

BANK EMPLOYEES START CLASSES; KNOX INSTRUCTS

Nineteen bank employees of Medford and Ashland attended the first of 28 consecutive weekly classes of the American Institute of Banking last night in the senior high school.

One associate member, not a bank employee, signed up for the series of classes today, and several more are expected to register before the next Wednesday night meeting.

Members from the Medford branch of the First National bank of Portland were Mrs. C. A. Curry, Irwin B. Doty, Murray A. Marley, Robert H. Thompson.

BIRTHS

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Applegate September 14 in Sacred Heart hospital, a girl weighing 9 pounds, 8 ounces.

If it's good enough for Grandpa - it's GOOD

AMERICANS are inclined to sniff when anybody says "It was good enough for father." But, shucks, we have in this organization men who are grandfathers - at least, they're old enough in years to be grandfathers.

Some helped to refine whale oil. At night they'd dust the tag end of a whale and wash up together in a vat. Primitive - what! Others rumbled over the cobblestones aboard the first tank-wagons.

With their own hands and heads they've helped develop the oil industry throughout a period of vast progress, change, and expansion. They realize nobody could have imagined the constant re-making of an industry which they've actually seen.

Our "old heads" retain the elasticity and fearlessness of youth - leavened with experience. They make the younger men raise their sights. Everything in their span of service has taught them to look in only one direction - ahead - and geared them to move in only one direction - forward.
