

CRATER LAKE PARK HAS GOOD RECORD IN FIRE CONTROL

All Forest Blazes Kept Under 10 Acres in Past 8 Years—Staff Organized For Fast, Efficient Work.

CRATER LAKE (Sp1)—Thunder showers may bring relief from summer heat but to national park rangers at Crater lake they bring long hours of extra work. During a recent thunderstorm over the park the rangers were kept busy suppressing forest fires caused by lightning. Rangers under the direction of Chief Ranger J. Carlisle Crouch were on duty suppressing 11 lightning fires all burning at one time. A report from Superintendent E. P. Leavitt's office indicates that the damage from the fires was slight, being confined in practically each fire to single trees struck by lightning. Among the national parks, Crater Lake has had an exceptionally good record in protecting the park forests from fire. In the past eight years there have been no class C fires burning more than 10 acres and only eight class B fires burning over one-fourth acre and less than 10 acres. The number of class A fires reported is 82, burning 1/4 acre or less. Of the class A fires 57 were caused by lightning and 25 were attributed to man. The records indicate that during the last eight years 99 percent of the fires in the park were caused by lightning, the remainder of 31 percent being man-caused. Control Systematized. Protecting the forests has been a major activity of the national park service at Crater lake. A system of motorways for use only in forest protection has been developed throughout the park. Thorough surveys have produced maps indicating the type of ground cover and the location of streams and springs that can supply water in the event of fire. Not the least important factors in the park's record of forest protection have been the trained staff, including rangers and CCC enrollees, and the cooperation of the U. S. forest service and the U. S. Indian service. Within the park two fire lookout stations are maintained during the fire season. One lookout station is located on the Watchman on the west rim of Crater lake. The other, maintained by the cooperation of the forest service and the Indian service, is located on the summit of Mt. Scott, highest point in the park. With the two lookout stations in the park and a number of forest service and Indian service lookouts in the surrounding national forests there is practically one hundred percent visibility of the forests in the Crater lake region. The fire lookout stations are fully equipped for detecting the location of fires and directing ground crews in suppressing fires. Rangers on duty in the lookout stations are in constant communication by short wave radio and telephone with the fire dispatcher's office at park headquarters. From reports received from various lookouts the fire dispatcher can quickly indicate the location of a fire. A glance at his maps will indicate the type of forest in which the fire is burning, the distance to the fire by motorway, and the location of the nearest supply of water. With that information a properly equipped crew can be dispatched to the fire. Radio Contact Aids. Even after the fire-fighting crew is on a fire the lookout ranger, communicating by field radio, can assist in fighting the fire. Frequently from his lookout station he can supply valuable information regarding the size of the fire, wind direction and velocity, and spot fires advancing ahead of the main fire line. The public is invited to visit the lookout stations. The ranger on duty will explain the work of forest protection. From both the Mt. Scott and the Watchman lookouts one has an exceptional view of Crater lake and the surrounding forested region. Both lookouts are accessible by good trails leading off from the crater rim road. Each afternoon at 1:30 a member of the naturalist staff conducts an auto caravan to the Watchman lookout. Starting from the information building visitors accompanying the caravan visit a number of scenic, scientific and historic points along the west rim of the lake. Arriving at the parking area below the Watchman the groups hike one-half mile to the lookout station at the summit of the peak. From the summit Crater lake is 2,000 feet below. Surrounding the lake and extending for miles beyond the boundaries of the park there is an unsurpassed panorama of mountains built by volcanic fires, mountains mantled by virgin stands of fir, hemlock, and pine that the rangers guard from fire. Cal is Prodigy. JULIAN, N. C.—(P)—V. E. Coltrane owns a Guernsey calf, "Queen Patsy," which has been giving milk since it was six days old. At the age of seven weeks the calf was giving about a pint of milk daily. Gold in the Sewer. COLUSA, Cal. (UP)—Repair crews cleaning the city sewers are finding enough pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, dollars and gold rings to buy beer for themselves by the case.

SECOND DEPOSIT OF WHEAT PAYS 1940 INSURANCE

CORVALLIS (Sp1)—How wheat growers may set aside enough grain this year to pay for their federal crop insurance for both 1939 and 1940 has been explained by officials of the federal crop insurance corporation in this region. Provisions for accepting wheat to cover two years' premiums were made in the amendment toward the close of the last session of congress. When a grower turns over wheat to pay the premium on insurance for his 1939 crop he may, if he wishes, turn over just double the amount. It is explained. The extra wheat is considered as a deposit and is not the same as a premium payment, although the advantages to the grower are practically the same. The corporation is not permitted to sell crop insurance policies for more than the current year but the corporation will accept the extra deposit of wheat and will pay storage costs on it in case the grower takes out a policy later for the 1940 crop. A farmer may not deposit more wheat than the number of bushels he pays as premium for his 1939 insurance. This amount may be slightly more or less than his premium will be for 1940, as the exact rate will not be determined until next year, but it is expected that it will approximate his premium for 1940 insurance. This plan provides an additional outlet for surplus wheat to insured wheat growers as it enables them to put aside wheat now for payment of premiums next year when the price of wheat may be different. The appointment of William Clonhey as manager of the Spokane office of the federal crop insurance corporation has also been announced by the A.A.A. Mr. Clonhey has been A.A.A. wheat specialist in Portland since 1935, handling the flour export program. He has been in grain marketing during his entire business experience. Clyde Kiddle, state supervisor of crop insurance for Oregon, with offices at Oregon State college, says that all county offices are now prepared to receive applications for wheat insurance. INTRUDERS OF HIVE EMBALMED BY BEES. NEENAH, Wis.—(P)—That bees kill and then embalm mice, snakes and other invaders of their hives was discovered here by E. E. Lampert, amateur beekeeper. Lampert found by experimentation that when a live mouse or snake was placed in a hive a swarm of bees descended upon it and stung it to death. Then, unable to remove it, the bees embalmed it by covering it with wax to prevent contamination. Crimes in London in 1937 numbered 92,192, an increase over the 1936 total of 83,777.

VARIETY in the LUNCH BOX MEANS a LOT!

Most men dislike to know in advance what they will have for the next meal. Years ago we changed boarding places because our lunch box sandwiches were always made from the leftovers from the night before.

You may pack different sandwiches every day,—yes you may put several kinds in the same lunch and save money while you are doing it.

With more than 30 inexpensive cooked meats to choose from you may plan ahead so that the lunch will never become tiresome.—Assort the meats as you wish. Plan just how many sandwiches you will make and we will give you the exact number of assorted slices of any meats you will need for a given number of sandwiches.

Surprise the boys with different sandwiches every day and the kicks will change to compliments.

We know that packing a daily lunch is ordinarily a mighty hard job.—Not so, however, from our wide variety of luncheon meats.
