

Sockeye Promises Belcastro Warm Welcome in Medford Return

PAIR WILL MEET IN MAIN EVENT ON AL FRESCO CARD

Mad Italian Comes to Town After Year's Absence — Kenaston, Smolinski to Grapple in Middle Event

With Sockeye Jack McDonald forming the one-man welcoming committee and an expected capacity crowd in attendance, Joe Belcastro, Weed's Mad Italian, makes his return to southern Oregon grappling circles after a year's absence tonight at the open-air high school arena.

The pair clash in the main event, scheduled for one hour or the best two out of three falls.

Clashing in the middle attraction, to be staged under the Australian system of six 10-minute rounds or the best two out of three falls, will be Gold Hill's Sgt. Bob Kenaston and Polah Palooka Joe Smolinski. Flash Kelly of San Francisco and Benny Wilson of Texas open the program in another Australian system squabble.

Promoter Mack Lillard said today that advance reserved seat ticket sales were the best of the year, and that a crowd of 2000 or more would probably be on hand to greet Belcastro upon his return from the east, middle west and south.

Belcastro, one of the most colorful grapplers to ever appear in Medford, will return to display a brand new "mystery" maneuver, one that has brought him a sensational string of victories in many of the large wrestling centers of the country. He has steadfastly refused to reveal to Promoter Mack Lillard or anyone else just what manner of hold it is, stating that he would bring it into play tonight as a surprise for Medford.

On the other hand, Sockeye has been not in the least secretive regarding his plans of attack. The unsharable ex-Seattle logger means to go in there and blast with both hands until Belcastro drops.

Although the top main event is the big drawing card on the program, considerable enthusiasm has been displayed by local fans regarding the Kenaston-Smolinski brawl, expected to develop into nothing short of plain and fancy legged mayhem. Smolinski, an eye-gouger and hair-puller of the first water, claims he will dissect Kenaston and toss the pieces to the balcony customers, while the Gold Hiller says he will do his best to break the Palooka's back with the Gold Hill crab.

The opening encounter between Kelly and Wilson will be a clean and scientific affair, as both are past masters of every legitimate trick in the game.

Pete Returns

ARMSTRONG VICTORY WILL GIVE NEGROES MAIN FIGHT TITLES

By GAVIE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8. (AP)—Lou Ambers, the lightweight champion, is due to step up and get his Wednesday night at the Polo grounds, and after that is done the negro race will have all the important boxing titles sewed up, excepting the middleweight.

The amazing Henry Armstrong, providing he plasters Ambers as he is favored to do by odds of 13 to 5, will hold the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight titles, a collection without parallel in boxing history. It is doubtful boxing has seen the little negro's equal, though the old timers still insist that Joe Gans would have taken him.

Joe Louis, of Armstrong's approximate shade, holds the most important and lucrative crown of them all, the heavyweight. John Henry Lewis, also of color, controls or does not control the light heavyweight situation, depending upon whether you have been listening to the New York athletic commission. Those sultry seltens have written John Henry off the books.

At any rate, and always providing that Armstrong catches up with the springs Ambers within 15 rounds, there will come near being a solid negro front on the fistie ramparts.

7 SAILBOATS SWAMPED IN COOS BAY REGATTA

NORTH BEND, Aug. 8. (AP)—A 40 mile wind almost blew the Coos Bay Yacht club's regatta off the ocean Sunday. Seven sailboats swamped at the start of one race and only the 18-foot craft of George Selander finished. Motorboat races were called off.

CRATERS SUFFER 16-2 SPANKING IN CRESCENT VISIT

Coast Dust Storm, Koll's Pitching and Own Boots Bring Downfall—League Lead in Three-Way Tie

Lefty Mike Koll, a bunch of enemy hitters who had no respect whatsoever for Crater hurling and a good old-fashioned Crescent City dust storm all combined to raise havoc with Medford's Craters yesterday, and after the locals got through adding their hit to the Crescent City cause by committing eight physical errors and an untold number of mental blunders, the score was 16 to 2.

