CONDITIONS FAIR FOR HUNTING DUE TO DRY WEATHER

The following recreational bulletin was issued today by Rogue River national forest headquarters:

"From the reports received during the first few days of the newly opened hunting season, conditions on this forest are only fair because of the dry weather. With the possibility of rain this week-end both hunting and fire conditions would be much improved.

"In spite of the dry weather, several three and four point bucks have been killed on the Lake O' Woods district. Two were killed at Short Creek burn, two at Calamity camp, one in the vicinity of Pelican Butte and one, weighing 198 pounds, around Buck Peak. In the area near Lake O' Woods, rather small deer have been seen, with a large number of fawns and does. In the Butte Falls district, bucks are known to have been killed in the vicinity of Devils Peak and Blue Rock. Hunting is very poor in the Union Creek district and fair in the Applegate.

"Duck season opens the 15th of October and from all indications there is a good crop of ducks this year. A number have been seen at Lake O' Woods and the east side of Klamath lake is expected to be good.

"Fishing on the forest is generally poor. Both huckleberry and blackberry crops have reached the end of their season.

"Several hunter fires have been reported left unattended and abandoned. Extreme care should be exercised with all forms of fire. The hunter should stop to smoke and when through, put out his cigarette. The campfire should be thoroughly quenched when leaving—it is these smoldering campfires that cause a large fire when strong wind and hot weather come along.

Obituary

Cecil W. Ayres

Cecil William Ayres, a resident of Medford for the past three years, passed away at the family residence, 126 South Grape street, Wednesday morning after a short illness, due to a heart affliction. Mr. Ayres was born in Launceston, Cornwall, England on July 5, 1889, and was aged 49 years.

He spent his early life in England and when a young man came to the United States, where he remained for two years, going back to England during the war. He served with the English forces during the war and was the recipient of several medals for gallant service. After the war he returned to the United States, where he has lived until his death.

He made many friends while in Medford, who will be saddened to learn of his sudden death.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Nell D. Ayres of Medford, two sisters and one brother who reside in England.

Funeral services were conducted at the Perl funeral home Friday morning at 11 o'clock, with the Rev. Father E. S. Bartlam officiating.

PAROLE VIOLATOR ORDERED TO PEN; JAIL FARM HAND

James C. Hagler, 26, former cook at the Diamond cafe brought into circuit court for parole violation, was ordered committed to the state penitentiary by Judge H. D. Norton this morning to serve a two-year sentence pronounced last April.

Hagler had been sentenced for the theft of money and articles at the Diamond cafe but was paroled to Sheriff Syd I. Brown on condition he remain sober, work and support his wife and two children. This he did until a short time ago, the court was informed.

Clifford Watson, 34, a farm worker from Nebraska, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for passing a phony $5 check at the Snider Dairy September 11. He waived preliminary technicalities, pleaded guilty and said he was drunk at the time he wrote the check and did not realize what he was doing.

In reviewing the Watson case, Judge Norton and District Attorney Frank J. Newman discussed the advisability of putting inmates of the county jail to work on roads.

In the case of John H. Keese, 58, who resides near Ashland, sentence was deferred pending further investigation. He is accused of forging a certificate of title to an automobile. He is an army deserter, the court was told. He said he had been married three times and he "assumed" his two former wives had procured divorces.

Sentence was also deferred in the case of Wallace B. Bertelson, 42, charged with forging his mother's name on a $9 check cashed at the J. C. Penney store September 7. The case was continued to determine whether he will be accepted for treatment at the Veterans hospital in Portland. He was said to be suffering from a hernia.

Deferred until Monday was the passing of sentence on Frank L. Tamel, 26, an itinerant farm worker from Maine who pleaded guilty to grand larceny, the theft of a reduction master gear at the Knight Packing company. Tamel told the court that he was drunk at the time, did not remember the theft and had had no intention of stealing anything. Judge Norton commented that Tamel did not appear to be a professional criminal and seemed inclined to extend leniency under certain restrictive conditions.

LEGION CONCLAVE ADJOURNS, VIEWS FLEET MANEUVERS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The American Legion, its business and pleasure disposed of, gave Los Angeles back to the Angelenos today and prepared to go home after viewing fleet maneuvers at Los Angeles harbor.

The exodus got under way yesterday—spurred partially by reports of hurricane damage on the eastern seaboard—but by this morning bulging hotels were back to normalcy and citizens began riding the streetcars through downtown streets again— a pleasure largely denied them since Saturday.

The convention adjourned yesterday after election, as expected, Stephen J. Chadwick of Seattle, as national commander by acclamation and drafting a series of resolutions directed generally toward keeping "America for Americans."

Most of the debate on resolutions centered upon the universal draft law. The Legion finally accepted a minority report from the resolutions committee which would permit the universal draft but would leave to congress determination of the manner of enforcing it. The majority recommendation would have set up the Legion's idea for mustering the country's facilities in time of war.

Such proposals as an adequate national defense, deportation of aliens, stricter immigration laws, continuation of the child welfare program, and opposition to "isms" except Americanism were voted by acclamation.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Selling on a moderate scale was renewed in security markets today, depressing many stocks 1 to 3 points, as Wall street revised its hopes for preservation of European peace.

Suspension of the Hitler-Chamberlain talks, together with warlike preparations in various countries and clashes on the Czechoslovak border, seemed to dispel much of the financial community's assurance extensive bloodshed would be avoided in the Czech-Nazi struggle.

Accustomed to week-end crises and coups in Europe traders but their accounts in shape to stand another shock if need be. But the selling was a mere echo of the excited liquidation at the height of the war fright recently.

NAZI REFUSALS TO GIVE GUARANTEES BREAKDOWN CAUSE

troops on all of France's frontiers to stand by their positions and be ready for any emergency.

The day of rapid events in overwrought Europe appeared to turn the democracies' stand against Adolf Hitler, who up to now had been getting practically everything he demanded.

Soviet Russia played a big role in the change by informing the world from Geneva she would fight for Czechoslovakia if France did. Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's declaration was made almost at the same time that Premier Daladier was quoted as announcing a new, stiffened French stand.

Radical-Socialist deputies quoted Premier Daladier as declaring, "If Germany enters Czechoslovakia France will face her engagements."

This stand seemed to call forth an immediate favorable reception by the parliamentary majority. Shortly prior to this change it was learned the premier had decided on collective resignation of the cabinet as soon as the crisis was over.

Agitation for help for Czechoslovakia resulted in several street demonstrations in Paris.

Metal workers leaving factories in two Paris auburbs attempted to parade to the Czechoslovak legation to demonstrate on behalf of Czechoslovaks, but the parade was broken up by police.
