Kantor-Busey Wedding Rites In Vancouver

A marriage of two well-known Fern valley residents was solemnized in Vancouver, Wash., July 26 at 4:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, when Miss Lillian Kantor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kantor, became the bride of Allen Busey, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Busey.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Busey of Oil Field, Cal. Mr. Busey is the brother of the groom. The Rev. F. O. Scherer read the wedding service.

The bride was becomingly attired in an afternoon dress of white crepe with embroidered bolero, white accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Busey are well known in this valley, having made their homes here for a number of years. They are graduates of Medford high school, Mrs. Busey being a member of the 1937 class. The young couple will make their home in Long Beach, Cal., where Mr. Busey is electrical mate, third class U. S. navy, on the ship U.S.S. Southampton.

School Reunion Of Interest Here

Of interest to Corvallis high school alumni in Medford is the banquet season sponsored by the high school class of 1923 to be given Saturday evening, July 30 at the Hotel Benton in Corvallis.

It is expected that several Corvallis alumni from Medford will attend the affair. Word received here relates that over 200 hundred former Corvallis students have already registered and plan to participate in the reunion.

A program is scheduled as well as the banquet and other forms of entertainment.

Art of Eye Makeup Demonstrated For Visitors at Mann's

Miss Verna Andre, representative of the Kurlash company, is now at Mann's Department store to instruct women of Medford in the important art of eye makeup.

"The simple secret of eye beauty is revealed through five steps certain to bring admiration and beauty to the eyes," says Miss Andre. "First is Kurlash, a harmless device for giving the eyelashes that sweeping upward curl which nature intended, this reveals more of the eye and makes the lashes appear darker and longer. Next is Kurlene, a rich natural oil which strengthens lashes. Last, a very important step in eye beauty is a tint which makes thin or pale lashes appear luxuriant, dark and brilliant. Last, a tint made in three forms, stick, liquid and cake, all simple to apply and water proof. Shadette, another beauty requirement is an eye shading which beautifies in a dozen different ways.

"Neatly arched eyebrows give the whole face an air of aristocratic refinement and are most necessary for eye beauty." To achieve well shaped eyebrows, Miss Andre recommends Tweezette, an automatic tweezer which is simple to use, is fast and painless.

"Miss Andre a petite French lady, will be at Mann's the rest of this week. She graciously demonstrates the use of the various eye beautifiers and if desired gives an eye make-up without charge."

MERCILESS PURGE STAGED BY RUSSIA IN STRATEGIC AREA

Japanese Spies and Trotskyist Conspirators Being Mopped Up in Vladivostok Region of Far East

By NORMAN B. DEUEL, United Press Staff Correspondent MOSCOW, July 28.—(UP)—Soviet Russia is carrying out a "merciless purge" of Japanese spies and Trotskyist conspirators in the Vladivostok region of the Far East, near the storm center of the Manchukuoan border disputes with Japan, it was reported today in dispatches reaching Moscow.

The purge, involving the Vladivostok maritime province of Far Eastern Siberia and the red army and naval forces stationed in the strategic area, was said to have started several weeks ago under personal orders from Dictator Josef V. Stalin.

The tracking down of the "enemies and spies" is being continued "unrelentingly" according to the July 16 edition of the newspaper Pacific Ocean Star of Khabarovsk which reached Moscow today.

Disclosure of the newest of Stalin's purges came in connection with a report of the third maritime party conference which, after recounting the achievements of socialist construction in the Far East, said:

"The Japanese invaders do not give up easily. They swarm like hungry wolves near our frontiers, greedily looking at the rich soviet maritime region and happy life in the soviet far east."

Washable Wardrobe Cuts Cleaning Bill Says Fabric Expert

"Don't forget the cost of upkeep when purchasing for style," said Beatrice Taylor, fashionist and fabric expert from the Lux Laboratories who is at Mann's this week.

"Today it is perfectly possible to be appropriately and very fashionably dressed and still have an entirely washable wardrobe," Miss Taylor stated.

Fabric manufacturers have found it necessary to keep pace with the trend for more careful shopping and the growing demand for better textiles, so that now, even the smartest silks and synthetics, novelty weaves, laces, and the sheers flowered cottons are procurable in patterns that have been tested for washability. Such fabrics not only look fresher and wear longer, but also save cleaning bills.

