Luncheon Party Reveals Betrothal Of Miss Forncrook

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Forncrook on West 11th street, Miss Vera Forncrook was hostess this noon for a luncheon party, at which time she announced her engagement to Mr. Kenneth Anderson.

An exquisite center piece was a miniature stage coach made of icing and drawn by five white swans with blue ribbons about their necks, each guest pulled a ribbon to which was attached a place card and the engagement was thus revealed.

Guests present at the party included the Misses Peggy Moran, Bernice Shullaberger, Beena Dean, Evelyn Dean, Joanne Chamberlain, Maxine Robinson, Edna Harper, Chloe Elson, Geraldine Hermanson, Fern Cherryhome, Zetta Dean, Jeanne Crawford, Betty Mallory, Barbara Boswick and Viola Clevin. Mesdames Lloyd Johnson, William W. Keith Denman, Richard Witt, Dean Pieper and Frank Beers.

Mrs. Forncrook assisted her daughter with the delightful party. Miss Forncrook's wedding will be an event of August 10 in Vancouver, Wash., and the couple will reside in Astoria. She has lived in Medford for a number of years. Is a graduate of Medford high school and has been a very popular member of Medford society and younger set.

BOYS WHO TOOK YACHT FOR SOUTHERN VOYAGE PLACED ON PROBATION

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 25.—(UP)—Three Santa Cruz high school boys who took the yacht Tira from its moorings here and sailed to Mexico, drew suspended sentences today and were placed on probation.

Juvenile Judge Roy B. Maxey sentenced the youths to Praelon reformatory, then suspended sentence on condition that they go to church, abstain from tobacco and alcohol and refrain from capitalizing on their adventure by writing stories about it.

Lyle Tira, 17, James Henniger, 17, and William Grace, 16, who sailed the Tira to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, 3,000 miles from Santa Cruz, before they were forced to port by a storm, stood soberly before the bench as Judge Maxey pronounced: "I sentence you to spend the years from now until you are 21 in Praelon reformatory."

He paused as the boys blinked hard to keep back tears.

"But I suspended sentence on the following provisions: That you go to church every Sunday, learn the ten commandments, do not smoke, refrain from use of alcohol, including beer, and write no stories of your trip or pose for any pictures for news syndicates. Remember, you are not heroes, but slaves!"

SUSTAINED YIELD FOREST PROGRAM URGED FOR WEST

Northwest Regional Planning Commission Would Put Private Forests Under Compulsory Management

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—The national resources committee today urged by the Pacific northwest regional planning commission to advocate compulsory forest management on private as well as public land in the region.

The commission expressed its concern over what it termed the "dangerous depletion" of the forests of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

The problem of preserving the Pacific northwest forests is of national concern as well as local, because "half the remaining timber supply is located in the region," the committee was informed.

Would Curb Cut. The commission urged a "sustained yield management" program, whereby annual cutting would not exceed forest growth.

The following legislative and administrative plan was outlined by the commission: Adoption of sustained yield practices on all publicly owned lands.

Organization and operation of cooperative sustained yield units, which would include both public and private land, under contracts providing adequate protection of public interests involved.

Provision for long term public credits at low interest rates for timber operators using sustained yield practices.

Increased public fire protection appropriations to insure adequate fire protection.

Authorization and appropriations of sufficient public funds to combat, in cooperation with private owners, the ravages of forest diseases. Provision of funds for public acquisition of private lands where such lands were necessary for effective forest conservation.

Revisions of tax laws to relieve timber owners from the necessity of immediate harvesting while at the same time providing for the adequate conduct of local tax supported units.

Increased public appropriations for forest management research and study of uses of wood and wood waste.

Classification and zoning of land suited chiefly for forest uses.

Enactment of all practicable safeguards to bring about full use of public contributions in the promotion of the sound forest practices. Members of the commission are George F. Yantis, member of the natural resources committee, chairman; O. R. Bean, chairman of the Oregon planning commission; B. H. Kiser, chairman of the Washington planning council; Will Simons, chairman of the Idaho planning board, D. P. Fabrick, chairman of the Montana planning board, and R. F. Bessey, consultant, national resources committee.

