DEFEAT LAID TO VOTE 'DISHONESTY' RECOUNT HINTED

Curley, silver-haired, silver-tongued veteran of Bay state political wars, will meet Leverett Saltonstall, former speaker of the state legislature, in the general election. Saltonstall won the Republican nomination in a landslide which gave him almost three times as many votes as his three opponents combined.

Townsendite Losses Former Sen. W. Warren Barbour was an easy winner of the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey, defeating George O. Fuller of Trenton. Townsend plan advocate, and C. Dan Hokey, former City Engineer, William H. J. Ely, Jersey New Jersey works progress administrator, won the Democratic senatorial nomination without opposition. Sen. John Milton did not seek another term.

Mrs. Madeline Edson Sloan, daughter of the late Thomas A. Edson, lost her bid for the Republican congressional nomination in the 11th New Jersey district.

G. O. P. Heartened Wisconsin Progressives put Gov. Philip La Follette far out in front in his campaign for a fourth-term nomination. Despite efforts by some politicians to consolidate the La Follette opposition, Robert K. Henry, fusion candidate, trailed his Republican opponent but was ahead in the Democratic gubernatorial contest.

In the Wisconsin contests for senatorial nominations, Rep. Thomas Amle trailed Herman L. Ekern on the Progressive ticket and Alexander Wiley led a field of six for the Republican designation. Sen. F. Ryan Duffy was unopposed for Democratic renomination.

Wisconsin Republicans led in total votes for the first time since the La Follette group organized the separate Progressive party in 1934.
