Warner Baxter in Wednesday Hit

Warner Baxter finds a new playmate in Marjorie Weaver in the new comedy hit, "I'll Give a Million," coming to the Craterian theatre tomorrow for a four-day run. It happens when Baxter, as the millionaire who becomes disgusted with the chiseling proclivities of his so-called rich friends decides to call it a day and gives up his life of ease to turn to the carefree life of a hobo. Then word gets out that a

Shannon E. Oliver Dies in Portland; Veteran of War

Shannon Edward Oliver of Kings highway, prominent Medford resident, died Sunday afternoon in the Veterans hospital, Portland, after a long illness. He was 54 years old. Mr. Oliver was a veteran of the World war, having enlisted at Camp Lewis, Wash., at the outbreak of hostilities. He sailed shortly thereafter for France. On the voyage across the Atlantic his ship, the Tuscaloosa, was torpedoed. He was one of the few survivors. He served in the war until the signing of the armistice. Mr. Oliver was a native of Jackson county, having been born at Trail on October 1, 1883. After spending his early life in southern Oregon, he went to Colorado where, at Durango, he was married to Miss Mary Hall. The couple lived for a time at Illium, Colo., where Mr. Oliver was a foreman on a large flood control construction project. The couple moved to Phoenix in 1925, coming a few years ago to Medford. Mr. Oliver was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, the Holy Name society and Phoenix circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft.

Rogue River Firm Marketing Silica

The Bristol Silica company, with plant located at Rogue River, is this week placing its products in Medford and Grants Pass. The silica deposit, which runs 99 percent pure silica and which is very large, is located on the Runyard property about five miles from the town of Rogue River. Crystal Grits, which are sparkling white and insoluble, are being placed this week at the Medford feed dealers. Other uses for the silica rock include for building sand and for use in paper and steel mills. Construction of the plant across the tracks from the depot at Rogue

Kay Francis Heads Cast Rialto Drama With Pat O'Brien

A new co-starring team makes its debut today at the Rialto theatre with Kay Francis and Pat O'Brien appearing together for the first time in the comedy, "Women Are Like That," topping the twin bill for today and tomorrow that has "3 on a Week-End" as the added feature. Its story revolving around the colorful and exciting advertising business, Pat is the staccato voiced genius who is admitted tops in his profession, and Kay is his wife who goes into the business herself, only using feminine wiles instead of the accepted business methods. How Pat finally gives her the spanking she so richly deserves for her unethical practices, and at the same time wins back his wife for his own, makes the story fast-paced film fun.

Mae West Starring New Roxy Picture

"Venez me voir, comme ci, comme ca, qu'enque fois." In English it's just plain, "Come in and see me some time," but in her latest picture, "Every Day's a Holiday" playing today and tomorrow at the Roxy theatre, Mae West is Mademoiselle Pifi, an importation fresh from the music halls of Paris who sweeps New York off its feet. Edmund Lowe, Charles Winninger, Charles Butterworth, Lloyd Nolan, Herman Bing and Louis Armstrong's band are also featured.
