McReynolds-Ayres Recent Marriage of Interest Here

Of interest to their many friends was the recent marriage of Miss Roma McReynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward McReynolds and Russell Ayres, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ayres of Jacksonville.

The young couple were united in marriage in Yreka, Calif., on July 20. They were attended by Miss Geraldine Jones and Aaron Ayres Jr., brother of the bridegroom.

Bay City Couple Visit Relatives

George Ray and Rene Martin of San Francisco were guests at the R. L. Ray home on Oak Grove road during the last week. They came to Medford via the Redwoods highway and enjoyed a days' salmon fishing at the mouth of the Klamath River.

Mr. Ray is the son of Dr. J. T. Ray of San Francisco, and has visited relatives in the valley many times, this was Mr. Martin's first visit to Oregon.

Pocahontas Lodge Has Card Party

The Pocahontas lodge held a card party last week at the Redman hall. Bridge and pinochle were enjoyed throughout the evening with prizes being awarded to Gladys Lawrence, Bud Lawrence, Glen Abbott, Peggy Purdin, Norma Martin, Ed Shackie and Jack Dooms.

Group Visit Lakes Over Sunday

Miss Vera Humphrey and her father, I. H. Humphrey, took their house guest, Mrs. E. E. Greene of Eugene on a very pleasant trip yesterday.

The group drove to Union Creek where they prepared luncheon and then went on to Crater Lake and Diamond Lake. This was Mrs. Greene's first trip to the lakes in a number of years and she was greatly impressed with the scenic beauties of the country.

And she still pursues the villain

THAT slicker, Osgood McThrockmorton, once stood as the symbol of stick-to-it-iveness. Nothing thwarted his determination to possess the virtuous heroine. The situation never varied. Always the villain still pursued her—over the damp grass she fled regardless of consequences.

Today the situation is reversed as the idea of Safety relentlessly pursues the villain, Danger. This Company, for instance, has 15 safety engineers forever devising means to reduce hazards. As one result, Hard Hat Harry, another character, has become a commonplace. Men in the oil fields are now protected at both ends by "iron" clothes. Hats devised to withstand heavy blows guard the heads of derrick workers and steel-capped shoes save many a foot when something falls or a stand of casing slips.

In refineries such remote contingencies as asphyxiation and explosion have been made as near as possible to impossible. Life at sea—never a sissy business—has been rendered far less hazardous aboard our tankers.

These are only samples. Each year our safety record has improved. Last year's was the best ever. Yet this has only inspired our safety experts to new ambitions. Every day, every hour, safety-planning pursues its particular villain—regardless, sir, of every consequence.

Wednesday Study Club Enjoyed First Meet of the Season

The Wednesday Study Club met in its first session of the season at the Girl's Community club house on Wednesday last. Following a 1 o'clock luncheon served by the Good Times committee consisting of Mrs. T. W. Miles, chairman; assisted by Mrs. Clinton Spencer, Mrs. J. H. Cochran, Mrs. M. M. Morris and Mrs. N. T. Hodges.

Mrs. A. J. Hanby presided at the business session. Two new members, Mrs. Ray Lenox and Mrs. Bert B. Lowry were welcomed into the club by the members.

Mrs. B. G. Harding, chairman of the program committee, distributed the year books and explained the program which through original papers, book reviews and discussions will keep abreast of current events.

Mrs. C. A. Meeker described in an interesting manner her recent extended trip of the States and Canada. She illustrated her talk with many pictures and souvenirs gathered while on the tour.

Twenty members and guests enjoyed the pleasant afternoon event. The Wednesday Study club is a long-established organization in the city and is one of the most outstanding clubs here. The past presidents dating from 1908 to 1938 included the following prominent Medford women: Mrs. W. I. Vawter, Mrs. M. E. Worrell, Mrs. E. B. Pickett, Mrs. F. W. Mears, Mrs. F. W. Hollis, Mrs. F. K. Deuel, Mrs. E. N. Warner, Mrs. W. E. Crews, Mrs. W. C. James, Mrs. Jonas Wild, Mrs. L. E. Williams, Mrs. J. O. Grey, Mrs. T. W. Willis, Mrs. J. H. Cochran, Mrs. B. G. Harding and Mrs. C. A. Meeker.