Medford women will be interested to know that Miss Taylor is an authority on blocking knitted clothes. Miss Taylor says that it is merely a matter of knowing how to shrink or stretch a garment without spoiling the beauty or injuring the strength of the threads or yarns. Miss Taylor also states that she has seen the experts at the Lux Laboratories successfully wash almost every kind of fabric or garment. And, as a fabric expert and consulting fashionist, she has traveled the length and breadth of the country advising women on how to plan smartly styled wardrobes that will take to soda without wincing.

Miss Taylor will be at Mann's throughout Saturday during which time a package of Lux will be given with every hose and lingerie purchase.

PROGRAM FRIDAY FOR TOWNSEND CLUB NO. 2 Townsend club number 2 will hold a social meeting at its headquarters at 123 1/2 West Main street Friday night starting at 8 o'clock, with Miss Jewel Deter, Medford's popular dance instructor and Howard Hall, young tenor, featuring the program. Miss Deter will give classical and modern dance interpretations, and Mr. Hall will sing, "Sweet Mystery of Life." Also included on the program will be a one-act play by Junior Townsend club number 2, an old time fiddling contest and a concert of popular music by the Valley Serenaders. Light refreshments will be served. All are welcome.

Prize Dog Kidnapped

SAN JOSE, Cal.—(UP)—Mrs. Helen Teller of Reno, Nev., felt that insult really had been added to injury when someone stole her prize-winning Pekinese from her car as it was parked in front of a store here and left in its place a multi-colored alley cat with its caudal appendage missing. She believes the Pekinese was kidnapped.

Surf Drownings Few

SYDNEY.—(UP)—During the past 30 years, Australia's unpaid life saving guards have saved more than 35,000 lives or more than 1,000 a year or 20 weekly. During those 30 years only 14 persons have been drowned on the beaches where the Surf Life Saving association operates.

Bartholomew's Worry

HOLLISTER, Cal.—(UP)—Freddie Bartholomew, participating in a carnival here, admitted that his present concern in life is how to build a $10 automobile to enter a soapbox derby, on his allowance of $1 a week. He insisted that somehow he would have an entry even if he didn't win.

Shakespeare Players Get Quick Good-Will Results

When Dorothy Pruitt and Doreen Levelette go on a Shakespearean good-will trip they get results.

To spread tidings of the fourth annual Shakespearean Festival in the Elizabethan theater at Ashland August 5 to 13, the two Medford actresses made a whirlwind tour to Portland, leaving here Sunday and returning Tuesday. Here are a few things that happened on the trip:

1.—An interview with Gov. Charles H. Martin in the capitol at Salem. The girls presented the governor with an honorary sponsoring membership in the Oregon Shakespearean Festival association and had their photos taken with him for the newspaper.

2.—The girls visited newspaper offices in Salem, Portland, Albany, Corvallis, Eugene, Roseburg and Grants Pass, receiving a royal welcome at each place. At Corvallis they had a long talk with G. E. Ingalls, editor and publisher of the Gazette-Times and a student of the Bard of Avon who showed them his complete Shakespearean library. At the Journal in Portland they were promised by the drama editor that he and his cameraman would attend the festival and he took their pictures outside the newspaper office as scores of spectators gathered to watch. In Salem Dick Applegate, United Press correspondent, and former Medford resident, presented newspaper men to the girls and took the actresses to lunch.

3.—All along the line filling station attendants, hotel clerks and lunch-room owners volunteered to spread word of the festival and took the girls' pictures.

4.—At the Mountain Home Tavern, near Cottage Grove Monday evening, the girls were given overnight accommodations and other special considerations because the owner, who had become interested in their work, saw them counting their pennies and wondering if they had enough money to stop for the night, or if they had better continue driving to Medford. The owner, a woman, said she would not let the girls make the hazardous night drive.

5.—The girls were stopped by a state patrolman for driving too fast, but instead of his giving them a ticket, they gave him one—to the festival. The policeman said he would spread the word about the festival, if the girls would only drive slowly so that they'd get back for it.