NO DELAY IN BUILDING TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

SALEM, July 25.—(AP)—There will be no delay in construction of the new state tuberculosis hospital in Portland, the state board of control decided, following a conference with Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt, head of the state university medical school, here today.

Plans for the new $200,000 structure are now being completed and will be ready for submission to C. C. Hockley, Oregon PWA administrator, by August 26.

The 1937 legislature appropriated $110,000 for this project and the federal government $90,000.

TWO SMALLER HOTELS AGREE WITH WORKERS

PORTLAND, July 25.—(AP)—Gertrude Sweet, secretary of the Joint Council of Hotel Workers, said yesterday agreements had been completed with two small hotels. She declined to announce their names.

The union ordered strikes at 16 hotels of the Portland Hotel association last month. None was closed by the walkout. Miss Sweet said yesterday's action brought to 24 the number of hotels accepting union shop agreements.

Quotations Now at Lowest Point Since April, 1933, Despite Strong Government 'Medicine' Program

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP)—The wheat market, sinking despite strong medicine in the new government farm program, had the grain trade baffled today.

Wheat prices have declined to the lowest point since April, 1933, in the face of federal proposals intended to give farmers a "fair" price. The inopportune setback has caught wheat farmers in the midst of harvesting.

New wheat for delivery here by the end of summer is quoted around 58 cents a bushel compared with $1.16 a year ago. Except for 1931 and 1932, when the price fell as far as 45 cents, September wheat has not been this low in July since early in the century. In 1917 it sold as high as $2.34 and in 1929 it was up to $1.51.

Grain traders now are estimating the market value of the huge 1938 crop, the second largest in history, at around $550,000,000 compared with almost a billion dollars in 1937.

Scarcely two weeks ago the government made public two steps designed to bolster the value of wheat—loans on the 1938 crop and reduction in acreage for harvest next year. But the price has declined about four cents since and is now seven to nine cents below the actual figure at which loans can be made here.

Many traders believe a sharp drop in marketings recently indicated to some extent that much wheat would be put in store on loan, thus holding it off the market at least temporarily. What will happen when this stored surplus mounts cannot be foreseen, they said.

KELLOGG LAUNCHES ALL-AMERICAN POLL OF BASEBALL STARS

Southern Oregon baseball fans will be given an opportunity to participate in a unique "All-American Baseball Poll" sponsored throughout the country by the Kellogg company. More than $20,000 in cash prizes will be given away every week for nine weeks in this spectacular contest, with the first prize $500 each week, and second prize, $100, $50, third prize, $25, fourth prize and one thousand prizes of $5 per week.

The interesting contest provides a separate poll each week for each position on a team, contestants will vote their favorite player and give, in 30 words, their reason for the selection. The selection may be any professional player playing in any league and "fancy writing" will not contribute to the value of any entry.

Each entry must be accompanied by two packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, however, according to Carl Spencer, company representative in this area.

Another interesting feature of the contest will be the awarding of a brand new automobile to each winning player and a place on Kellogg's All-American baseball team.

Grocers, too, will participate in the prize money with a special array of separate prizes for dealers, who have entry blanks available.

BIRTHS

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hazelrigg of East Main street a girl weighing nine pounds and eight ounces in Grants Pass July 23. Mother and baby were reported doing well today.

Portland, July 25.—(AP)—Alonzo D. Maes, Portland bus driver, heard a police siren early yesterday and liked it. Maes was wheeling briskly along when an officer stopped him and helped put out a fire flaming in the rear of the bus.

Vancouver, Wash., July 25.—(AP)—Fire ascribed to a grain dust explosion early today gutted the top two floors of the brew house of the four-story plant of the Star brewery here. Phil Polsky, manager, said the loss was covered by insurance and the plant will be rebuilt immediately.