While Medford was taking its worst beating in two years, Grants Pass need Yrka, 8 to 7, throwing the Southern Oregon league pennant race into a three-way tie for first place. The Craters, Crescent City and Grants Pass are now neck and neck, each with four wins and one loss.

Koll in Command

Koll, Crescent City's southpaw pitching star, had most of the Craters breaking their backs on his curve ball all afternoon. He whiffed 11 of them including McLean three times and Bob Smith twice, and allowed only three scattered safeties. Billy Calvert rapped a homer and two singles, Hoffard poled two singles and Rickert and Lewis hit singles. That was the extent of Crater damage to Koll, who turned in one of his finest exhibitions.

Big Lowell Brown, Medford's starting pitcher, was blasted from the mound in the third frame, when the Merchants tallied six times, and all in all was pounded for nine runs and eight hits in his 2-3 innings of toil. Bill Rathke took over with two away in the fourth and retired the side without another run. He finished the game for the Craters, being nicked for seven runs and nine hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Dust Disconcerting

A stiff breeze off the ocean whipped up whirlpools of dust time and again, forcing momentary pauses in the game and making fly balls to the outfield cut crazy capers. The Craters came apart defensively, booting grounders, mis-judging flies and performing like a bunch of grade school kids, in general. Even Paul Hoffard, centerfielder, dropped a fly right in his hands, erring for the first time this season.

Calvert's homer to centerfield in the third inning was the first Medford run. Single by Lewis and Hoffard in the fourth and White's fly to rightfield, with Lewis tallying after the catch, wound up the Craters ruck-making for the day.

Crescent City's first run came in the opening inning on singles by Matson and Spann and errors Calvert and Lewis, and from then on it was a parade of runners crossing the plate. Miller, first baseman, belted two home runs and three singles in six trips to the plate to lead the 17-hit attack, and Spann hammered a homer, Matson and Koll hit triples and Fern got a double.

Third Inning Terrible

Crescent City sounded the death knell for Brown in the third when Spann, first up, drove a homer to center. Reynolds walked, Hoffard singled, Loffer got hit by a pitch, Fern singled and Miller whammed his first circuit clout. Rathke took over at this point, and after Matson tripled, Spann popped to Rickert to end the inning.

Crescent City tallied again in the fifth on Miller's second homer, got another in the sixth when Koll singled Spann across, and four more in the seventh on singles by Miller and Reynolds, a hit-batman, Koll's triple and an error by Brown in leftfield on Deo's high fly. Final run scored in the eighth on singles by Fern and Miller and Matson's fly to right.

Ben Trowbridge gained sixth place, Ivan Harrington seventh, Lloyd Nass eighth and George Harrington ninth. Ruhl received three golf balls as a prize, while the others were awarded two balls.

Portland Thief Takes Fine Lawn

PORTLAND, Aug. 8. (AP)—Ernest Marrott, Portland, woke up Sunday morning to find the neighborhood lawn thief had been busy again.

About a third of the Marrott lawn was missing, sliced and rolled up and carted away. This was the third pilfering job of Mr. Marrott's lawn and he called the police.

Marrott, a commercial grass grower, said he wondered if the thief knew his species was called "lawn man's" grass.

Deposed Cochrane Planning Vacation on Wyoming Ranch

DETROIT, Aug. 8. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, deposed manager of the Detroit Tigers and a great catcher until he suffered a triple fracture of the skull in 1937, kept his chin up as usual today and prepared to leave with his family tomorrow for a vacation on a Wyoming ranch.

"After that I'm coming back to take another crack at big league baseball," he said.

At the Tiger clubhouse in Briggs stadium yesterday, a few hours after his discharge was announced, Cochrane said goodbye to members of the team and Coach Del Baker, who succeeded him as manager.

"Kind of sudden, wasn't it?" Cochrane observed with a grin.

He did not wait to watch the game in which Detroit defeated the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 3. The Tigers lost the first two games of the series. With Detroit 17 games behind the league-leading New York Yankees and in the second division, Cochrane's release was announced Saturday night by Walter O. Briggs, Sr., owner of the club. His salary, said to be $45,000 a year, is to be paid until the end of the current season.