Plans Formulated At AAUW Luncheon

American Association of University Women convened Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Holland for a pleasant luncheon and business meeting.

Mrs. Justin Smith, president of the organization, presided at the session. Plans were discussed for the year's work and it was decided to have the following study groups within the club: the arts will include three groups, creative art, interior decorating and music, others are: international relations, social relations, legislative, and parent education. Chairmen of each group and the work to be accomplished will be announced at a later date. Plans were also formulated to sponsor a show this year.

Baptist Group Enjoy Meeting

The Golden Links class of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Whillock on the North Pacific highway last week. In the absence of the president, Mrs. L. P. Stevenson, Mrs. Joe Shoffer, presided. The devotional was given by the Rev. W. A. Davis after which business for the coming year was discussed and election of officers took place. Officers elected include: president, Mrs. Roy Crawford, vice-president, Mrs. Joe Shoffer, secretary, Mrs. Leland Knox and publicity, Mrs. A. B. Myers. Refreshments were enjoyed after the business session.

DuBuque Home Is Scene of Party

St. Ann's Altar society enjoyed a delightful party held last week at the Woodlawn ranch home of Mrs. H. A. DuBuque near Central Point. Mrs. J. R. O'Connor was chairman of the event, other members on the committee were: Mrs. DuBuque, Mrs. George Jall, Mrs. Maurice Spatz, Mrs. John Wilkinson, Mrs. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Joe Marshall, Mrs. James C. Hayes, Mrs. Rose Schieffelin, Mrs. Clara Young, Mrs. Fred Wells and the Misses Annie and Kate Kelleher. Following dessert, the group enjoyed bridge playing during the remainder of the afternoon.

Mrs. Jermata Returns Home Mrs. Phil Jermata and mother, returned to Medford last evening after spending a year in Minneapolis, Minn., with Vera and Loring Jermata.

WAR METAL PROBE ON ROGUE OPENED

Exploring possible sources of manganese, chromite and quicksilver, all essential commodities in war, is part of the investigation being carried on in the Rogue River valley by the U. S. geological survey. Francis G. Wells, in charge of the survey crew, told the Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon-meeting in the Hotel Medford this afternoon.

Mr. Wells concentrated his talk on the geology of the Rogue valley and stated that every foot of territory here is being covered. When the survey is completed, he said, maps will be printed by the government showing the geology of the entire district.

Miss Jean Garman, clerk of the Rogue River national forest, spoke for the Business and Professional Women's club on behalf of the approaching Community Chest campaign.

Patricia Bregger, nine-year old mascot of an American Legion post drum corps in Saint Paul, Minn., gave a demonstration of her baton skill and marching steps. She took part in the Legion convention parade in Los Angeles.

BENES MUST CEDE REGION TO NAZIS, FUEHRER SCREAMS

Here Hitler raised his voice until it cracked. "... Sudeten problem my patience is exhausted."

The crowd responded with hysterical, tumultuous applause. He went on: "I offered Benes the legalization of what he agreed to do. 'Does he want war or peace?' 'The Sudeten Germans will now take the liberty denied them twenty years ago.'"

Germans Different Now "Germans are a different people from what they were in 1918. 'We are cured of the democracy of those days.'"

"In this hour, the whole German people will unite behind me. 'We want to strengthen this common will of ours as we did in the time of our struggle for power when I was a lone, unknown man and set out to conquer the nation.'"

"I ask you to rally behind me, man for man, frau for frau. 'If our will is stronger than deprivation and danger, we will succeed.'"

"We are determined—may Mr. Benes know it. For fully five minutes there was an unending chorus of: 'Puehrer! Command—we follow!' Hitler shouted so loudly most of the time he was difficult to hear over the radio.

Mussolini Praised "There is one man who sees eye to eye with Germany—Benito Mussolini."

"We shall never forget what he has done for us. 'After my February 22 speech to the reichstag, persecution and suppression of Germans in Czechoslovakia increased until May 21 came.'"

