Miss Brown Home From Extended Eastern Trip

Miss Emily Brown returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown on West 11th street the first of the week from an extended vacation spent principally in the East.

Miss Brown joined her brother, the Rev. Mr. Leonard Chapin Brown and her father in Visalia, Cal., and the three motored to this city. Rev. Brown, with his family, will spend a month sojourning in and about the valley.

Miss Brown visited in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities of the east, during which time she was guest of various relatives and friends. Interesting diversions of her entourage included a visit at West Point, a boat trip up the Hudson from Delaware to Wilmington, and a tour of the DuPont estates. Miss Brown was in New York City during Easter time and enjoyed the Easter parade. In Wisconsin she spent a brief time at Lake Geneva and other famous recreational spots. She was away 4 1/2 months.

Frank Perls Home From Chicago Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perl and children, Marianne and Billy, returned to their home on South Oakdale avenue the first of the week from an enjoyable three weeks' vacation spent in the east.

The Perls traveled to Chicago by train and in that city were the house guests of Mr. Perl's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Perl for a week, during which time they were feted at a number of affairs. Mr. Perl attended the national open golf tournament where he viewed the playing of many famous golfers. Not only did Mr. and Mrs. Perl enjoy Chicago, but the children, Marianne and Billy, had the thrill of spending a day at the Brookfield Zoo, the largest Zoo in the world.

On their return trip to Medford by motorcar, the Perls stopped at Yellowstone National Park where they remained for a day and a half.

Theater Parties During Festival Proving Popular

With the opening of the fourth annual Oregon Shakespearean Festival at the Elizabethan theater in Ashland tonight, an impetus is given to social activities in the Rogue River valley.

Numerous festival patrons have already arranged dinner parties to precede the plays in this year's series and the fashion is growing. Since there will be plays every night next week as well as tonight and tomorrow night, much pre-theater entertaining is anticipated.

A pleasant innovation during this year's festival will be informal backstage receptions after each performance when sponsoring members will have the enjoyment of mingling with the thespians.

The curtain will rise each evening at 8:30 and, knowing midday's proclivity for tardiness, the management asks all patrons to be punctual. Another tip that may be considered either fashionable or meteorological: Wraps will be in order. The plays are presented under the stars in an open-air playhouse and the Ashland evenings are likely to have a tinge of chilliness. It is suggested also that binoculars will come in handy for close-up views of the actors.

Guests Arrive For Shakespearean Play

Miss Marian E. Day of Saginaw, Mich., is a recent arrival in Medford and is the house guest of her cousin, Miss Melba Day, at her GeBarber apartment here.

Miss Day, with her mother, aunt and brother, has been on an extended vacation. At present, her relatives are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Day in Portland and word received here today indicates that the entire group will arrive in Medford soon for the purpose of attending the Shakespearean Festival which opens in Ashland this evening. Miss Melba Day is a member of the Shakespearean cast.

Following the plays, the local Miss Day with her relatives will proceed to Seattle for a vacation, after which the Michigans will depart for their home, via Yellowstone National park and Miss Day will return to this city.

Miss Gregory Returns Home

Miss Marjorie Gregory, accompanied by her house guest, Miss Frances Windsor of Chico, Calif., returned the first of the week from Corvallis, where she had spent several months attending the Oregon State College summer school.

The two spent a week in Portland prior to their arrival at the Gregory home on East Jackson street. Today, Miss Gregory took her guest to Crater Lake National park. Miss Windsor will leave for her home in Chico Sunday.

COOGAN REVEALS DAD DISTRUSTED BUSINESS AGENT

'Bernstein No Good Either As Business Manager or As Man,' Words of Father Quoted by Young Actor

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Jackie Coogan quoted the words of his dead father in an attempt to prove today that Arthur L. Bernstein, manager of "the kid's" screen fortune was "no good either as business manager or as a man."

The former ragamuffin boy star, now 23, attributed to John R. Coogan a losing fight before his death in 1935 to regain control of his son's assets and oust Bernstein who married his widow a year later.

Jackie's bristling testimony, taken for a deposition in his $4,000,000 accounting suit against his step-father and mother, Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, continued all day yesterday and was to be completed this morning.

Kisses Mother "The kid," who kissed his mother when he encountered her weeping yesterday, said the elder Coogan had told him during one of many secret conferences that Bernstein had "broken faith with you and me."

He has taken a perfectly sound business and ruined it," Jackie quoted his father as saying.

Another time, Jackie said, his father informed him: "Bernstein is no good at all—either as business manager or as a man—and I'm going to put a stop to it and get rid of him as quick as I can. If he gets the upper hand, it will be too bad for you. Every cent Bernstein has had is yours."

Coogan, Sr., claimed he wanted to "expose" Bernstein, the son testified, but was fearful of what might come out. The father said he had "built up an organization, but it has gotten out of hand."

Incidents Cited Jackie, who has had hit-and-miss picture work in recent years, and is married to Actress Betty Grable, went back to his childhood career for incidents to show the cost he paid for fame.

