Child Prodigy Visits Relatives In Ashland

The Shakespearean Festival now being held in Ashland has been lauded throughout the country as a major accomplishment in the entertainment world but while the actors and actresses have been turning out fine performances nightly for a week a little girl, fast winning acclaim as a musical genius has been vying the plays as a spectator.

The seven-year-old child piano prodigy is Paulena Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Carter of Sacramento, Calif., former Ashland residents, who are visiting at the Ashland home of Mrs. Carter's mother, Mrs. L. A. Phillips and her aunt, Mrs. A. Belle Anderson. They came to Ashland especially to see the Shakespearean plays.

The Stockton Daily Evening Record, in a review of Paulena's recital with the Stockton Symphony orchestra last fall, calls her "the wonder girl." In this concert the child memorized the 90 pages of Mozart's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in D Minor." The review describes Paulena's playing thusly: "She timed her work perfectly with that of the orchestra and it was as though she were flowing along in the stream of the composition, guiding herself to its progress, sporting a bit in eddies of melody, rippling over rapids, but never losing the rhythm of the onward movement." The little girl received continuous curtain calls following the concert and an abundance of bouquets and baskets of flowers.

Paulena's most recent appearance was July 28 at "The Greater Sacramento Show," sponsored by the Sacramento Golden Empire Centennial committee. The chairman's comment of the child follows: "She has accomplished at seven something never equalled in the history of music by any child genius in memorizing 90 pages of a concerto and playing it with two regular adult symphony orchestras at regular concerts and she has two more engagements the coming season."

"The little wonder girl" is the great granddaughter of Eli K. Anderson, one of the first donation land claim settlers in this part of the country. His property was near Talent, Miss Carter's other forebears were Oregon pioneer settlers and well known throughout southern Oregon.

It is predicted by music critics that little Paulena will reach greater heights in piano accomplishments as time goes on, and her many friends in Ashland and Medford will watch with pride her rise to stardom.

It's Not "$200 a Month"

To the Editor:
Congratulations, Mr. Editor, I have been wondering when the newspapers and politically minded would take into consideration the effect of the Townsend element in the primary elections over the country. Those who have their ear to the ground must know that this Townsend element is very strong and this year they are quite well united in their efforts. Two years ago Townsendites wanted to elect Townsend officials, so every different community put up their own favorite candidate. The result was that they were hopelessly split up and very few were elected. This year, in the primary efforts, NO ONE was put up for nomination, if one of the running candidates happened to be Townsend minded, well and good, they were backed. The idea being that if Townsend minded candidates of any party are nominated, they will be backed for election. If not, then some ONE person will be put up as an independent. This rule applies to the whole nation and is being strictly adhered to.

The above statement should form the basis for the answers to the questions you ask in your editorial of your August 10 issue, and if anyone were interested enough to secure the actual figures as to what the votes in the particular territory represents then an actual answer can be arrived at.

The Townsend vote as a whole DOES NOT represent a vote against F. D. R., but DOES represent a vote for the Townsend plan, which IS NOT "$200 per month" but IS a "National Recovery Plan."

GEO. IVERSON,
Townsend Legionnaire No. 8313
