs. B. BUILDING ACTIVITY AT WING'S RANCH

Work of pouring special corrugated concrete for new buildings at the Charles A. Wing's Cloverhill registered Guernsey farm on the Old Stage road was completed yesterday. The work was in charge of William Maulbly. A carload of cement was used in the work, largest amount ever used in this type of construction in southern Oregon, Mr. Wing said. The concrete floor work of the new Cloverhill buildings was patterned after that of the V. E. Jorgensen dairy in southern California. Mr. Wing related, adding that a special process was used. The special pattern is known as the Sonoma type of flooring.

ADJ. DURHAM OF SALVATION ARMY WINS PROMOTION

Chamber Commerce Schedules Farewell Luncheon July 21 to Honor Popular Religious Leaders

Announcement was made today of the transfer to Portland of Adjutant G. R. Durham, head of the Salvation Army here for the past five years.

Adjutant Durham has been promoted to the position of secretary of the young people's division. With headquarters in Portland he will direct the Salvation Army young people's work in Oregon and Idaho. The adjutant will leave here for his new post on July 25.

A farewell luncheon will be held in honor of Adjutant and Mrs. Durham at the Hotel Medford at noon Thursday July 21 under sponsorship of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. The public is invited to attend and the chamber urged that members of the ministerial association and social welfare workers especially be present. Reservations may be made by telephoning the chamber of commerce, 63.

Adjutant Durham will leave here with a group of children tomorrow morning for the annual Salvation Army camp near Portland. He will be in charge of the camp. He plans to be back in Medford in about ten days.

A public farewell service will be held at the Salvation Army headquarters on Sunday, July 24.

Adjutant Durham said that while he was pleased with the advancement he was sorry to leave Medford. A consolation of the transfer, he added, was that his new work will permit him to return to Medford periodically.

Adjutant Durham came to Medford to take charge of Salvation Army work in this district five years ago next October. He was then a captain, and was promoted to adjutant about a year ago.

During his stay here Adjutant Durham has made many friends. He has been active in civic affairs but more particularly in social welfare work, having been prominent in the Com-

INSURGENTS ATTACK LOYALIST POSITIONS OVER 12-MILE FRONT

HENDAYE, France.—(At the Spanish Frontier)—July 6.—(AP)—Insurgent troops fanned out into the foothills of the Sierra de Espadan mountains, natural defenses of Valencia, and attacked government positions along a 12-mile front today.

As Generalissimo Franco's drive down the coast gathered momentum, heavy reinforcements were reported rushed to the front to take advantage of a series of defeats which forced government militiamen to fall back at four points.

Two columns of General Miguel Aranda's Galician troops closed in on Nules from the west and north. Nules is 28 miles northeast of Valencia.

Further west, two other units followed ravines in an effort to pierce the mountains to capture Segorbe, 26 miles northwest of the Mediterranean port city.

Segorbe, on the inland highway from Teruel and Nules, on the coastal highway from Castellon de la Plana, are equidistant from Sagunto—15 miles.

The two form the base of a triangle of which Sagunto is the point

"I Remember Your Face . . . But Your Name Escapes Me"

How often have you said it—and with good reason? Psychologists have found that 85% of what we learn comes through visual impression, the other 15% from hearing, touch, taste, and smell.

Newspaper advertising is VISUAL, in illustration and in description. Just as people remember the faces they see better than the names they only hear, so do they remember packages, trade marks, brand names and "the reason why" that they SEE in NEWS-PAPERS.

Newspapers have the advantage of being read during periods of concentration, thus providing advertisers with the opportunity to obtain deep penetration of their message.
