SOUTH AMERICA BUYS WARSHIPS FROM ENGLAND

Argentina, Brazil and Chile Indulge In Minor Naval Race—$30,607,500 In Vessels Being Built.

By Jan H. Yindrich (United Press Staff Correspondent) LONDON (UP)—South America is indulging in a minor naval race, with approximately $30,607,500 worth of vessels under construction in British shipbuilding yards.

Argentina leads with about $22,067,500 worth of ships, all of which are nearing completion, followed by Brazil, with $13,580,000 worth, construction of which started a few days ago, while Chile is considering tenders for two 8,000-ton cruisers.

Equip Ships For War—Although described as a schoolship, with accommodation for sixty cadets, "La Argentina" will have six torpedo tubes, nine six-inch guns, four four-inch anti-aircraft guns, eight two-pounder anti-aircraft guns and will carry two amphibian planes which will be catapulted from the deck.

The seven destroyers belonging to the G class used in the British navy. They have all been launched and although five have yet to undergo trials, it is expected that all seven will be ready to leave for Buenos Aires at the end of September.

All seven captains, most of the officers and 500 members of the crews have arrived in Britain aboard the transport "Pampa" ready to take over the vessels on completion. Additional crew for the "Corrientes" and "Santa Cruz" will be brought on the "Pampa's" sister ship "Chaco".

They will be fitted with four 4.7 guns and seven smaller, as well as eight torpedo tubes. Brazil's six destroyers will be similar to the British navy G class, one of which, the "Havock" was badly mined in the Mediterranean while on Myon patrol duty, but kept afloat.

Construction is divided equally between Vickers-Armstrong's Barrow-in-Furness yard, J. Samuel White's yard at Cowes, and Thornycroft's Southampton yard. It is expected that they will be completed in 1940 at an approximate total cost of $8,730,000.

Their specification is similar to the seven destroyers being built for the Argentine government. Chile is at present considering tenders from several firms, including British, German, Italian, United States and Danish for two 8,000-ton cruisers armed with six-inch guns.

At present, the Chilean navy has only three cruisers, the newest of which, the "Chacabuco," was completed in 1928.

New Song Hits in Bing Crosby Show Now at Craterian

Four scintillating new songs, written by some of Hollywood's top popular composers, punctuate the comedy of Bing Crosby's latest picture, "Sing You Sinners," which opens a four-day run today at the Craterian theatre.

Chief among them and destined for a ranking spot on radio's "preferred list" is a novelty number called "Small Fry," which was written by Hoagy Carmichael and Frank Loesser. In the picture this piece an unusual musical comedy act, in which Bing plays a bearded grandpa, Fred MacMurray a grandma in a rocker and clever young Donald O'Connor the "small fry" himself.

The other numbers, sung by Bing in the manner which has earned him his title of "king of croon," are "I've Got a Pocket Full of Dreams," "Don't Let That Moon Get Away" and "Laugh and Call It Love."

"Sing You Sinners" shows Bing, cast as an amiable ne'er-do-well in a small town, dividing his time between singing in a trio with his two brothers, MacMurray and O'Connor, and making himself a fortune by buying, selling and betting on racehorses. In this respect the film bears a striking resemblance to Bing's own career and marks one of the rare times in screen history when a star has appeared in anything approaching his own biography.

Martha Raye Stars with Bob Hope New College Swing Hit

The comic-romantic team of "College Swing," Martha Raye and Bob Hope, are back in town in a riotous story about the men who run our navy and the girls who run the men who run our navy!

Miss Raye has a role in her tempestuous screen career. After going through half the picture as a meek household patsy, who comes out of the kitchen only to serve the food she has cooked, she suddenly turns into a glamor girl of the first rank, the winner of a national beautiful legs contest and the pampered darling of the press and radio.

"Gaiety Girls," starring Patricia Ellis, plays as the companion feature with the Raye riot at the Rialto until tomorrow night.