"They told me my dog had died when they wanted me to weep before the cameras," Jackie blurted. "I told my father that I don't see why you had to do this to me" and he replied: "Now look, son. This is a heart-breaking business, but what comes out of it is all for you. When you come of age, it's all yours. You will be able to retire and live on the interest, or do just what you please."

SHAKESPEARE FETE PATRONAGE URGED BY TWO MAYORS

Patronage of the Oregon Shakespearean Festival was urged today in statements issued by Mayor C. C. Furnas of Medford and Mayor T. S. Wiley of Ashland.

In a proclamation Mayor Wiley emphasized the value of the festival as a civic enterprise and in a statement Mayor Furnas stressed the prestige that the Shakespearean productions have created for Medford and all of southern Oregon.

Mayor Wiley's proclamation, follows: "Whereas, the city of Ashland is appreciative of the work and enterprise of Mr. August L. Bowmer of the Southern Oregon Normal school in initiating and continuing the annual Shakespearean Festival here, and

"Whereas, the festivals are becoming a valuable Ashland tradition, widely known in other parts of the Pacific coast, and

"Whereas, the people of Ashland should encourage this movement as a civic and artistic expression, and

"Whereas, the approach used in the Elizabethan theatre is unique and individual, there being no other like enterprise in the entire country, and

"Whereas, the 1938 Festival opens tonight, August 5, and will continue through Saturday, August 13,

"Now Therefore, I T. S. Wiley, mayor of the city of Ashland, do hereby on this August 5, 1938, urge every Ashland citizen to give his support and encouragement to this fourth annual Oregon Shakespearean Festival."

The statement by Mayor Furnas follows: "The opportunity afforded us each year to see Shakespeare on the stage as the plays were produced in the Elizabethan era is one which all of us should welcome and appreciate.

"I am fully in accord with the aims of the Oregon Shakespearean Festival and am only too well aware of the prestige that our community has gained through the work of this organization.

"As mayor of the city of Medford, I am urging everyone, students and grown-ups alike, to attend the fourth annual Shakespearean Festival, an event that I am sure will be the most successful in the series to date."

Scotch Plaids and Styles Influence Fall Fashions

By Ruth Cowan CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Hoot mon, pipe in the feminine fall fashions—they've gone Scotch.

Plaids and styles inspired by Bonnie Scotland were getting a big play today from wholesalers participating in the wash apparel show's fall and winter market.

More than 1,000 buyers saw the three-hour "hit parade of fall washables" last night.

And let it be said that "washable" apparel no longer means cotton and linen alone. In 1938 style language it includes synthetic materials that look like silk crepe, velvet, corduroy, satin, flannel and wool.

The jumble took—that very same style little Mary wore years ago—has been revived with a short plaid skirt and solid color blouse and it has now been designed for the college girl and matron.

In some of these models the plaid synthetic material resembles wool and in others, taffeta. Plaids—the predominate color may be red, blue, wine and the new blue-green—have also been used in dirands, which are carrying over into fall fashions.

Flocks of colorful floral prints were numerous in the style parade. Other prints—and prints were very important—included coin designs, hunting motifs, Persian effects and the new "discovery prints."

In one of these "discovery prints" Columbus is shown landing in the new world, and in another Balboa is pictured sighting the Pacific. Also used in an effective smock was a sky-scraper print of New York's famous buildings.

wait while the Manhattan, bearing it off here back from Europe, moved slowly through a fog to a late arrival. Fully a hundred thousand persons gathered at the Battery. They swarmed over the grass of the park and were crammed tightly into Bowling Green.

They let out one mighty roar after another as the parade, headed by mounted policemen and flanked by officers on motorcycles, moved slowly past and started the ride up Broadway.

Looks Uper. The roars went up blocks in advance of the little flier and continued long after he had passed. Under his grins he looked a little upset after the pushing and shoving of yesterday and this morning, but he still grinned, bravely waving to the throngs.

The ovation to Corrigan at city hall lasted a full two minutes. He faced the crowd grinning.

Mayor LaGuardia gave him the freedom of the city and spoke pleasantly and lightly of the "prepared impulsiveness of your grand flight."

The mayor spoke of an other Irishman, Eamon De Valera, prime minister of Eire, remarking that he, like Corrigan, set his compass in a certain direction and got where he wanted to go—from Brooklyn to a high place in the Emerald Isle.

Makes Sly Remark Corrigan grinned, and when the mayor had finally finished and the crowd was roaring again, shouting "Corrigan! Corrigan!" the flier walked to the speaker's stand and stood there, hands clasped, then working nervously while the spectators' cries continued.

He could say little, he remarked, for the mayor's speech had well nigh "floored him." But he could say to the mayor, "that you, too, have your compass set in a certain direction and you'll get there if you want to."

And then with a note of slyness, he added: "If you know what I mean."

Apparently the crowd knew, for it exploded with laughter. The mayor looked surprised, then he, too, grinned.