"During all this time we showed almost 'eternal German patience.' Then Hitler reiterated the German stand as he had given it May 21 in a speech closing a party convention. 'I hoped until the last moment,' he said, 'that Benes would recede from the unreasonableness of his position.'"

"Benes, however, thought he could do anything he pleased to Germany, for he was protected by Britain and France. 'And if everything else went wrong there was still Russia.'"

"I told Chamberlain plainly what I consider is the only solution, that I was not the man to look indifferently when 3,500,000 Germans were maltreated; that there comes a moment when the word is 'enough.'"

"France and England finally agreed to the cession of German territory in Czechoslovakia. Benes agreed: 'Yes, these regions must be ceded.' 'But what did he do? He did not cede the region but drove the Germans out.'"

"After citing the daily increase of refugees which, he said, today had reached the figure of 214,000, Hitler continued: 'Whole stretches of land are being depopulated, yet Benes is sitting in Prague and thinks nothing can happen to him, for behind him stand England and France.'"

Time Has Come "I believe the moment has now come for talking business." "That was the high point thus far for Hitler's speech."

"I came at 9:14 p. m. (12:14 p. m. PST). He had been speaking 53 minutes. 'My memorandum,' Hitler declared, 'is the last and final one. It is nothing but a realization of what Benes promised.'"

"All parts that want to join the reich must join now, immediately. 'I have decided that we shall place this land under German sovereignty. 'The final outlining of the border, however, I gladly give to the citizens there.'"

"I will use the Saar status as a basis for a plebiscite there. 'I am ready and have been ready for a plebiscite to be conducted in all Czechoslovakia. 'But that is where Benes and his friends balked.'"

"I was even ready to have a plebiscite carried out by an international control commission. 'I was also ready to have the German-Czechoslovak frontier later agreed upon by a joint German-Czechoslovak commission. 'What is the memorandum but a realization of Czech-Slovak promises.'"

"Yet Benes says it creates a new situation and wants to shuffle out of his promises."

Obituary

Mary A. Mew Mrs. Mary A. Mew, well known and beloved pioneer of Jackson county, passed away at 2:20 a. m. today at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. White on Ross lane near Medford. She was born in Applegate, July 11, 1862, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mee. Her father came to this county by ox team in 1849 and likewise her mother came in 1852.

Mary Mew resided with her parents in Applegate until she was about 20 years of age, when she went to Central Point and engaged in the drug business where she remained in that business until about ten years ago.

Besides her sister, Mrs. White, she leaves one brother, Warren D. Mee of Applegate, besides other more distant relatives.

Funeral services will be held at the Conger chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday with the Rev. D. E. Millard officiating. Interment will be in the Central Point cemetery.

YOUTH HELD HERE IN THEFT OF ALBANY CAR

James Carter, alias Richard Wesley Allen, 21, is being held in the county jail for questioning regarding the theft of a 1935 Chevrolet coupe from Albany on the night of September 23. The machine was recovered abandoned near the California state checking station Saturday afternoon by state police.

Allen was picked up shortly afterwards by the California state motor patrol, and returned to the county jail by state police. State police said cookie crumbs on the seat of the abandoned car may have come from a box of cookies Allen had in his possession when taken into custody.

APPEALS DIRECT TO HITLER, BENES TO AVERT STRIFE

earnestly hoped for a successful conclusion of the present negotiations, the President said: "So long as these negotiations continue, so long will there remain the hope that reason and the spirit of equity may prevail and that the world may thereby escape the madness of a new resort to war... once they are broken off reason is banished and force asserts itself."

"And force produces no solution for the future good of humanity." Officials hoped the telegram would reach Hitler while the draft of his speech, to be delivered tonight, was still fluid and would have a definite effect on what he would say.

The telegram was interpreted as both an appeal and a warning, while the President said the fabric of peace in Europe, if not throughout the world, is in immediate danger, he meant, informed officials said, the European leaders might find nations outside Europe drawn in against one side or the other.

It also was interpreted as a warning to the American people that, however isolationist some might want to be, they could not escape the consequences of war. "No nation can escape some measure of the consequences of such a world catastrophe," he said.
