CHANDLER CONFIDENT WINNING NOMINATION

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR IGNORES F. R. ACTION

CROWDS SEEM TO LIKE HOLY ROLLER TACTICS

INSISTS HE'LL GET "ONE-GALLUS" VOTE

GEORGETOWN, Ky., July 12.—Governor Albert Benjamin "Happy" Chandler, the man the president came to Kentucky to destroy, is a political holy roller, religiously convinced that, in the month or so before primary day, he can set the whole state to speaking with tongues. The wise money here is heavily on Chandler's opponent, the pompous senate majority leader, Alben W. Barkley, who seeks reelection under the new deal banner. But, with a holy roller in the race, predictions are silly.

In the fly-specked, tobacco-stained court house of this little county town in the heart of the blue grass region, your correspondents watched the honorable Happy make his answer to the president's ringing endorsement of Barkley.

Most of the audience of a thousand or so were plain people—stockholders, small farmers and tenants, work-worn women and swarming children. Before them, Chandler, a short, energetic, youngish man, with the appearance of a natty small town druggist, jumped and shouted, cracked jokes, called on his Creator, and belauded himself until he streamed with sweat and all but anted for breath. If you don't like extroverts, Chandler would send you shuddering into a dark closet, but they seem to admire extroverts in Kentucky. The people went wild over him.

It wasn't so much what he said, but how he said it. His answer to the president was simple. He ignored the presidential preference for Barkley and harped on the nice things the president said about him—"He says he's my friend and I've made a good governor, and I'll make a good senator, and that's enough for me," he belloped.

It seemed to be enough for the audience, too, for they answered, a clap for every fellow. They roared with laughter when he declared he "couldn't ride the president's coat-tail because he's got one man riding his coat-tail already, and I figure

HUGHES HALF WAY AROUND WORLD IN RECORD ATTEMPT

6,696 Miles Covered in Three Hops — Yakutsk, Siberia, Next Stop — Far Ahead of Record

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Howard Hughes planned to take off at approximately 5:40 p. m., E.S.T., from Omsk, Siberia, to Yakutsk on another far eastern leg of his world-circling flight. Flight headquarters here was advised late today.

MOSCOW, July 12.—(AP)—Howard Hughes landed his big silver monoplane at 9 p. m. tonight (4 p. m., E.S.T.) at Omsk, Siberia, approximately halfway point of his round-the-world flight.

At Omsk, Hughes had covered 6,696 miles of his projected 14,700-mile globe-girdling course and had completed three of the intended six legs of his journey.

The American flier and his four companions covered the 1,380-mile distance from Moscow in seven hours and 35 minutes.

When he left Moscow, Hughes indicated that Yakutsk, Siberia, 2,177 miles northeast of Omsk, would be his next halting place. As soon as he landed refueling of his plane began.

Ahead of Record.
Forty-two hours 40 minutes out of New York, Hughes was well ahead of the round-the-world record of the late Wiley Post.

(Post did not stop at Omsk, but he took slightly over 60 hours to reach Novosibirsk, 600 miles farther east.)

Hughes and his four companions took off in their sleek silver monoplane from Moscow's central airport at 1:25 p. m. (5:25 a. m., E.S.T.) two hours and 12 minutes after they arrived from Paris.

DISCIPLES OF HITLER GET SPEEDY JUSTICE IN NEW YORK COURT

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., July 12.—(AP)—After deliberating less than two minutes, a Suffolk county jury today convicted all six defendants and the German-American Settlement league on charges of violating the state civil rights law.

Judge L. Barron Hill immediately sentenced the defendants, officers and directors of the league, to near maximum penalties.

He also stated that he would refer the district attorney's office to prepare minutes of the trial to forward to "the proper federal authorities" in Washington.

Judge Hill characterized certain phases of testimony and actions of the defendants at the trial as "amazing," referring to the statement of one of the defendants who gave the Nazi salute to the American flag and when asked if that was the American salute replied:

"No, but it will be!"
Judge Hill sentenced Ernest Mueller, of Brooklyn, president of the league, to serve one year in the county jail and fined him $500.

IRISHMEN ENJOY ANNUAL BATTLE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 12.—(AP)—The observance of the 248th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne when Dutch-born William III decisively defeated James II, was started today by a fierce new battle that left many cracked heads.

Police swinging clubs fought a large group which marched into Magiera, Londonderry county, from surrounding districts and tried to remove orange arches erected for the celebration. The crowd responded with hatchets and iron bars.

Three policemen were taken to hospitals with severe wounds. The Battle of the Boyne, fought July 12, 1690, preserved England for Protestantism and serves today as a symbol of northern Ireland's determination to maintain its independence and pledge allegiance only to King George VI of Great Britain.

