Mrs. Nason Writes Of Colorful Voyage In North

A colorful wedding on a ship in the Arctic wastes; the bride a young girl who had traveled far northward to join her fiancé for the ceremony; an Anglican Eskimo missionary bishop officiating at the rite in his gorgeous church robes; attendants including Royal Canadian mounted police in their brilliant scarlet coats; the setting, an improvised altar under a huge cross and the British flag; the scene canopied by a clear blue sky, beneath the deep blue water studded with sparkling icebergs.

Witnessing this unusual ceremony was the thrilling and unexpected experience of Mrs. Susan Nason and her daughter Margaret who set out from their home on the Old Stage road several weeks ago to travel within 650 miles of the north pole.

Mrs. Nason in letters to friends here described many other interesting experiences of her voyage. She and her daughter are among ten women on board the boat Naacope, other shipmates including a Canadian government Arctic patrol of scientists, a group of artists and a doctor who goes ashore at different stops to give medical attention to Eskimos.

The Anglican bishop who performed the colorful wedding on ship is named Fleming and is known as the "Bishop of the Arctic." He, like the doctor, goes ashore to baptize and confirm Eskimos. A recent confirmation class at Dorset, Canada, numbered 101 natives.

Last letter received from Mrs. Nason was written from Churchill, Manitoba, Canada. Churchill is the last point of the journey which may be reached by railroad. The Medford woman also mentioned in her missives the polar bears, seals, walrus and porpoise which could be seen from the ship's rail.

Mrs. Nason and her daughter expect to return to their home here some time in November, thus completing an interesting and unusual voyage.

McADOO CLAIMS F. D. R. NOT AFTER THIRD TERM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Sen. William G. McAdoo in a campaign address before 4500 persons at Shrine auditorium, expressed the opinion last night that President Roosevelt will not seek a third term if the reins of the Democratic party can be handed over to liberal-minded successors.

McAdoo, who is facing a stiff fight for renomination, said he believed the president was not considering running for reelection and would discard the idea entirely if the party could find an outstanding liberal candidate. McAdoo mentioned no likely candidates.

REJECT PARDON PLEAS IN SCOTTSBORO CASE
MONTJOMERY, Ala., Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Alabama pardon board today rejected applications for freedom for two negroes serving long-term sentences for conviction of rape in the notorious Scottsboro case.

The board unanimously recommended that pardons not be granted to Clarence Norris and Heywood Paterson. The board, following recommendation of Alabama Attorney General A. A. Carmichael, said applications for pardons for three other of the Scottsboro negroes were presented "prematurely," because the time had not expired for appeal to the U. S. supreme court in their case.
