

OREGON CANNING HAS GROWN FAST IN RECENT YEARS

One Can in Every 38 Opened by Mrs. America Now Comes From State—Next to Lumber in Employment

PORTLAND, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The state's canning industry has progressed so rapidly in three decades there is one chance in 38 every time Mrs. America gets out her can opener she cuts the lid from produce packed in Oregon.

In 1921 the chances were only one in 40 and before the war—well, Mrs. America put up most of her food-stuff herself in glass jars.

A bulletin released by the state planning commission today valued the industry at $17,631,421 annually. The average monthly employment was estimated at 3,841 with thousands of persons supplementing regular income with canning occupations during the peak summer period.

Value Mounts.

Oregon produced 2.43 per cent of the nation's canned food in 1921 and 2.62 per cent in 1935. Although the state's share in the national output did not increase greatly in the 14 years, the actual volume mounted 103 per cent.

California and Washington have expanded, too. Fourteen years ago Washington produced 2.23 per cent of the national total but in 1935 the figures jumped to 3.35 per cent. California retained a dominant position but dropped from 29.4 per cent in 1921 to 24.9 per cent. California's volume increased 59 per cent and Washington 182 per cent.

Only the lumber industry employed more wage earners than packing plants in Oregon three years ago.

The state canned 44,651 cases of vegetables and 1,186,032 cases of fruit in 1921 compared with 1,250,000 cases of vegetables and 4,500,000 cases of fruit in 1935.

Pears Top List.

Pears, pines, berries, apples and cherries, in the order named, are the principal fruit packs. Beans, peas, pumpkin, beets, carrot, tomato, corn, green asparagus lead the vegetable class.

LAKE SOUNDINGS ARE BEING MADE BY CRATER STAFF

CRATER LAKE (Sp)—Members of the naturalist staff of Crater Lake national park, directed by John E. Doerr, Jr., are conducting the scientific research project of sounding Crater Lake.

Mr. Doerr, park naturalist, points out that while accurate soundings have been made in the past, they are not sufficiently numerous to indicate any great amount of detail in regard to the features of the crater floor. Detailed information on the features submerged by the water of the lake is needed in order to complete the geological story of the origin of the crater.

The first sounding of Crater Lake was done on August 4, 1869, by J. M. Sutton, a resident of Jacksonville, who is credited not only with making the first sounding of the lake but

BOATS CONQUER WILD METOLIUS

BEEND, Ore., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Four boatmen who had been out of touch with the rest of the world for 24 hours, returned from the Cascade mountain wilderness today to report they had conquered the white water of the Metolius river.

They guided their two heavy boats out of the treacherous Metolius into the Deschutes river at 3 p. m. Monday. After continuing down the Deschutes, they returned overland to the summer home of John Gallico, sportsman and retired San Francisco financier.

Gallico, who described the 60 mile run as a "thrilling experience," told of breath-taking beauties of the primitive area. The stream, far-famed for its trout, rises at the base of an ancient volcano in the heart of Jefferson county.

The expedition started from the mouth of Canyon creek Saturday at 10 a. m.
