

JEW FORBIDDEN ENROLLMENT IN ITALIAN SCHOOLS

Teachers, Administrators, Academicians Also Removed by Decree—University Pupils May Finish

ROME, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The government today excluded Jews from state recognized schools, universities and all academies, institutes and associations of science, arts and letters.

The decree, announced after a meeting of the Italian cabinet, imposed the first restrictions on the participation of Jews in the life of the nation since the expulsion, ordered yesterday, of foreign Jews coming to Italy since 1919: Jews already enrolled in universities as students will be permitted to complete their studies.

The suspension of Jewish teachers, school administrators and academicians will become effective October 16.

Jewish graduates of secondary schools may continue studies in universities "in a transitory manner," the decree said.

That was the only exception. The enrollment of Jewish students in any grade of an educational institution recognized by the state was otherwise forbidden.

The curtailment of cultural activities of Jews was anticipated in further restrictions which, the decree indicated, would be imposed by the fascist grand council when it meets October 1.

The decree said the grand council would fix a comprehensive basis for governing the "participation of Jews in the full life of the nation."

The slogan of racial policy has been: "No Jews in the state, one Hebrew per thousand Italians in the life of the nation."

Foreign Jewish students previously had been barred from all Italian schools.

Under the new decree, Jewish children will have to attend their own schools or other private schools whose diplomas are not recognized by the state.

The teaching of the Arabic language in secondary schools also was ordered, apparently to further Italian colonization and propaganda in Italy's empire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A slow-speed rally lifted selected stocks fractions to around 2 points in today's market. Steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders and specialties were in the forefront of the upward jaunt. Extreme gains in some cases were reduced by light profit taking near the close, but many issues finished at or near the best marks of the day.

With the ticker tape doing little more than crawl from the start transfers approximated only 500,000 shares. Commodities were mixed, corn futures weakening. Business news was mildly stimulating.

on his living room floor and drove away in his automobile, later found abandoned on one of the main streets of Marysville, across Feather river from Yuba City, and twelve miles north of the Meeks orchard at "four corners."

Had Oklahoma Accent The men spoke with an "Oklahoma accent," Meeks said, and talked about "the electric chair."

Both of these facts, Sheriff A. W. Kimmerer of Yuba county said, indicated the kidnapers probably were dust bowl refugees now employed as transient workers in the California fruit harvest. If they were Californians, Kimmerer pointed out, they would have spoken of hanging or the gas chamber. Oklahoma has the electric chair.

The men were young and roughly dressed. One of them carried a pistol.

The federal bureau of investigation, the state highway patrol and the sheriff's forces of Sutter and Yuba counties joined the hunt to find the first kidnapers for ransom to operate in northern California for nearly five years. Notified of the kidnaping by the Associated Press, FBI men "moved in" and took charge.

They found Meeks' automobile abandoned on one of the main streets of Marysville, from which eight roads offered the kidnapers a means of escape. Sheriff Bert Ulrey of Sutter county said the men undoubtedly had another car somewhere along the line in which to escape.

"I couldn't raise the $15,000, even if I sold my orchard," Meeks said. He and his wife turned back into the house shortly after seeing goodnight to friends with whom they had spent the evening playing cards.

Victims Bound The men spoke roughly, ripped up a pillow case, tied up the Meeks with the strips and then ransacked the house.

It was when they returned from the search of the house the men spoke of kidnaping. Deliberately they went outside, unlocked the garage and backed the Meeks automobile up to the front porch. They picked up Mrs. Meeks, and carried her out, leaving the orchardist to struggle free.

The rancher "guessed the men were about 24 or 25 years old. They were about five feet nine or ten inches tall. White handkerchiefs covered their faces up to their eyes and kept the rancher from being able to give a good description of them.

It was the first kidnaping for ransom in northern California in nearly five years. Twenty-two-year-old Brooke Hart of San Jose, department store clerk, was the victim of the last northern California kidnap, in November, 1933. His abductors demanded $40,000 ransom and killed Hart the same day. His body was recovered from San Francisco bay and 12 hours later an infuriated mob lynched his confessed kidnapers—Thomas Thurmond and Jack Holmes.

Mrs. Meek weighs 110 pounds and is five feet two inches tall. She wore a blue flowered chiffon dress with short sleeves and black shoes.

Many Medford residents are expected to take advantage of the two-day holiday to drive into the mountains for fishing and camping trips or to the coast for the week-end.

GRASS, LOGS BLAZE IN MEYERS COURT REGION

A grass fire starting shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon near Meyers court off West Main street burned about one-half acre, and after being put out by the fire department's chemical truck a pile of logs on the property were discovered ablaze and a hose truck was dispatched to the scene to extinguish the fire.

It was not learned how the blaze started, nor who owned the logs which were not badly burned.

Death on Vacation. ROSEBURG, Ore., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Stewart G. Cummings, 45, Hollywood, Calif., died suddenly last night at Canyonville. He was stricken with a heart ailment. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings arrived in Canyonville the first of the week to spend a vacation visiting the friends.

ARRESTED YOUNGSTERS LEAD POLICE TO HUGE ASSORTMENT OF LOOT

City police this morning recovered a large assortment of miscellaneous articles stolen by a 13-year-old Medford youth from local business establishments during the past month, the boy confessing to the thefts after he and a 14-year-old friend were picked up on East Eighth street at 4 a. m. today for questioning concerning their activities on the streets at such an hour.

Included in the loot, which the younger of the pair had cached under his home, were flashlights, cheap rings and jewelry, perfume, milk, toy cap pistols and guns, watches, padlocks and other articles. The boy admitted to police a long series of shopliftings when two padlocks were discovered in his possession following a search at the police station.

The youth was turned over to his father, who told police he would send him back to the middle-west, the family having been in Medford only about five months. The other boy was being further questioned today, but it was believed he would be released as he apparently had no hand in the thefts.
