

SUGAR BEET SEED MEETS APPROVAL VALLEY FARMERS

Indications Desired Acreage Will Be Signed—100 Attend Meeting At Talent.

More than 100 farmers of Jackson county attended the meeting at the Southern Oregon experiment station near Talent Friday afternoon to learn about the prospects of raising sugar beet seed here.

Enthusiasm was shown over the prospect of a new cash crop for the county and it was indicated that sugar beet interests would have no difficulty in contracting the 300 acres they seek this year provided the soil of contract applicants is found suitable for seed culture.

George Scott of Berkeley, Cal., expert for the West Coast Sugar Beet Seed committee, financed by six major sugar beet producers, told the meeting about the conditions under which contracts for seed production are granted.

C. B. Cordy, county horticulturist, presided at the meeting. He announced that application blanks may be procured at the county agent's office in the courthouse.

AVENT SAWMILL ON ELK CREEK BURNS

The Avent sawmill on Elk creek, five miles off the Crater Lake highway northeast of Rogue Elk, was destroyed by fire early Friday morning.

Most of the mill's machinery was ruined but the store of cut lumber was saved by tearing out the connecting tramway.

Using hand tools, the 15 men employed by the mill worked desperately to keep the flames from spreading. A pumper in charge of George Bousstun was sent from McAndrews road warehouse of the Rogue River national forest.

Water was pumped for 2 1/2 hours, however, to put the fire out. Howard Ash, forest service guard, also assisted in fighting the blaze.

REMEDY IN RHYME OFFERED RANGER BESET BY SKUNK

F. A. Silcox, chief of the United States forest service at Washington, D. C., Friday came to the aid of Homer Hixon, district ranger of the Rogue River national forest at Union Creek. For weeks Mr. Hixon has been harassed by a skunk which has taken up residence under an ERA house.

Whenever a Ranger discovers a skunk under his house or under a bunk, he should always send in an appeal to the Chief.

The Chief will at once send out an inspector to act as the Ranger's special protector. The inspector, with roving assignment, will get the skunk's tail in proper alignment.

With quick eye and skilled hand he will yank the said skunk from under the house or under the bunk.

With alignment of tail no odor should stay. But if he is caught with some odor-ous juice, his roving assignment will be of great use.

He can rove by himself and air in great spaces. Until he's prepared to handle new cases. The Ranger, relieved of his troublesome guest, can settle himself down and take an earned rest.

LEWIS IRKED BY 40 CONGRESSMEN

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Labor's non-partisan league, headed by CIO chief John L. Lewis, put 40-odd congress members on a "blacklist" today and marked them for defeat.

The action was based chiefly on the candidates' stand on the wage-hour bill.

The CIO leader went to the capitol twice to exert personal pressure for passage of the measure and, frustrated, asserted angrily that there would be reprisals at the polls.

The list included names of several men whom the AFL has endorsed. The league, spokesmen said, named congressmen "A," "B," "C" and "D," according to their labor views.