13 Fall Fashion Trumps Ready For Admiration of the Ladies

By RUTH COWAN CHICAGO, July 27.—(UP)—Here are 13 feminine fall fashion trumps ready for play today by exhibitors at the convention of the Interstate Merchants council:

1. Bloused back in both coats and dresses.
2. Dolman sleeves in a modified form, and restrained leg o' mutton sleeves.
3. Blue—usually a spring color—will be "high fashion" this fall.
4. Fifteen inches from the floor will be smart day-time dress length. Skirts have a slim-effect and hemlines are even.
5. Evening fashions have a Louis XIV flare of elegance.
6. Formal fashion materials are especially rich looking—lames, metal shot taffetas, velvets, slipper satin, moire, brocade.
7. Patterned matolesse is an especially important fabric for day-time wear. Woods have a nubby look. Tweeds, of course.
8. Black is the leading fall color as usual. Other leading colors, a greenish-blue, purplish-blue, copper, rust, gold, gray, brown green.
9. There is much fur-trimming on coats. There's a new bulldog fur collar.
10. The Swedish influence continues in dirndls, embroidered sweaters, halter frocks.
11. Earrings are coming back. Cameos are being revived as pendants.
12. Handbags continue big but less bulky.
13. Stockings have a rosy tone and velvet is a "first for fall" in millinery.

ROAD OILING PROGRAM COMPLETED FOR YEAR

The county road oiling program has been completed, for the year, the county engineer's office reported today. It totals about ten miles, in various sections of the county, and includes the Phoenix-Talent road, McAndrews roads, also a number of streets in this city and Ashland, not a part of the regular program, but where the county machinery was used to apply the oil.

The county oiling equipment this week, is being used in applying a dust palliative on the streets of Rogue River, which will complete operations for the year.

BLUEBLOOD BULLS CHASE PICKERS IN BLACKBERRY AREA

Four thoroughbred bulls, ranging in the Rogue River district, have been chasing women engaged in picking wild blackberries, according to complaints filed by some of the pursued with the district attorney and sheriff, urging that something be done about it.

Sheriff Syd I. Brown said today there was not much that could be done about it, under the law, but the district attorney would write the owners of the blooded bovine, requesting them to make arrangements to graze the animals elsewhere.

The bulls range outside of a herd district, and are not subject to the Oregon herd laws. They belong to stockmen of the area.

The bulls pasture near the wild blackberry patches on Pleasant creek, a favorite outing spot for Rogue River people. The wild berries have started to ripen, and are much desired.

Sheriff Brown said no injury had been inflicted by the bulls, but their ferocity had caused a number of splintered sprains by cerry pickers for cover. According to reports, the conduct of the thoroughbred bulls was not due to any of the berry pickers wearing red garments. Their belligerency was attributed by the sheriff, to the heat, insects, and "plain bull cussedness."

OLD STATE TREES HAVE NO PLACE IN NEW CAPITOL PLAN

By Dick Applegate SALEM, (UP)—The huge trees which played an important part in the landscaping scheme of Oregon's old capitol building have no place in the plans for the new one just completed.

While construction work was under way workmen lopped down all the stately trees, several of them over two feet in diameter, on the south side of the building facing State street. The trees were removed to provide a better view of the new capitol from the campus of Williams university to the south.

After the building was occupied by state departments the trees on the north, or Summer street side, were cut down to make way for a curving drive which will sweep up to the broad front steps.

The big trees flanking Summer street, leading directly away from the dome of the capitol, will be cut down for a block on both sides to make way for a sunken garden and boulevard.

Architects who planned the landscaping of the capitol explained that trees, particularly big trees, do not harmonize with the severe lines of the building. Eventually other trees will be planted and cultivated but they will be planted to blend with the new plan.

The trees in Wilson park, to the west of the capitol, and to the east in the capitol building group, will remain as they are except that some thinning may be considered necessary.

The entire world contributed the seedlings which went into the parks of Salem and one of the finest collections of rare trees in the United States is still growing there.

One of the most unusual is bamboo. Despite the fact that Salem is only three miles south of the 45th parallel (or half way between the equator and the north pole) bamboo thrives here, remaining green the entire year. It is found in nearly every section of the city, with particularly large and fine groves at the state hospital.

Good Advice About Constipation!

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
