FIGHT BROADCAST MASKS ESCAPE OF FEDERAL FELONS

TACOMA, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two federal prisoners were hunted in the Puget Sound area today following their escape from the federal tank of the Tacoma city jail Monday night.

Ray Soristo, 19, of Chicago, and LeRoy Burkman, 19, of Sacramento, were reported missing shortly after 10 p. m. Soristo was held on charges of violating the Mann act by transporting a young woman from Chicago to Olympia; while Burkman had been charged with illegal transportation of a stolen automobile across a state line.

Their escape was made after Jailor Robert Poore had allowed several prisoners to walk from their cells into an enclosed corridor from which they could hear a radio broadcast of the Hoast-Stunley fight in Seattle.

While Poore was busy in the front of the jail, the two youths scaled wire meshing around their way through a small hole in the top of the case wall open in about a week.

down a fire exit. Officers admitted the two were not missed for more than 15 minutes.

Tacoma police officials and the United States marshal's office were conducting a further investigation today. First reports last night said Aubrey Skilper, held with Burkman on the Dyeract charges, had also escaped, but he was later located in his cell.

DON'T BE A FLIPPER IN FOREST AREAS, HUNTERS ADVISED

PORTLAND—(Sp.)—Regional Forester C. J. Buck issued a plea today to sportsmen to help preserve their forest hunting grounds by being careful with campfires, cigarettes and matches during the current hunting season.

"Most sportsmen are good woodsmen," said the regional forester. "They know the rules of the woods, and follow them. However, there is a careless, thoughtless minority that must be curbed if this Pacific northwest is to continue as a great hunting country."

Of the total of 490 man-caused fires in the national forests, this year, up to August 31, thoughtless smokers led the list with a total of 243 fires. Campers were second with 114 fires. Records for the past seven years show that hunters were responsible for one out of every four camper-smoker fires.

"It is my hope," said Buck, "that every hunter gets his game. But in the excitement of the chase, don't be a flipper. The carelessly tossed match or cigarette, landing in dry forest material, has been responsible for many a forest fire."

The regional forester urged every forest visitor to be particularly careful not to start fires in cut or burned over second growth or "brush land." Such areas are extremely hazardous this year, he said. And yet these areas often contain the young forest growth upon which much of the future of Oregon and Washington depends, as timber states, he emphasized.

"Let's all be on patrol to curb the flipper," Buck urged.

One of the world's largest eating establishments is at the Texas A. and M. college, where 2,500 students are fed three meals each day.