Bad Luck Follows Good
FRUITLAND, Idaho, July 12.—(AP)—Only a few days after he had been notified of a promotion, G. P. Davis, 50, Union Pacific railroad station agent here, slipped beneath the wheels of a train today and both his legs were severed below the knee. Physicians said he probably would recover.

Second shipment of 5000 parasitized earwigs was received here today from the city of Portland, and will be distributed immediately in sections plagued by the non-parasitized variety.

DU PONT, RASKOB DECLARED GUILTY OF TAX EVASION

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—The United States board of tax appeals found today that Pierre S. DuPont and John J. Raskob had attempted to evade more than $1,500,000 of income taxes by "paper transactions" in securities.

The exact amount of additional taxes due on their 1929 incomes was left by the board to be determined later, but attorneys estimated Raskob might be held to owe about $1,000,000 and DuPont about $500,000.

FEHL LOSES BATTLE FOR RELEASE FROM HOSPITAL CUSTODY

SALEM, July 12.—(AP)—Earl H. Fehl, former county judge in Jackson county, lost his fight in supreme court today to be released from the Oregon state hospital.

The high court ruled that Fehl, who was released from the penitentiary last year after serving a four-year sentence for ballot theft, was committed legally by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton.

Fehl contended that a jury should have sat at his insanity hearing, but the court ruled that a jury was unnecessary.

"Whatever the defendant has in the judgment of the superintendent of the state hospital, recovered from his unfortunate mental condition, he will, without doubt, be discharged," the court said.

Fehl was committed last December 20 on a complaint filed by Fred W. Kelly of Medford on November 6. Other opinions today were: H. B. Scutt vs. J. A. Troch and others, appellants, Appeal from Jackson county. Suit to reform a written instrument. Opinion by Justice Belt. Judge H. D. Norton reversed.

The announcement followed a two-day meeting of 150 executives of the largest ice companies in the country.

FRANK MITCHELL TAKES OWN LIFE IN ROW WITH WIFE

CLIMAXING a bitter quarrel with his wife, Frank Mitchell, 48, of box 110, route 2, committed suicide yesterday about 9:30 o'clock by firing a bullet from a .38-caliber revolver into his head, according to state police and Deputy Coroner Herb Brown.

The tragedy occurred in the back yard of the Mitchell residence on the old Pacific highway at the intersection of Midway road.

State police and District Attorney Frank J. Newman planned to talk with Mrs. Mitchell this afternoon, but it was believed there would be no inquest. Mrs. Mitchell was confined, in a hysterical condition, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hare of Central Point. She was in no condition to be questioned yesterday and last night.

Mitchell, according to Deputy Coroner Brown, stepped off the back porch of the house, where he and his wife had been in severe dispute, and shot himself above the right ear, the bullet traveling through his head and coming out above the left ear. He was killed instantly, the deputy coroner stated.

The suicide culminated a long series of quarrels between Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. Deputy Coroner Brown said neighbors told him, and carried out Mitchell's oft-repeated threat to kill himself. In the altercation immediately preceding the shooting, Mitchell knocked his wife down several times, Deputy Coroner Brown stated. There were bruises on her face, he said.

SUGAR BEET SEED PROSPECTIVE CROP IN MEDFORD AREA

Farmers Invited To Talent Experiment Station Friday For Information—Would Contract Acreage.

Sugar beet seeds today became a new prospective crop for Jackson county with a large organization ready to contract 300 acres at a price stipulated in advance.

With Jackson county ideally suited to the growing of sugar beet seeds, it is estimated from experimental crops that yields per acre will run $225 or better. The organization interested in procuring a stable supply of the seeds will furnish the seeds for planting, provide expert advice on cultivation and supervise production.

Farmers Invited
To hear a complete explanation of the proposition, all farmers of the Rogue river valley were today invited to attend a meeting at the southern Oregon experimental station near Talent at 2 p. m. Friday.

Experiments conducted by Prof. F. C. Reimer at the Talent station show that the Rogue valley is peculiarly adapted to the successful production of beet sugar seeds. The experiments were started two years ago and the second crop of seeds will be ready for harvesting within the next few weeks. It so happened that the past two years provided severe tests for sugar beet seed cultivation. Prof. Reimer pointed out, the first winter was extremely cold and the past winter was extremely mild, these weather extremes providing an accurate gauge that ordinarily can be established only over a span of years.

Planted In September
Sugar beets for seeds are planted in September and harvested the following July, production thus requiring parts of two years. To produce seeds the beets pass through a dormant period which is provided by winter. The winter temperature must be cold enough to chill the beets but not cold enough to kill them. Prof. Reimer explained.

Because of this, only a relatively few sections of the United States are suited to the growing of sugar beet seeds and the Rogue valley has been found to be one of them, the professor related. The difficulty of raising the seeds is illustrated by experiments conducted in southern California, he said. There the tem-
